Fate Hinges on Crown Princes' Army; Frisco Rail Wreck Costs Many Lives

NEAR HALF HUNDRED PERISH IN DISASTER

St. Louis, Sept. 15.—St. Louis & San Francisco train No. 5, westbound, known as the "Texas Limited," plunged into a cloudburst near Lebanon, Mo., 182 miles southwest of here, early today and before the engineer could stop the train, the track gave way and the engine and four cars rolled into a flooded gulley.

Thirty-five to forty-five persons in two passenger coaches were drowned and probably a score injured. The four sleeping cars remained on the track and the passengers in those coaches rushed forward to rescue those imprisoned in the cars submerged in twelve feet of water. By noon twenty-six bodies had been recovered.

The engineer, describing his experiences, said the train was running slowly when the cloudburst occurred. A wall of water swept across the track and appeared to be rushing toward the train. The engineer closed the throttle, but just then the embankment beneath gave way.

The Identified Dead.

The following list of identified dead was given out at the offices of the Frisco line here today:

VERNON AND ELSIE CALVIN, Rumler, Ark.

DAISY PERRY, ——.

HENRY WAGONER, Harrison, Ark.

MRS. ELIZABETH ROSTETER, Alliance, Ohio.

W. H. CHILDRESS, Billings, Mo.

Nurse Rescues Five.

One of the passengers in the submerged chair car was Miss Mona Campbell, a nurse of St. Louis. She broke a window and climbed out to the side of the car. She felt about in the water until she touched the hands of other drowning passengers. She grasped a hand, she pulled with all her strength. I nthis way she rescued five passengers.

At the Frisco general office this noon it was said that the cause of the wreck was not clear but that this would be determined as soon as the waters now receding have gone back far enough to permit an investigation.

Reports received at headquarters however, indicate that the train did not go through a trestle as newspaper reports from Springfield indicated, but that the track which had been washed by the water gave way. This report in the main harmonizes with telephone messages from Lebanon stating that the train crossed the trestle safely and then left the tracks falling over into a flooded gully.

THE STORY FROM SPRINGFIELD.

Springfield, Mo., Sept. 15.—Between thirty-five and forty-five persons were killed or drowned and a score of others injured early today when the locomotive, baggage car and forward chair car of St. Louis and San Francisco train No. 5 plungedthrough a trestle over Brush creek, near Lebanon, Mo., and were submerged by the swollen stream.

Most of the dead were drown in the chair car and a great proportion of these were women and children. Those who were unable to escape fro mtheir watery were unable to escape from their watery ing windows and swimming to shore. It is estimated there were sixty-five passengers in the chair car.

Owing to poor communication with the place of wreck it is impossible to give a definite estimate of how many escaped. None of the sleeping cars left the tracks and the passengers in them quickly formed rescue parties.

Loses Wife and Five Children.

One man in the chair car lost his wife and five children. When the accident occurred he was thrown clear of the car and swam to shore. His wife and children died while he stood helplessly near by.

Rains last week caused all small streams in the vicinity to raise and the train was late because of the flood. As it passed Lebanon, says a dispatch, its speed was increased.

Railroad officials announced that the injured would be brought to Springfield this afternoon. The dead were placed in morgues at Lebanon.

GAS PUMP BLOWS UP DURINC NIGHT

Bluffton and Decatur Supply Obtained from New Container.

During the absence of the watchman at 2:27 o'clock Tuesday morning one of the gas pumps at the Indiana Lighting company's plant, corner of Barr and Superior streets, blew up and in the explosion a small fire followed causing a damage of $100. The pump, it is said, was used in sending artificial gas from Fort Wayne to patrons at Bluffton and Decatur and as a result of the accident the supply to these towns was shut off for some time.

Later in the morning, the two towns were supplied with gas through mains from the new container, just completed at the junction of the Wabash railroad and the St. Mary's river. It is said that repairs will be completed within a short time.

BULLETIN.

London, Sept. 15.—(6:59 a. m.)—A reasonable estimate, says a Times Petrograd dispatch, places the Austrian losses in Galicia at 300,000 in killed, wounded and prisoners, or nearly one-third of their forces. They have also lost, the dispatch says, 1,000 guns, more than two-thirds of their available artillery.

London, Sept. 15.—(3:45 p. m.)—According to a statement issued here today by the Servian legation, there are now in Hungary at least 150,000 Servian troops successfully pushing an offensive movement against the forces of the dual monarchy.

PLEAD GUILTY TO REBATING

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 15.—The Pennsylvania Railroad company and Harvey C. Miller and John F. Mcnaughlin, of the grain firm of L. F. Miller & Sons, pleaded guilty in the United States court today to four counts of an indictment charging them with unlawful rebating. The court imposed a fine of $1,000 on each of the defendants for each count, aggregating $12,000. One of the charges against the defendants was that the grain men made false reports of the weight of grain shipped over the railroad and that the railroad in accepting these reports was in effect granting rebates.

The charges involved the legal construction to be placed upon the printed tariffs of the interstate commerce commission. The government agreed to drop the other counts in the indictment and also six other indictments. A jury in the case disagreed last summer after a six weeks' trial.

TO FIGHT ALL WAR REVENUE

WILSON HURRIES INTO THE FRAY

Underwood Will Defer to Caucus Action on Freight Tax.

Washington, Sept. 15.—President Wilson returned to the capital this morning at 11 o'clock and drove immediately to the white house, where he had a conference with congress leaders over the war revenue bill.

Senate republicans at a conference today determined to fight any war revenue measure in any form.

Chairman Underwood, of the ways and means committee, yielded today to protests of democrats against the tax on freight and agreed to let the caucus tonight decide. The president, Mr. Underwood said, was not committed to a freight tax. Some democrats, like the republicans, are opposed to any war tax.

The conference of the republican senators appointed Senators Smoot, McCumber, Smith, of Michigan; Weeks and Sterling to take charge of the opposition and notify absentees to return at once, unless occupied with political campaigns.

TORPEDO SINKS GERMAN CRUISER

Berlin Via Copenhagen, Sept. 15.—(6:55 a. m.)—It is officially announced that on the morning of Sept. 13 the small cruiser Hela was sunk by a torpedo from a hostile submarine. Almost the whole of the crew was saved.

The German cruiser Hela was a small protected cruiser of 2,040 tons. She was 328 feet long and carried a crew of 178 men. Her armament was not heavy, consisting chiefly of light guns. The Hela was laid down in 1893 and finished in 1894. It is notable that the Hela was sunk by a submarine just as the British cruiser Pathfinder was sent to the bottom by a German submarine

BULLETIN.

London, Sept. 15.—On account of the scarcity of wheat in Holland the association of Dutch bakers has sanctioned the sale of a so-called "tulip bread," in which one-third of the flour used is made from ground tulip bulbs. The bread is said to be very nourishing and the war ministery has recommended its use in the army.

Today's War News Given in Summary.

Germany's armies to the north and east of Paris, after retreating for upwards of fifty miles toward the Belgian frontier, are today making a determined stand along the river Aisne.

A news agency dispatch from Dieppe says that Gen. von Kluck has been enveloped by a French encircling movement and forced to surrender with a large command and a quantity of guns and ammunition. The German general staff, however, announced today that heavy engagements were being fought by Gen. von-Kluck's right wing to the northeast of Paris without a decisive result so far. The French attempts to break through the German lines were said to have been repulsed.

Reports regarding the operations in East Prussia contradict each other. From Petrograd it is said that Gen. Rennenkampff has resumed the offensive and that the investment of Koenigsberg still is in progress. Berlin advices, however, are to the effect that the Russian general has suffered defeat nearly as severe as that of the Russian disaster at Allenstein.

Further Petrograd dispatches estimate the casualties of the Austrians in Galicia to total 300,000, nearly one-third of their forces.

The sinking of the German protected cruiser Hela of 2,040 tons by a submarine of the allied fleet is announced in an official statement issued at Berlin. A major part of the crew was saved.

The German submarine which sank the British cruiser Pathfinder with a loss of 246 lives is reported to have been destroyed by the fire of several British cruisers.

Sharp skirmishes have taken place in the Shan Tung peninsula of China between the German defenders of the Kiao-Chow concession and a Japanese landing force.

A measure was introduced in the British parliament today suspending until after the war the proceedings of the Irish home rule and the Welsh disestablishment bills.

Queen Wilhelmine, opening parliament in person, emphasized the

ALLIES IN RHEIMS AS MARNE BATTLE RAGES

London, Sept. 15.—(4:06 p. m.)—The occupation of Rheims by the allies was announced by the official press bureau this afternoon.

A statement given out by the bureau this afternoon says:

"The enemy are still occupying a strong position to the north of the Aisne and fighting is going on along the whole line.

"The crown prince's army has been driven further back and is now on the line of Varennes, Consenvoye and Ornes.

"The allied troops have occupied Rheims.

"Six hundred prisoners and twelve guns were captured yesterday by the corps on the right of the British.

"Rain has made the roads heavy and is increasing the difficulty of the German army in its retreat."

As has been the case since the commencement of the battle of the Marne over a week ago, the final outcome of this mighty struggle seems to depend upon the army of Crown Prince Frederick William in the German center, the headquarters of which has been retired to Montfaucon.

As this town is 15 miles to the northwest of Verdun the crown prince's move seems to imply the approaching relief of that French fortress which his army has been besieging for a week past. However, no news of the actual situation there has come through nor is official confirmation of the reported fall of the fortified position of Maubeuge forthcoming from French sources.

The Only German Claim.

A dispatch from the German general staff on the battle of the Marne received in London today suffered at the hands of the censor. In its truncated form, the only claim made for German arms is that of having successfully defeated the French endeavors to break through the German lines.

This apparently is quite true unless the report from Dieppe this afternoon alleging that Gen. von Kluck's army on the German right had been forced to surrender turns out to be correct. Up to the present there has been no confirmation of the story.

In any case from the estimate given of the numbers of the troops surrendered, which, according to one report was 14,000 and according to another 25,000, it would be a misnomer to call a surrender of Gen. von Kluck's army, which must total in the neighborhood of 100,000 men.

Gen. von Kluck has shown masterful skill, and even should he have been forced to sacrifice a part of his army to an offensive stroke of the British and French allies, and unless beaten by a break in the weather, which is turning the roads into quagmires and making transport most difficult, observers here are of the opinion that he will reach his appointed position.

GERMAN AND JAP IN LAND CLASH

Chi Mo, Shan-Tung Province, China, Sunday, Sept. 13. 1:30 p. m.—Via Peking, Sept. 15.—The first encounter between German and Japanese forces on land occurred this morning when there were a number of sharp skirmishes between patrols of the contesting forces at a point close to Chi-Mo.

Previous to these engagements a German aeroplane flew over the district. The Japanese fired on the machine, but without success.

CAVALRY AT KIA-CHOW.

Peking, Sept. 15.—A report received here from Tsing-Tau of German origin declares that a vanguard of Japanese cavalry is at Kia-Chow City.

GERMANS DEAL RUSSIANS HEAVY BLOW

Berln, Sept. 15.—(By Wireless to New York via Sayville, L. I.)—It was officially announced in Berlin today that Gen. von Hindenberg had telegraphed Emperor William that the Russian army of Vilna, composed of the 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 20th army corps, two reserve divisions and five divisions of cavalry have been completely defeated by the Germans. The Russian casualties were heavy.

Afterwards he was captured by the French and sent to the center of France.

GERMANS HURL A BIG FORCE AGAINST CZAR

London, Sept. 15.—2:50 a. m.—A dispatch from Petrograd to the Star telling of the operations on the Russian frontier, says:

"The Germans have concentrated enormous forces in East Prussia, causing a corresponding retirement on the part of the Russians.

"The Germans, in aid of the hard pressed armies on the Austrian frontier, attempted to drive in with an overwhelming force along the line from Nordenburg to Goldap, upon the Russian base. At the same time Russia had been drawing upon its forces in east Prussia for reinforcements against the Austrian front. Thus the German attempt was well timed. Gen. Rennenkampff, however, by clever maneuvering, succeeded in driving back the Germans with heavy losses.

"The Austrian army which is retreating on Przemysl includes one which Germans and corps and part of which the Russians must take by a prolonged siege.

"Enormous numbers of Maxims and field guns which were captured by the Russians have been everywhere immediately turned against their old owners. The Galician railways have been placed under the administration system.

"The following incident of the Russian pursuit and the Austrian retreat has been received here. It appears that forty men of the scouts' regiment swam the wide, rough Vistula river and succeeded in blowing up and setting afire an enormous quantity of the stores of the retreating Austrians, including two Austrian steamboats, seventeen pontoons, eighteen laden barges, a large number of smaller boats and rafts and a considerable quantity of military equipment. FIFTY YEARS ON JOB.

L. P. Hulburd Rounds Out Half Century of Express Service.

A half century of time working for the American and National Express companies speaks volumes for ability and faithfulness of service. That is the record of L. P. Hulburd and in celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of his connection with the work Mr. Hulburd tendered a banquet to the officials of the company, friends and relatives at the Commercial club on September 12. Covers for sixty-five were laid at the banquet.

Musical features were violin and piano numbers by Fred Hulburd, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Hulburd, and Stephen Burns. Talks were made by different guests, among whom was J. H. Butler, of Chicago, general western manager of the National Express company, who said among other things that Mr. Hulburd's office was the only one with a percentage of one hundred that was found at a recent meeting held in Chicago by executives.

Mr. Hulburd, now seventy years of age but active and as anxious to keep on working as if he were forty years younger, has worked his way up in the express company business from the low rung of the ladder with never a misstep. Mr. Hulburd is an "old soldier," having served with the Army of the Potomac during every battle fought in the civil war. He is also a life member of the Knights Templar, Mystic Shrine and other Masonic organizations, besides belonging to Lawton-Wayne post, G. A. R., and the Elks lodge. Among the visiting guests were J. H. Butler, H. D. Cunningham, A. C. Neal, J. C. Callahan, Chicago; W. O. McKee, Cleveland; J. Newell, Toledo; C. A. Taylor, Cleveland; H. P. Ester, Indianapolis, and Charles Sauercison, Cleveland, all of whom have positions of honor with the express companies, and Mr. and Mrs. George Parsons, of Hollywood, Cal., who are daughter and son-in-law of Mr. Hulburd. Many congratulatory telegrams and letters were received.

BATTLE FIERCELY TO REGAIN LOST GROUND

London, Sept. 15.—(10:15 a. m.)—For once the military critics on both sides agree that the outcome of the campaign in the western area depends on the result of the operations of the crown prince's army before Verdun, but on the question of accomplished facts the divergence of opinion is as wide as ever.

Berlin maintains that the invetment of Verdun is now complete and therefore expects that within two or three days there will be a resumption of the offensive along the whole German front. On the other hand, the latest official communication issued in behalf of the allies states that the crown prince has been driven back and has moved his headquarters from Saint Menehould, south of Rheims, to Montfaucon, about fifteen miles northeast.

Berlin admits that the weakened German right wing has been turned back, but discounts the reverse by maintaining that it will have no effect on the general forward movement to be initiated when Verdun falls.

The very candid statement of Gen. Joffre regarding the sort of warfare his troops are capable of waging, indicates that the French are now in a position to take up the gage of battle on their own terms and in a country of their own choosing.

Joffre Now National Hero.

General Joffre is now a national hero, after conducting the great retreat that caused him to be called many hard names. He declared that the strict discipline of the German soldier made him an ideal instrument for a crushing onslaught with superior numbers, while the French soldiers, without adequate fortified bases and in a generally level country, could not assume that extended order under which they make the best showing.

As far as the moral effect goes, the recapture of Rheims probably means more to the French army than the rolling up of the German left wing beyond Verdun so that the battle line on the Aisne, already the scene of sanginary fighting, is today undoubtedly the arena of a stubborn struggle of the fiercest description.

Hope to Bottle Up Foes.

Petrograd reports that although news of the damage from General Brussiloff's army is lacking and part of Gen. Ruzsky's forces is still to be heard from, it is estimated that the Austrian forces have lost one-third of their available personnel and two-thirds of their artillery. It is evident that the Russian generals now hope to bottle up the Austrians and their German contingents in Przemysl, which is an Austrian Metz. No hope is expressed for the early capture of this fortress, but it is expected the remnants of the Austro-Hungarian forces will be kept within its walls until the end of the war.

Reports of operations on the east Prussian frontier are contradictory. According to Petrograd, Gen. Rennenkampff has resumed the offensive after winning an engagement on the border, while the same Russian sources report that the investment of Koenigsberg is continuing. On the other hand, Berlin states that Rennenkampff's defeat is almost as great as the Russian disaster in this region.

Plan to Forestall Famine.

Outside the one of military operations the chief interest centers in the efforts of the German, Dutch and French governments to forestall the possibility of famine among their peoples by regulating the use of certain staples. The regulations not only forbid the use of more than a certain amount of these staples for purposes other than for food, but instruct the people in the most economical way to use them.

The story that Russian troops had been landed on the continent, after coming via England from Archangel, has met with formal and specific denial both from England and official press bureau and from Belgian official sources.

The military stronghold of Przemysl, where the Russian generals are endeavoring to surround the Austrian and German Gallician armies is regarded by military experts as the last important fortification guarding the way to the interior of Austria-Hungary. Przemysl is situated on the river San, 51 miles west of Lemberg, the evacuated capital of Galicia, and is the headquarters of the tenth army corps.

The Russian contention is that the capture of Przemysl would allow a free passage of the Russian army in the direction of Vienna or would permit a swinging movement to the northwest to effect a junction with the Russian army in east Prussia.

GORGE FILLED WITH DEAD MEN

London, Sept. 15.—3:40 a. m.—A dispatch to the Chronicle from Petrograd says:

"The fiercest fighting of all that which preceded the Russian victory at Lubin was in a gorge near the village of Mikolaeiff, which the Russian soldiers reverently named the 'Valley of Death.'

"The gorge was full of dead men, lying in heaps, according to a soldier who reached here today. 'When we attacked at 3 o'clock in the morning,' he said, 'the gorge contained 15,000 Austrians, a large portion of whom were mowed down by the artillery fire which plowed through the valley in the darkness. The Austrians surrendered and we entered the gorge to receive their arms, while their general stood quietly on a hill watching the scene. Eight of his standars being turned over to the Russians was more than he could bear for he drew a pistol and shot himself."

SUICIDAL EFFORT FAILS.

Frank M. Sapp, who swallowed a quantity of carbolic acid Monday evening in an attempt to end his life, is reported to be making a right nice progress toward recovery at St. Joseph hospital. His condition is not serious and he will soon be out. Sapp, who is a Nickel Plate railway brakeman, residing at 1733 High street, was with Jack Edwards, a friend, when he made the suicidal essay in an alley off Cherry street, between Main and Boone, at 6:30 o'clock Monday evening. NEW PEACE PACTS ARE DULY SIGNED

Washington, Sept. 15.—In the presence of the cabinet, Secretary Bryan today signed peace treaties with the diplomatic representatives of Great Britain, France, Spain and China.

These treaties bind each of the countries and the United States to submit to investigation by an international commission for a period of at least a year all questions which cannot be settled diplomatically. During the period of investigation hostilities cannot be opened.

There were also present at the signing Mrs. Bryan and the assistant secretaries of state. With the signing of the treaties today Secretary Bryan's peace pacts number twenty-six, of which nineteen already have been ratified by the senate.

Germany, Russia and Japan have accepted the investigation proposal in principle.

FAIR OPENS BUT CROWD IS SMALL

Birdboy Art Smith, Home from Detroit, Booked for Flights Here.

A few spectators who arrived at Centlivre park Tuesday spent most of their time watching Art Smith and Ed Johnson set up the Fort Wayne bird boy's aeroplane, which arrived at 10:40 from Detroit and which was booked as one of the attractions of the afternoon.

An opening day rarely counts for much at fairs, but the crowd was small even for the first day and many of the concession men did not open up their stands. Numbers of them were still engaged in "setting up," as the vernacular of the ground has it.

Late Tuesday there was every prospect that Smith would make flights during the afternoon as his machine came through without a break and on Wednesday he will probably test out that long-delayed new motor which arrived Tuesday afternoon.

The bookings for the afternoon were, aside from Smith's flights, some free attractions and a special race, but Col. Hoagland, whose riders and horses were on the program, stated that "everybody else was just lazing around, some of my hands are not here and I don't think I will set up until tonight."

Patrons are not allowed the privilege of walking across the enclosure inside the track, but are compelled to walk around the north end of the course a quarter of a mile to reach the shows and the stands.

One exhibit of machinery, a furnace display, and three cook stoves' constituted Tuesday the entire industrial portion of the fair. The exhibit of fancy work in the art hall was about in keeping with the fairs of previous years, but the fact that the space is limited prevented merchants from making their usual showing of merchandise.

The race card for Wednesday afternoon is made up of a 2:19 trot, 2:27 pace and a 2:30 trot. Smith is booked to fly each afternoon.

THREE PAIRS IN SINGLE HARNESS

Judge Yaple Dissolves Trio of Marriages in Superior Court.

In the supedior court Tuesday, Judge Yaple, despite the staple injunction to the contrary in all well-regulated marital ceremonies, put asunder men and women who had been joined together and they are, to the number of three women and three men free to go their several ways.

May Dumbould was given a divorce from Elden B. Dumbould and permitted to resume her maiden name of May Rahe. The pair were wed February 28, this year, and on June 15 broke up their happy home.

Laura Comer was given a divorce from Roy Comer and the order was reversed when Judge Yaple granted a decree to Jacob Hollopeter from Katie Hollopeter.

There was a rift in the lowering skies of domesticity however, for Elk Parks had the court dismiss her suit for divorce from Alexander Parks.

Venue Suit on Trial.

Judge Yaple and a jury are hearing the evidence in the suit of Charles H. Thomas, administrator of the estate of Minnie H. Thomas vs. the Caswell-Runyan company, an action for $2,500 damages on contract concerning a patent right, brought here on change of venue from Huntington county. A big battery of Huntington attorneys appears in the case.

Notes of the Courts.

The circuit court was mainly engaged Tuesday listening to several claims cases against estates.

The appeal of Anthony G. Meyer from the board of commissioners on refusal of the board to grant him a liquor license for the so-called Gebhart roadhouse on the Bluffton road, has been filed.

The last will and testament of Eugene G. Gilbert has been filed for probate. He leaves his estate to his wife, Carrie A. Gilbert, who is named executrix.

RESUME WORK OR PORTAGE.

Acceptable Material Arrives and Delay is at an End.

The arrival of large consignments of washed gravel from Attica, Ind., have permitted a resumption of repair work on Portage avenue from the city limits to the Bootjack roadhouse and it is believed that delays are at an end. Since the material arrived about 500 feet of the highway have been completed. The board of commissioners put a stop to work some time ago because it could not pass some of the material that was going into the road. Shipments of material were delayed and the work was accordingly held up. The commissioners say they regret the public inconvenience, but that the emergency left them no other course than to call a halt. A mass meeting has been called to meet Tuesday evening in Wayne township school No. 2 to protest against the delay and the prolonged closing of the road.

SLOW LAUNDRYMAN STOPS ELOPEMENT

Young Lochinvar Would Not Wed Without His Best Shirt.

MISS LILLIAN SCHABERT.

telephone operator, following their elopement from Portland, Ore.

It was because of the young couple's ultra-romantic notions that the cops beat Cupid in the race to ensnare them.

"Young Lochinvar" Freeman petulantly insisted that he would not be married unless he could wear his "swellest" shirt. Unfortunately for the romance, the shirt was still in the mangle.

Miss Schabert was equally finicky about being married in a city of "romantic name," taking several days to decide upon San Jose, Cal.

Meantime there had been delay enough for the local police to locate the elopers and arrest them at the instance of the parents. They were hustled off to jail—just as the "swellest" shirt arrived with apologies from the laundryman.

Undaunted by the meddlings of an unsympathetic world, Freeman and his sweetheart declare they will yet be wedded as soon as they get back to Oregon, where the girl is of legal age.

Miss Emily Eberwine, of Lakeside, has returned from a month's visit with relatives in Lima, Ohio, Sandusky and other Lake Erie points. Miss Eberwine was accompanied home by her cousin, Miss Laura Eberwine, of Sandusky, who will make an extended visit here.

A meeting of the membership committee of the Commercial club will be held Wednesday afternoon.

FORGERS WANTED IN MANY PLACES

Drenton and Diggs Sought by Chicago Police for Six Jobs There.

Henry C. Breton and Charles F. Diggs, forgers who in the city court Tuesday were put under bonds of $1,000 on each of four counts, aggregating $4,000 for each man, are wanted in Chicago, Gary, Ind., Laporte, Ind., and Aurora, Ill., in addition to South Bend and Elkhart, Ind., in which last two places Diggs had already confessed their operations.

Chief of Police Charles Lenz Tuesday morning received a telegram from John J. Halpin, chief of detectives in Chicago, stating that Diggs is wanted there for six jobs and asking if the Chicago authorities could have him. It is presumed that Breton was his companion there. Chief Halpin in a later message stated that the men were wanted also in Aurora, Gary and Laporte.

In Laporte the men went under the names of H. C. Bennett and Charles Downs. They passed three checks there for $35 each and used the same character of checks they did in Fort Wayne, when they got $45 each from the Shields clothing store and the Meigs optical goods store, $25 from the Woodworth drug store and $45 from the Randall hotel.

In the city court Tuesday the appearance of an attorney was entered for the pair and their cases were set for hearing Sept. 24.

Society

Altogether attractive in the general arrangement of flowers, favors and the refreshments was Mrs. George Bailhe's pretty bridge and sewing party given this afternoon for four young women, Misses Helen McGee, Lela Rich and Verne Bowser, all brides-elect of the season, and Miss Elizabeth Porter, who is going to Bryn Mawr college. Each guest received a corsage bouquet of pink roses and bows of pink maline on vases and on serving glasses, many flowers in the rooms and a touch of pink in the viands all contributed to the charm of the afternoon. There were thirty guests, some of whom played bridge while others sewed.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

"The Under Dog" Opens Two Days' Engagement.

"The Under Dog," an expose in four acts, with a prologue and epilogue, opened to an appreciative audience at the Majestic last night for a two days' engagement. This play is put over in a pleasing manner and the theme is of the sort that catches and holds the audience.

The story is of the struggles of a man once fallen, to degain his position in society and be regarded as something besides a common brute. It is starting in its assertions and portrays in a vivid manner the injustice of the penal system prevalent in the majority of states. Intermingled with the pathos of the performance is a vein of comedy.

Some Show For Two Days at the Majestic.

With a splendidly balanced company, Harry E. Emerson, supported by that clever prima donna, Grayce Celeste, will be seen in their merriest musical satire, "A Night on Broadway," at the Majestic for two days with daily matinees on Wednesday and Thursday.

The success of this clever play the past season from coast to coast was little short of phenominal. This season it will be seen to much better advantage, the company being improved by the addition of Grayce Celeste, and a very clever little singing and dancing soubrette, Miss Morrison, who was a feature the past season in "The Pink Lady" and at the Follies Bergere in New York. The chorus will be up to the Emerson standing, which means excellent, and Emerson will have the biggest and brightest selection of songs he has ever had in his long career.

"A Night on Broadway," is a success with a capital "S" and the brand of comedy and dancing employed is delightfully pleasing.

AT THE TEMPLE

How quickly Fort Wayne pleasure seekers find the best is evidenced by the packed houses that have been greeting the all-star bill at the Temple. This program which closes tomorrow night, is unquestionably the greatest collection of vaudeville talent that this man's town ever did enjoy. The laughs that Chick Sales with his inimitable impersonations of rural characters gives you, are a show in themselves. His country sheriff playing "Marching Through Georgia," on his wheezy alto horn, is something you'll remember the remainder of your life.

Another big time act on this bill is the Burton Holmes series of War Time Europe pictures, as timely interesting and instructive a feature as ever was presented in a vaudeville house. Burton Holmes' reputation as a globe trotter and lecturer is international and in these views which he is exhibiting at the Temple, he has "out-Holmesed" himself.

AT THE EMPRESS

Mark Twain, brought back to life, can be seen at the Empress theater during the fore part of this week. The reincarnation is effected through the remarkable personality and wonderful skill in makeup of Charles Leonard Fletcher, headliner at the Empress for the first three days of the week. Mr. Fletcher presents bits of quaint philosophyosophy from the writings of this great American humorist in connection with his characterization of Mr. Twain and Mr. Fletcher is also presenting two characterizations from life of today with great success in his act.

"The Golden Globe of Death" is claiming the attention of all lovers of the unusual at the Empress this week as in this gigantic ball constructed of steel slate, Cedora, a beautiful woman, whizzes around on a motorcycle at a rate of sixty miles an hour. A man, standing in the bottom of the ball, with difficulty dodges the onrushing machine.

In Wanda, the seal with a human brain, the Empress is presenting an act that is far out of the ordinary. Wanda is a wonder and there's no doubt of it. The funniest of funny men is Tom Dalton, who is editor of the Daffyville News, presents some very laughable comedy. All the other acts on the present bill are especially good.

LADIES' DANCING CLASS for new dances forms Thursday, 2:30 p. m. Trier's, Minuet school. 14-2t

"FLOWER O' THE FLAME."

First "Trey O' Hearts" Installment at the Orpheum Today.

A striking serial under the general title of the "Trey O' Hearts" series, but with a sub-title for each installment, which has made a most favorable impression in the larger cities where it has been shown, will be introduced to the Orpheum patrons this afternoon and evening.

Two film favorites, Cleo Madison and George Larkin, with a strong supporting company, are featured in the opening and succeeding installments.

The first of the three reels of today is devoted to a prologue, during which the important characters are introduced and their relationships established in the mind of the patron. Early in the narrative is introduced Seneca Trine (Edward Sloman,) who seeks the ruin of Wellington Law (George Larkin,) and the foundation of the future exciting, heartrending events is laid. A love story develops early in the narrative, and this is the central thought of the succeeding installment which will be shown at the Orpheum each Tuesday afternoon and evening until the series is completed.

Patrons of the Orpheum should not fail to become acquainted with the characters of this new serial by attending today's entertainment.

A roaring comedy, "Trapped in a Closet," will also be shown this afternoon and the Orpheum orchestra will present a pleasing musical program.

Use Milk—It's Cheap and Nutritious.

There is no waste in milk. You get what you pay for—no bones, no parings, no refuse to buy and throw away. Moreover, the proportion of nutrients which can be digested and utilized by the body is greater than in most foods.

The following recipes, which have been tested by government experts, are recommended to The Sentinel housekeeper readers:

Milk Soups.

A large variety of soups may be made the means of utilizing not only milk, but also left-over portions of vegetables and other foods. In making them allow from one-half to one level tablespoonful of flour to each cup of liquid (including milk and the juice and pulp of vegetables) and one level tablespoonful or more of butter or other fat. Some of the flavorings which may be used are: Onions, corn, asparagus, cabbage, cauliflower, peas, beans, tomatoes, salmon or other fish, celery, spinach or grated cheese.

Milk Chowder.

Chowders are also a very acceptable means of serving milk. In making rich chowders the proportions used are: Two cups of milk or of milk and water, one cup of potatoes cut into small pieces, and one pound of fish. The flavoring is onions and fat fried from salt pork. While these proportions make a rich dish, it is possible to reduce the amount of fish greatly, to leave it out entirely, to use small portions of leftover fish or some salt codfish, which has been freshened, or to substitute corn for it. Such dishes are palatable and of reasonably high nutritive value providing the greater part of the liquid used is milk.

Milk Gravies.

A great variety of milk gravies, thickened with flour and enriched with butter or other fat, may be served with potatoes or other vegetables or poured over toast. The proportions are two level teaspoonfuls of flour and two level tablespoonfuls of butter to one cup of milk. To this may be added chipped beef, codfish or other fresh or salt fish, hard-boiled eggs, small portions of chicken or veal or grated cheese. Milk gravy flavored with cheese makes a good and very nutritious sauce to pour over cauliflower and cabbage or to serve with boiled rice or hominy.

Stanley Hunting, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Hunting, of West Washington boulevard, is rapidly recovering from an operation for appendicitis and will soon be able to return to high school.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

John 15:1-15.

1 I am the true vine, and my Father is the husbandman.

2 Every branch in me that beareth not fruit he taketh away: and every branch that beareth fruit, he purgeth it, that it may bring forth more fruit.

3 Now ye are clean through the word which I have spoken unto you.

4 Abide in me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; no more can ye, except ye abide in me.

5 I am the vine, ye are the branches: He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: for without me ye can do nothing.

6 If a man abide not in me, he is cast forth as a branch, and is withered; and men gather them and cast them into the fire, and they are burned.

7 If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you.

8 Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be my disciples.

9 As the Father hath loved me, so have I loved you: continue ye in my love.

10 If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father's commandments, and abide in his love.

11 These things have I spoken unto you, that my joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full.

12 This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you.

13 Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends.

14 Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you.

15 Henceforth I call you not servants; for the servant knoweth not what his lord doeth: but I have called you friends; for all things that I have heard of my Father I have made known unto you.

When Europe Rebuilds

There are rivalries, jealousies, frictions among the states of the American union; but they usually are not serious.

Latin, Teuton and Slav dwell here side by side, for the most part, peacefully and with growing good will.

Each state has its military, but none trains soldiery or accumulates cannon with a view to overrunning another state, despoiling its commerce and impoverishing its people.

The army and navy are arms of the central authority, for use in the common defense—a police power which the people of all the states control, by majority vote in the national congress.

Gladstone said of the framework of this plan that it was the greatest ever struck off at one time by the mind of man.

For 50 years, over an area larger than embattled Europe, this plan has worked with smoothness and efficiency, yielding results which are the envy of mankind.

Democracy has proved workable on a great scale over many interests. Not ideally; not without tangles and bungles; but still successfully in the main, with a large measure of indivdual freedom, yet with accepted restraint—the restraint not of force imposed but of allegiance yielded.

There are no war lords and no autocrats that we do not ourselves set up and tolerate because aware that, when we will, we can easily pull them dwn.

Please don't misunderstand. We're not claiming superiority for Americans as folks; we're merely claiming it for their political system. Given equal intelligence, this system ought to work equally well anywhere.

When Europe comes to the task of rebuilding can it find a better model?

The Hunting Season

Two Ohio lads took advantage of this fine autumn weather to go hunting the other day.

The air was like wine, it was so clear and bracing. You could see for miles.

One took a gun and a dog. Through the wheat stubble and meadow, in the cool lanes of the woods just beginning to show the autumn tinge, he trudged joyously, carefree, now and again winging a pheasant or a quail, which the faithful dog promptly retrieved.

It was great sport, but it was bloody. It made him think of the hunting on the other side, where men stalk men and shoot to kill. As each wounded bird fell, he wondered if he should have enjoyed the day so well had he been born a bird.

The other lad carried a camera. He moved cautiously, stealthily. His game, too, had to be stalked. But when his weapon clicked there was no wild echo; no bird brood orphaned, no free creature of the open crippled or laid low.

He had all the sport of the chase and all the good exercise in the tonic autumn air. And no misgivings. No regrets.

That night they swapped experiences and the photographer exhibited his trophies—some smashing pictures of wild fowl in flight. The other admitted that there are more ways than one to hunt.

Did the second lad draw his humanity too fine?

Mr. Beveridge has just opened the Indiana state campaign for the progressives with a slashing speech at Terre Haute. However much truth or falsity there may be in republican claims that the moosers in Indiana have suffered a tremendous slump, it is apparent that Mr. Beveridge as the party's nominee for the senate is carrying just as big a head of party steam as ever.

It is worth while noting in passing that Maine, the first state to hold its election this year, has elected a democrat as governor. Those who pin their faith to "signs" are cordially invited to pitch in and help themselves.

New York World: "The railroads undoubtedly need larger net incomes, and President Wilson in his letter concedes the point with some emphasis. But the railroads are in no such state of desperation as to warrant the panicky talk they are giving out."

Boston Advertiser: "In the railroads is tied up the commercial prosperity of the nation. When the railroads are not prospering few, if any, manufactories and industries can succeed."

Serious Disaster.

Philadelphia Inquirer: "What is certain is that the revenues of the railways may not decrease constantly without serious disaster to the whole country."

"Not Popular.

Washington Herald: "It has been apparent for some time that it is not as popular to abuse the railroads as it once was. Their stock is widely distributed and their employes form no inconsiderable percentage of our population."

IS WAR LESS DEADLY?

(Pittsburg Dispatch.)

Statements attributed to surgeons with the allies hardly bear out the reports of dead piled high and other gruesome tales of the immense losses in the present conflict. Instead they tend to corroborate the theory that modern bullets are less deadly than the old. The official statement of British losses from the opening of the war until September 7 are interesting in this connection. While the total is 18,783, the known killed but 400 and the wounded 3,000, the remaining 15,000 being accounted missing. The British bureau pointed out reassuringly the other day that a large proportion of the missing may be credited to those captured by the enemy. General French's detailed account of the desperate plight of his forces on the retirement toward Paris indicates that many detachments must have been overwhelmed.

From the French side the statement is made by the medical department of the Ministry of War that out of each hundred men placed hors de combat, but two were killed. The wounded, too, show a remarkable percentage of disabling, but not deadly wounds, mainly in the legs and arms. Many of the wounded indeed have already returned to the front.

On the other hand, a German report of killed and wounded, date not given, shows a total of 6,535 dead, 8,391 seriously wounded and 4,242 slightly wounded, a ratio of one dead to each wounded, remarkably high and contradicting the inferences of the British and French reports.

Comparisons of the casualities in the Franco-Prussian War with those in the Russo-Japanese War supported the belief that modern war is less deadly. Improved rifles make cleaner wounds. There is infinitely greater preparation for prompt attention to the wounded. Amputation, which used to be resorted to so freely before surgery had attained its present skill, is now avoided when possible.

GREAT BRITAIN'S NEW WAR HERO.

GENERAL SIR H. L. L. SMITH-DORRIEN.

All England is to-day acclaiming this new war hero. That the present offensive movement of the allies is made possible is admittedly due to his efforts. With his small corps he for two days withstood an overwhelming force of Germans, making possible the saving of the entire left wing of the allied army. General Smith-Dorrien has distinguished himself in many other battles fought under the British flag. He is fifty-six years old and is the son of an army officer.

Youngest Son of Emperor William Is Proud of Day He Fell.

London, Sept. 15.—(3:00 a. m.)—According to the Exchange Telegraph's Hague correspondent, Prince Joachim, youngest son of Emperor William, recently sent to the dowager grand duchess of Baden the following telegram:

"God has allowed me to be wounded. Bless him. I am proud of the day I fell. It was the finest day I have lived."

AN INSTANTANEOUS WRINKLE REMOVER.

The average woman is always surprised to learn, after experimenting with all sorts of patent so-called "wrinkle removers" that the most effective remedy in the world is a simple face wash which she can make herself at home in a jiffy.

She has only to get an ounce of pure powdered saxolite from her nearest druggist, and dissolve it in half a pint of witch hazel. Apply this refreshing solution to the face every day for awhile. The result is charming—marvelous. Even after the very first treatment the wrinkles show less plainly and the face has a nice, firm, comfortable feeling that is thoroughly delightful, and lends self confidence to one's appearance. This harmless home remedy is used by thousands of women in order to keep the wrinkles away from their faces.

TALKS DREDGING WITH ENGINEER

Major Bond Explains to Board Chairman What City Can Do.

Chairman Frank E. Singrey, of the board of public works, had a conference Tuesday with Maj. P. S. Bond, of Cleveland, a member of the board of army engineers here, on matters relating to the Erie and Michigan barge canal survey and gained some additional light on the rights of the municipality to clean the river channels within the city. Major Bond said that the city government could have its engineers make the necessary surveys, set the proper stakes and prepare necessary plans for such work as dredging, removing obstructions and even cutting away the shoulders of embankment bends in the stream and in short for doing a variety of things designed to establish sanitation and prevent floods. These, he said, could be referred to the army engineers' board at the Cleveland office and from there permission could be obtained. Major Bond said permission for such work, no doubt, would readily be granted. As to more comprehensive flood prevention plans and for the determination of the ownership of the river banks and flood planes, as based upon such questions as were raised in a recent letter written by Postmaster R. B. Hanna, Major Bond said there must be reference to the war department and resort to legislation by the state.

MAY RESURFACE TWO STREETS.

Parts of Hoagland and East Creighton Avenues in Program.

If the resident property owners on Hoagland avenue, from DeWald street to Leith street, will sign waivers permitting the city to proceed in its own way with the work it is probable that they can get a new asphalt surface put on their street this fall. The board of works will resurface East Creighton avenue from Calhoun to Lafayette and the probability is that the city asphalt repair department will do the work, as it is planned also to do on Hoagland avenue. It is believed money can be found to perform both jobs. The Grace Construction company has asked to submit a proposition for East Creighton, and the board will consider it to determine if that method will be as cheap as having it done by the city plant. It is not likely that a way will be found this year to resurface Suttenfield street from Lafayette to Calhoun or Woodland avenue from Lafayette to Hoagland, though both thoroughfares need attention badly.

At Monday's meeting of the board it was decided to pave St. Mary's avenue from Burgess street to Brock street, the distance of a square, to a width of thirty feet, which will be two feet narrower than the roadway of the balance of the avenue, already paved. It was found that there was enough in the intersection fund to take care of that street and also to pay the city's share of resurfacing East Creighton avenue.

The board will rescind all action on the improvement of Hillside avenue, Thursday night, and enter upon an entirely new procedure designed to vacate part of the street and grade it a width of twenty-two feet. This will overcome all embarrassments that have arisen. The board approved the assessment roll for walks and curbing on the east side of St. Joe boulevard from Lake to Forest, and for paving Oliver street, Thayer to Eckart. Plans were ordered for cement sidewalks on both sides of Creighton avenue, Hanna to Thomas.

The board directed the city engineer to prepare plans for the condemnation of the north twelve feet of Schele avenue, Roy street to the first alley west of Curtice avenue, in order to widen the street.

REPAIR PLANT EARNS MONEY.

City Cleans Up Some on Putting Down Asphalt.

As shown by a report submitted by Superintendent Droeger, of the city asphalt repair plant, that branch of the city's service this year has shown earnings of $2,000 in work done for the Traction company and the Gas company. There is also an additional earning of about $300 by reason of work performed for the city waterworks department. This is on top of all the street repairs accomplished by the city plant and the total for the year along that line is extensive. Practically all of the patchwork to be done this year has been completed and the cost shows that the city has saved a great deal of money. If the plant performs the work of resurfacing East Creighton avenue and Hoagland avenue, the year's volume of work and resulting economies will be much larger.

MAIN STREET BRIDGE WOBBLES.

When the board of works went Tuesday morning to inspect the recently completed job of painting the Main street bridge, over the St. Mary's river, it was discovered that the bridge is again in a very shaky, if not unsafe condition. Its vibrations under heavy or rapid traffic indicate that it is not secure as it should be. The bridge will need some further repairs. Meanwhile signs will be put on the bridge warning traffic against rapid driving. The job of painting was found satisfactory in most respects.

NEW SPRINGS FOR FLUSHER.

The board of works Tuesday completed arrangements with Fred Birgantz, of the German-Bernstein motor truck company, Lima, Ohio, to equip the new street flusher with much heavier springs than it has. The flusher springs carry a load of ten tons when the tank is filled and the springs with which it is equipped are so light as to permit some interference with the gearing. The board had held out $400 from the contract price of the flusher to meet some such emergency and the expense of equipping the flusher with new springs will not be additional to the original cost.

WANT BOULEVARD LIGHTS.

Practically all of the resident property owners on Lincoln avenue have filed with the board of works a petition to have single staff ornamental lights established on their thoroughfare in place of arc lights. They propose to erect and install the system at their own expense and then turn it over to the city for maintenance.

MORE LIGHT FOR CITY.

The board of works has ordered the installation of additional arc lights by the city light and power department at the following locations: East end of Lawton place, McKee and Oliver streets, Fairfield avenue, between Jefferson and Brackenridge streets, Ewing street, between Jefferson and Baker streets, Hendricks street, 300 feet west of Fairfield avenue, and at California avenue and Forest Park boulevard. An alley lamp was ordered in the rear of the Interantional Harvester company's building, 827 East Columbia street.

TO PAVE HOME AVENUE.

The board of works has given Fred Lambert a permit to pave by private contract that part of Home avenue from Thomson avenue to the first alley west of Broadway. The Grace company will do the work.

BUILDING PERMITS.

FAMINE IN ARMY MOST IMPROBABLE

Students of German System Say No Fear Need Be Expressed.

Kansas City, Sept. 14.—That the German army is hungry and in want is hardly believed by students of the German system of troop supply. That both men and ration run into figures almost beyond understanding does not make the belief stronger, but rather tends to lessen the credibility of reports from the war zone, stating that the German army is in want.

Germany thinks and acts on a gigantic scale. She puts every branch of her military service under a system so simple and complete that demands add efficiency to the system rather than cripple it.

A Day's Supply.

Assuming the German army now in the field consists of a half-million men—and the force is reported to be greater than that—it takes 281,250 pounds of hard bread, 218,750 pounds of preserved meat, 109,375 pounds of vegetables, mostly onions; 27,345 pounds of coffee and 41,666.6 pounds of condensed soups and foods to furnish each man with a field ration for one day—or one pound and ten ounces for each.

In a field campaign, where the advancing army is in a foreign country, the supplies are either in the theater of operations or at the base. As both France and Germany are in Belgium, and as that country is incapable of furnishing or producing sufficient supplies, the food must be conveyed to the army.

The duty of feeding the army in field or at home rests with the quartermaster's department. In that department also is the rolling stock of the entire army. The quartermaster is in charge of the food from the time of original purchase to the delivery to the individual soldier. To keep the food supply up to the army demand is his duty, and a duty in his army is always performed.

A "Soup Army."

The German army is essentially a "soup army" and a large part of the soldiers' ration—his reserve ration especially—is a soup cartridge. In his kit are bacon and other meats, and the main part of his food is a double baked hard black bread, three months' baked and without a bit of moisture. Its crust is so hard that it requires a saber or bayonet to break it. With his meats and vegetables the German soldier is fed so long as either fire or water is at hand. He can not starve unless he also thirsts.

The kitchen in the German army is pared to the absolute necessities, and this leaves a lot of wagon or truck train space for the conveyance of the food itself. Unlike the American army with its ponderous, if not cumbersome kitchen paraphernalia, the German utensil is confined to huge caldrons. Pots, pans, ovens and baker appliances are mobile and always at or near the supply base, and not a part of the field equipment. When nearness will permit, these trucks of more extensive equipment will temporarily join the field.

No Chance of Starving.

The huge caldrons packed full of meats and vegetables are quickly handled and easily moved. If the country around is fertile and can supply fresh meats or vegetables well and good, if it can not, and it is not expected now that Belgium can supply, the German gets his soup from the regular supply, soaks his hard bread in it and is fed, and well fed. The soup may get thin at times or the soldier's appetite may rebel at it, but the supply is there—and—it is regular and constant.

CLIMATE ON THE COAST AIDS 'EM

(By Hugh S. Fullerton.)

Kid Moehler has been canned.

Never heard of him? Well, the Woodland team, a San Francisco independent club, released him the other day because he slumped in his hitting. He will go down forgotten, although in many respects he has made the greatest record ever made by any baseball player.

Moehler played ball continually as a professional for more than twenty-six years, and probably played more games of baseball than many that ever lived.

Twenty-six years ago he jumped into the Eastern as one of the promising young pitchers. For three seasons he was considered a major league possibility. Something went wrong with his arm and because of his ability to hit and his knowledge of the game, he was given a job at second base. He went all over America, from league to league, club to club and finally reached the coast. The climate out there seemed to bring back his failing arm and for a time he played great ball.

It is odd how those fellows last out in California. It must be the climate or something. A few years ago the Chicago White Sox were playing on the spring trip against Modesto. Of course no one had the lineup right and the visiting reporters had to skirmish for it.

There was a fellow scampering around second base. This second baseman had a familiar move in fielding and throwing.

It turned out to be "Grasshopper" McCarthy. That fellow was playing ball back when the game was in its infancy. He jumped the National league more than twenty years before. He also jumped a couple of other clubs, finally landed out on the coast and was forgotten.

And there he was playing second base with the speed of a champion and as fast in double plays as he ever was in his life. He may be playing there yet.

George McFarlan is another case. He pitched ball more than twenty years, and he still was lobbing them over, and he had a steady job at Waterbury, Conn. He was a California star in the early days of baseball out there.

George Van Haltren, who lasted until most of those who started with him were grandfathers, was a native son. There is a grocer down at Monrovia named Morris who played with the Chicago White Sox when Anson was a boy, and who gets out and makes the town youngsters hustle even now to hold the pace with him.

Cost Kept Down—Quality Kept Up.

No better medicine could be made for coughs, colds, croup, hoarseness, tickling throat, bronchitis, etc., than Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. That's why they can't improve the quality, and war or no war, the price remains the same. E. J. Sargent, Dallas, Texas, says: "I believe Foley's Honey and Tar has no equal for it completely relieved me of all symptoms of tuberculosis and my cough has entirely disappeared." Don't accept any substitute, for Foley's Honey and Tar is the best. Dreier Drug Co.—Adv.

Joe Azevedo and his twin sister, who is one of his most enthusiastic admirers. She is always present at his training camp and encourage him in his work. HAS CHANCE TO MAKE GOOD IN NAPOLEON LAJOIE'S PLACE.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 15.—There isn't a person connected with the Pacific Coast league who doesn't think Bill Rodgers, captain and second baseman of the Portland club, will make good with Cleveland next season. Rodgers has been the best keystone sack guardian in this league for three years, failing to become a major leaguer because Manager McCredie refused to sell him and was lucky enough not to have him drafted. Rodgers has captained the club into one pennant and from present indications will do so again this season.

Although Rodgers isn't a flashy player, he executes many difficult plays. He is a .300 hitter, leading base runner of the league, good run getter and always seems to do the right thing at the right time.

Rodgers will not find breaking into fast company strange either, as he will not be going among strangers, having played with several Cleveland players in this league. Many players failed to make good because they were not among friends.

Rodgers is around 26 years, but clean living has kept him from slowing up as most minor leaguers who have never had a chance in fast company do. Usually when a player turns 25 and hasn't received a chance to play in the "big brush" he doesn't care what happens and begins to slow up. Rodgers is good for ten years yet, barring accidents.

It don't take long for kidney and bladder trouble to give you a lame back, and even worse if not checked. Mrs. H. T. GUARANTEE FUND IS A NECESSITY

Organizations Without Them Always Fail to Hold for Season.

If the St. Paul Walther league basket ball players are able to carry out their idea of a strictly amateur league for Fort Wayne during the winter season there is one thing that should be insisted upon and that is a cash deposit from each club that enters to insure that it will finish out the schedule.

All talk about the dead game sport is silly rot. The dead game sport is all right a slong as things are coming his way, but when the break is against him he will welch just as quickly as the fellow who does not claim to be dead game.

Experience gained last winter leads to the belief that an amateur league could be maintained but there are very few organizations that ever complete a season without money on deposit to insure that players will finish. Winners are always ready to go the full length but the losers will quit any time, and if they can do so without financial loss they will do it.

The schedule could be so arranged that the clubs engaged in the campaign would have open dates enough to play out of town aggregations and this would lend variety and give every contestant a chance to keep up its expense account.

And this money shoul dcome from the players. The facts that some business firm might make a deposit for the advertising it would get is not sufficient. The advertising does not belong to the clubs and cannot be guaranteed. If the men on the clubs deposit their own money they will stick to the end to get it back and the schedule can be carried out.

St. Paul surprised the basket ball public by its good work last season, and while it may lose some players, it ought to put on an organization capable of holding its own. At a meeting Monday night Arnold Scherer and Fred Wehrenberg were appointed members of a committee to call upon the other organizations in the city staging basket ball with hopes of prevailing upon them to join a league of this sort. The selection of the basket ball manager was postponed for several weeks and the Walther leaguers voted to establish an athletic board of three which shall in turn appoint the basket ball manager and direct all athletic affairs.

A bowling league will be maintained on the St. Paul's alleys this winter, and Ot Sander, Elmer Koenig and Al Nahrwold are members of a committee which will direct the organization of the league.

DISTRICT SCHOOLS OPEN.

Began Annual Sessions in Various Townships Monday.

The Allen county schools, one hundred and ninety in number, began their fall work Monday morning with a larger force of instructors and many additions and improvements in the buildings. Superintendent D. O. McComb announces that he has received no word to the effect that there were any vacancies although he has as yet no complete list of all the teachers. However, a list of the instructors of Wayne and Washington townships has been compiled and is as follows: Wayne township, Nellie McKay, Adda Johnson, Mollie Ringwalt, Fannie Brown, Josephine Bennett, Pearl Townsend, S. J. Brubaker, Matilda Stolte, A. A. Ringwalt, Theresa Hammond and Ethel Connett; Washington township, Sophia Showe, Millie Pratt, Estella Waters, Ethel Allgeier, Bessie M. Meyers, E. A. Warner, Carrie Archer, Hazel Gessner and Alma Karriger.

Nearly twenty-five per cent. of the teachers of the county are new, some filling vacancies and others taking charge of new school districts. All the townships with the exception of one or two, have arranged to hold the monthly institutes of the township on the second Saturday in each month.

The county superintendent has some interesting statistics which show that the average daily attendance in the county last year was 4,192 and including the city it was 10,812. It is thought that the figures will increase greatly this year. The total valuation of the school property in this county last spring was $1,881,500.

Fall house-cleaning days are at hand. If you need new Shades or Lace Curtains remember Foster's.

NEW IDEA OUGHT TO HELP BOXING

Preliminary Bouts Are Tiresome and Never Interest Patrons.

Three ten-round bouts between boxers of sufficient ability to interest his patrons is the new idea advanced by Manager George Biemer, of the Summit City Athletic club, and in staging the opening card at the Majestic theater on Friday evening he will try this on the public.

Provided all the bouts go the limit, the card will provide a couple of hours of good amusement and at the popular prices that will prevail the quality and quantity ought to be ample to satisfy. Putting on the bouts at the Majestic theater is also a new idea. Princess rink has drawn some excellent crowds but there was a decide dslump last year in attendance and in an effort to ascertain the cause the location has been changed to a more central one.

Bill O'Connell will send down another boy to try for Frankie Mason's measure, something that most of the Chicago stable boxers have failed to do, and this time it will be George Girrard. Biemer asked for a good boy to put on in the semi-windup and the Chicago people seemed to think that George is the lad for the work and says he is rugged enough to stand any amount of punching that Mason may be able to give him.

They also say he is something at that punching game himself and that unless the local boy is better than he has been for some time he will have a tough argument on his hands.

Young Klenke makes the third of the local boys on the bill as Glen Coakley is billed with Murphy in the feature event of the card. Kenke is to go over the ten-round route with Harry Riede, of Denver. It is proposed to make all three of these real boxing matches rather than to stage an opening list of events with a lot of joke fighters in the lot.

Barney Furey will replace Eddie Santry as referee. He is from Cincinnati, and is said to be a capable third man in the ring.

MAJORS AFTER HENDRICKS.

Jack Hendricks

Hendricks is slated to manage the Cubs next year. He's now handling the Indianapolis team in the American association, a club that in one year he took from the bottom to a satisfactory spot in the race. Hendricks, never a great player when in the minor leagues, went to Denver from Fort Wayne and gave that Western league town three pennants in a row.

When the Denver owner, James McGill, bought the association club, Hendricks went with him. Now the majors want him. He will be the first minor leaguer to climb to such a position. And if he goes to the Cubs—well, just look out for him.

The Saints have always maintained a successful league and the present season is about to open with excellent prospects and all of the best bowlers in line for the winter's work.

The class of 1918 of the Fort Wayne High and Manual Training school held a meeting Monday night and elected the following officers: Clarence Strodel, president; Helen Stopher, vice president, and Howard Shambaugh, secretary and treasurer. 75 MEN HEAR FINE SPECIAL PROGRAM

Notable Gathering of Bible Class of the Baptist Sunday School.

The special program upon which the men of the Bible class of the First Baptist Sunday school have been working for several months took place during the Sunday school hour Sunday, September 13, and over seventy-five men were present.

The principal object of the special program was the presenting to the Sunday school a large group picture of the present members of the class, there being seventy-eight in all included in the picture. In honor of this occasion the committee in charge arranged for several speeches by prominent business men of Fort Wayne and who are active and enthusiastic Sunday school workers.

The address of welcome by W. M. Mann, president of the class, was read by William Carter, first vice president, on account of Mr. Mann's absence, he having recently been transferred by the S. F. Bowser company to the managership of their district office at Dallas, Tex. After the address, which was especially fitting to the occasion, an excellent talk was given by B. Paul Mossman, of the Mossman-Yarnelle company, on the subject "Sunday School as a Character Builder." Mr. Mossman brought out very clearly the important part the Sunday school plays, not only in the lives of boys and girls, but also the men and women. The next talk was presented by George H. Van Arnam, of the Van Arnam Manufacturing company, his subject being "Why I Am Affiliated With Sunday School." This was especially appropriate, as it carried the main topic of discussion just one step further. The speaker's line of argument was very convincing and every one present could not help but appreciate the advantage of attending Sunday school. The third principal speaker was A. G. Burry, of the Fort Wayne Box company, who talked on the subject, "Busy Successful Business Men as Sunday School Workers." No one could be better qualified to talk on this subject than Mr. Burry and the talk he gave brought home to the heart of each man present the duty which is his and how much good he can do by being an active Sunday school worker.

E. D. Farr, second vice president of the class, as well as a member of the committee who had this special program in charge, closed the special exercises by presenting to the Sunday school the large group picture of the class. Mr. Farr laid particular stress on the class motto, "The Other Fellow," and urged upon every man present to carry out this motto so that the Men's Bible class of the First Baptist Sunday school would become not only the largest and greatest men's class in Fort Wayne, but also in the state of Indiana.

It is the idea of the class to use this group picture as a means for boosting the class, and, to be sure, it is going to play a very important part in doing this.

There is no question from the enthusiasm and interest taken in the exercises Sunday but what the Men's Bible class of the First Baptist Sunday school is going to do things and prove to be an important factor for good in Fort Wayne.

The class is now preparing a special booklet taking in the events of the program on Sunday, and which they are going to use in reaching the "Other Fellow" and increasing the attendance to the one hundred mark, or better. A cordial invitation is extended to all the men of Fort Wayne to attend the Sunday morning meetings of this class and receive the benefit of the frank and open discussions of the teachings of Christ Jesus as they apply in our every day life.

H. O. Chilton, chairman of the committee which has been working upon this special program for some time, is to be especially commended, as it is principally due to his untiring efforts that the exercises met with such success.

Temco Shock Absorbers

Have Solved the Problem of the Road

A Shock Absorber for Ford Cars

WHEN you buy an electric light bulb for your home, you improve it with a shade—and you get in return a greatly increased service and pleasure from your lamp. When you add a set of Temco Shock Absorbers to a Ford Car, you bring to its owner a new delight in driving and riding—a sense of pleasure from the superb service of the springs beneath.

The Ford is universally recognized as the greatest car value today and in addition to this service, you can now add the ease and pleasure heretofore known only to cars with bodies heavy enough to tax a leaf spring and force it under control.

Temco Shock Absorbers represent the scientific application of a system of double spiral auxiliary springs—between the car and its body—to take and absorb the shock or jerk or jolt before it can reach the body and its occupants.

The old pitching, jerking and jolting over the rough places is a thing of the past. The irritating vibration ceases. Temco Shock Absorbers give a gentle up and down buoyant swing on the roughest going. They take up all the sharp jars of paved streets. Stiffness vanishes. They give the car great flexibility—making steering as easy as on the smooth street—reduce friction between motor and running gear—preserve the alignment—save repair and upkeep expense—save tires—keep the car in better condition, thus adding to its sales value.

She said that the treatment she received while in Berlin was almost the acme of courtesy, and she is thoroughly imbued with the belief that Germany is more sinned against than sinning. SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

A. J. CASH TO COME TO Y. M. C. A.

Board Engages Him as General Secretary Beginning December 1.

Andrew J. Cash will assume the duties of general secretary of the Railroad Y. M. C. A. December 1. This is the result of a conference Monday night between the management of the board of the Railroad Y. M. C. A. and Mr. Cash, who came here for that purpose. Mr. Cash has had ten years' experience in Y. M. C. A. work. For eight years he was assistant secretary at Hamilton, O., with charge of one of the branches in that city, and for the past two years he has been general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Logansport. He possesses to a remarkable degree the requirements of a first-class Y. M. C. A. worker, being young, of pleasing address and very energetic. He was recently married to a young lady who is also greatly interested in religious work and who will be of great assistance to her husband in his work in Fort Wayne. As previously stated, General Secretary H. A. Philley does not care to retain the office longer than is necessary for the association to find some good man for the position, which he believes they have accomplished. He took charge of the affairs soon after the resignation of W. S. Whitbeck, at the urgent request of the management of the association, and he will turn the work over to his successor with a membership more than double the number it had when he took charge. Mr. Philley has been chief clerk for the Pennsylvania road foreman of engines department for many years, a desirable and responsible position, and he believes he would be doing himself and family an injustice to retire from the service of the Pennsylvania company at this late period. Messrs. Fishering, Goff and Paxton, composing a committee from the Young Men's Forward Congress, met with the Y. M. C. A. managing board last night in the interest of the work the two associations are carrying on. The Railroad Y. M. C. A. board cordially received the visitors and invited them to co-operate with the Y. M. C. A. in advancing the cause of religion. The Forward Congress favors establishing a general Y. M. C. A. and building of headquarters in Fort Wayne. The members are Bible students from all denominations in the city.

VETERAN RAILROADER ILL.

All railroad men and men in other walks of life will be pained to learn that Charles W. Buck sustained a slight stroke of paralysis Sunday, the second since last July. His condition is not regarded serious, though the patient is upwards of eighty years old. Mr. Buck is one of the pioneer railroad men of the city, having worked on some of the Fort Wayne lines when they were under course of construction. He has not been actively engaged in railroad work for some years, but he keeps close in touch with the "boys" and is particularly interested in the Railroad Y. M. C. A.

HENRY DOELL QUITS RAILROAD.

September 30 will mark the end of service of Henry Doell with the Pennsylvania. He will go to Chicago October 1 to take a position with his uncle, H. L. Schroeder, who is extensively engaged in the manufacture of bakery supplies. It is an old and well established concern and offers Mr. Doell better opportunities for advancement than does the railroad. Henry Doell has been employed in a clerical capacity about fourteen years by the Pennsylvania and the greater portion of that time he has been in the division superintendent's offices.

The latter part of the week Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Bruner will leave the city for a visit with relatives at Kansas City, Sioux City and Hartford, Mo. He is employed in the Wabash shops.

Machinist Con Sullivan, of the Wabash, expects to resume work soon. He has been sick five weeks, but is now able to walk about and is rapidly regaining strength.

Oscar Braungart, night ticket agent of the Wabash, attended the ticket windows at the station last night, after an absence of two weeks, which he spent in Denver and Salt Lake City.

Robert Danner, of the Fort Wayne Transfer company, and Mrs. Danner went to Detroit this morning to spend a portion of Mr. Danner's vacation term.

John Reynolds, who is spending a two weeks' vacation with his wife at Rome City, will return here Thursday and Friday morning resume the duties of secretary to Acting Master Mechanic E. E. Griest, of the Pennsylvania.

Walter A. Barrett, of the Bass Foundry and Machine company, left this morning for Detroit on business for the company. He will return via Chicago, stopping in that city to look after some business.

John B. Fowler, chief clerk for Division Storekeeper C. P. Cherry, of the Pennsylvania, will take a two weeks' vacation, beginning next Monday. He will spend the time at Pittsburg and will be accompanied by Mrs. Fowler and their son.

John McCoy, Wabash machinist, who had some fingers crushed—one so badly that it was amputated—a week or more ago, has left the St. Joseph hospital and gone to his home, 1340 Park avenue. He is getting along first rate, the attending surgeon says.

Foreman Joseph Schwartzkopf, of the punch department of the Fort Wayne Electric works, resumed that duty this morning. For a week he was at Latty lake and while there made the phenomenal record of catching twenty-one of twenty-two bass that struck his hook.

The Fort Wayne Drug company's ball team certainly has pluck, if it does not possess great abilities on the diamond. It has challenged the team at the shipping room of the Electric works for another game, to be played at Lawton park Saturday afternoon. Twice the electricians have defeated the druggists.

The board of management of the Peru Y. M. C. A. are about to favorably consider the application of H. H. Davis, of Dennison, Texas, for the position of secretary. The Peru Y. M. C. A. has been without a secretary ever since Mr. Hogue resigned to take charge of an association in the west.

J. B. Brown, of 320 East Williams street, inspector for the Pennsylvania, received word from Chicago yesterday to the effect that his daughter, Mrs. Cecil Gray, had undergone an operation for appendicitis, and although very sick, is getting along as well as could be expected. This was the first information Mr. Brown had of his daughter's illness and it came as a surprising shock.

Railroad lines which enter the city of Cleveland, including the Nickel Plate, Lake Shore and Wheeling and Lake Erie, may abolish their uptown offices or combine them into one large office, say reports today from Cleveland. This move, if taken, will be another step in the retrenchment policy of the roads, the uptown offices being said to result in an expense which has become burdensome, amounting to many thousands of dollars with no way by which this extra outlay may be gotten back.

James Barnes, porter at the Wabash passenger station, and Miss Lola Johnson, whose parents reside out west of Lindenwood cemetery, were quietly married by the pastor of the Colored Baptist church last night at 10 o'clock. The ceremony took place at the parsonage, 551 Holman street, and immediately afterwards the bride and groom went to the home of her parents, where they will reside for awhile. This wedding is the happy result of an advertisement in The Sentinel and is only one of the many incidents illustrating the value of the advertising department of the paper. Mr. Barnes is said to be one of the best porters the Wabash ever had at its passenger station in this city. He is courteous and attentive to the patrons and looks carefully to the sanitary condition of the premises.

DEMOCRAT WINS; 3,587 PLURALITY

Curtis Defeats Haines in Gubernatorial Race in Maine.

Potland, Me., Sept. 15.—The democratic victory in Maine's state election yesterday was measured by the 3,587 plurality by which Mayor Oakley C. Curtis, of Portland, defeated Governor Wm. T. Haines, republican, for re-election, according to unofficial returns from all but 37 of the 521 cities and towns today. All four congressmen, three republicans and one democrat were re-elected.

In a vote heavier than that cast at the last presidential election, both Haines and Curtis ran well ahead of the Taft and Wilson figures, while the progressive vote cast for Halbert P. Gardner, the head of the ticket, showed a pronounced slump from that cast for Roosevelt.

The comparative returns available for 484 cities and towns give:

Haines, republican, 57,062; Taft, republican, 26,121.

Curtis, democrat, 61,249; Wilson, democrat, 50,451.

Gardner, progressive, 17,443; Roosevelt, progressive, 47,948.

The total vote at hand, 136,354, exceeded that from the same places in 1912 by 11,878. The republicans showed an increase of 31,541 against a progressive loss of 30,461. The democratic gain was 10,798.

Incomplete returns on the legislature indicated that on a joint ballot the democrats had 74 votes, a gain of nine; the republicans 57, a loss of 7, and the progressives 2, a loss of 1.

No material change was anticipated from the complete returns.

While perfect weather was a factor yesterday, political observers credit the increase in the vote to the interest aroused by the participation in the campaign of more speakers of national prominence than ever before were sent into Maine in an off year.

Our complete showing of fall dress suits and furnishings is now on display.

FRENCH FAILED TO BREAK GERMAN LINE

Berlin, Via Amsterdam and London, Sept. 15.—The German general staff today gave out the following official announcement:

"In the western theater of war the right wing of our army has been engaged in heavy but indecisive battles. The French, who endeavored to break through our lines, were victoriously defeated.

"At other points where there has been fighting no decisive results haev been reached.

Another day has passed without news of the great battle near Paris, concerning which no reports nor details have been available since a week ago.

The general staff, in response to a query, characterized the general situation as "favorable" but refrained from any comment whatever over the course of events since the first days of the English-French attacks and the withdrawal of the German right wing on Sept. 6.

A report which was in circulation in parliamentary circles last night that the operations had already resulted in a great victory, found no confirmation. On the contrary it appears that the battle can still last some time. A contest of such great extent and from which so much depends will not be decided in a short time.

The Belgian army, which is quite surrounded according to statements here has been attempting, through repeated sorties, from Antwerp, to play at least a part in the war. (The censor here has deleted further reference to the operations around Antwerp.)

Reports came of some battles with scattered French contingents in southern Alsace near Than, Gebweiler and Sulz, but with exception of these there are no news from the west.

The Germans presumably are pushing reinforcements forward and the announcement that their armies with a united front have resumed the offensive, may perhaps be expected in two or three days. Much probably depends on the rapidity with which the army under the crown prince completes the isolation of Verdun, and shakes itself loose from this obstacle in order to be in a position to resume major operatins.

ARMY OF CROWN PRINCE IN PERIL

London, Sept. 15.—(5:10 a. m.)—The correspondent of the Times at Bordeaux, dealing with what he terms the precarious position of the German crown prince who is threated with complete envelopment if he seeks his fortune in the plains of Chalons, says:

"It is possible that if he is strong enough to hold the Argonne forest that the Germans may complete a change of front and swing their armies on the pivot of Argonne round to the Meuse valley, in which case Gen. von Kluck's army will find itself in the position of outside running, such as at the bend of a racing track, and might be unable to get around in time.

"It looks at present as though the whole German army is withdrawing to make a stand on the Peronne-St. Quentin-Vervins-Mezieres line, which would give them a line of retreat through Luxemberg. This is known to have been prepared by the sappers for a determined defense."

MAY CLOSE THEIR CHURCHES.

Methodists in Germany Hampered by Lack of Funds.

New York, Sept. 15.—Methodist congregations in Germany are facing the necessity of closing the doors of their churches and, in a great many instances, selling their property for whatever it will bring, owing to their inability to meet financial obligations.

This information came in a letter received yesterday at the home office of the board of foreign missions of the Methodist Episcopal church from Bishop John L. Nuelson, who is in charge of the church work in Europe.

The members of the German congregations, Bishop Nuelson wrote, are crushed by the heavy burdens imposed upon them by the war, and great suffering is anticipated among the families of some of those who have fallen in battle.

BEVERIDGE OPENS STATE CAMPAIGN

Senatorial Candidate Tears Into Old Parties at Terre Haute.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 15.—With "Permanent Prosperity" as the title of his speech and the slogan of the Indiana progressives in this year's battle, Albert J. Beveridge formally opened the progressive state campaign last night before an audience that filled Young's Garden theater. The former senator was greeted with an ovation.

In his address Mr. Beveridge assailed Roger C. Sullivan of Illinois and attacked the democratic tariff law as "unfair and unjust."

"Day in and day out for months we have been told by standpat politicians nothing except that those who believe in progressive principles, policies and measures have deserted their faith and gone back to one or the other of the two old parties." Mr. Beveridge said. "This is their whole campaign. Not an argument do they make, not a helpful suggestion do they offer in the public interest.

"We speak of the great hopes and sore needs of the people; and the standpat oligarchy answers only with abuse and the silly cry, 'The progressives are going back.'

"We declare that such labor as murders the bodies, minds and souls of American children must be ended, and show how it can be done; and the standpat gang retorts only that 'The progressives are going back.' It is their idea of 'playing politics.'

"They declare the republican party has cleansed itself of those leaders and influences which overthrew that party and that it has, at last, also become progressive."

Assails Cannon and Sullivan.

Mr. Beveridge then "called the roll" of old republican machines and bosses still ruling—in Maine, the Hale-Burleigh machine; in Massachusetts, the Crane-Lodge-Weeks; in Connecticut, Brandegee and Aldrich; in New Hampshire, Gallinger; in New York, the Barnes-Root combine; in Pennsylvania, Penrose. He cited other states and said:

"In Illinois, Cannon, McKinley, Mann and others of the oligarchy which overthrew the republican party are republican nominees for congress; the crafty stand-pat Sherman is the republican candidate for senator, and the vicious Illinois machine is running the republican party in the state of Abraham Lincoln.

"All over the country the old reactionary machines are again making headway in the democratic party.

"Only last Wednesday Roger Sullivan, whom Mr. Bryan denounced as a 'train robber' and who heads the Illinois Tammany just as Taggart heads the Indiana democratic Tammany and Murphy heads the New York democratic Tammany, was nominated as the democratic candidate for the senate, and now is running on the democratic ticket for senator of Illinois.

"Here in Indiana the Taggart-Fairbanks-Bell-Roberts machine is the absolute master of the democratic party."

Mr. Beveridge reiterated the principles of the progressive party, saying, among other things: "We wish to take business out of politics." His party, he believed, could bring "permanent prosperity."

SUBMARINE IS SENT TO DOOM

London, Sept. 15.—5:05 a. m.)—The Scotsman today states that the German submarine which sank the British cruiser Pathfinder has itself been sunk. On Wednesday last, according to the account, a part of the British fleet on the lookout for German submarines became aware of the near presence of one. The British vessels divided when the submarine appeared with only its periscope showing.

With grim patience the British cruiser waited for the reappearance of the submarine, which occurred in a dramatic fashion. By some miscalculation, probably in a final effort to escape the cruisers, the submarine's conning tower and upper structure suddenly appeared in the midst of the English vessels. The conning tower had hardly broken the surface of the water when the first British gun marked it. The doomed vessel was within range of seven British cruisers and from every one of them guns crashed out. In ten seconds seven shots entered the frail shell of the submarine.

Andrew Carnegie to Supply Funds For Symbolic Spectacle.

New York, Sept. 15.—Andrew Carnegie in an effort to spread the idea of world wide peace, is to furnish the money to produce a symbolic spectacle to be called "The Prince of Peace" according to an announcement made last night by a well known theatrical producer of this city.

This producer said he had completed the first plans for the production at Mr. Carnegie's direction and that the drama would be staged at an early date in New York. Mr. Carnegie is now on his way to America, it was said, and when he arrives the final plans for the production will be announced.

WOUNDED PRINCE IS ANXIOUS TO FIGHT

Berlin, Sept. 14.—Via London, Sept. 15.—7:05 a. m.—The wound of Prince Joachim, the youngest son of Emperor William, is healing rapidly, despite the effect of shrapnel ball through the thigh. The empress and the surgeons are having considerable trouble in keeping the patient quiet in bed. He wants to get on his feet again and insists that he ought to be able to rejoin his command at the front in about a fortnight.

The prince treats the wound as a trifle. He smilingly greeted an old palace servant whom he had known since childhood with the remark, "Am I a lucky dog?"

From an officer who was with Prince Joachim when he was wounded the following rescription of the incident has been obtained:

"It was during the hottest part of the battle shortly before the Russian resistance was broken, that the prince, who was with the staff as information officer, was dispatched to the firing line to learn how the situation stood.

"He rode off with Adjutant Captain von Tahlzahn and had to travers the distance, almost a mile, under a heavy hail of shell and occasional volleys.

"As the Russian artillery was well served, and knew all the ranges from previous measurements, the ride was not a particularly pleasant one, but he came through safely and stood talking with the officers when a shrapnel burst in their vicinity. The prince and the adjutant were both hit, the latter receiving contusions of the leg, but the shot not penetrating.

"To stop and whip out an emergency bandage which the prince, like every officer and private carries sewed inside the blouse and bind it around the thigh to check the bleeding, was the work of but a moment. It was a long and dangerous task, however, to get him back to the first bandaging station, about a mile to the rear, under fire, and from there he was transported to the advanced hospital at Allenstein, where he remained until he was able to travel.

"Prince Joacham, who was already recommended for the iron cross for bravery before Namur, received the decoration shortly before he was wounded. The prince, who has many friends in America, conveyed through his adjutant his thanks for assurances of American sympathy and interest."

The Cologne Volkszeitung says that according to reports from officers, Col von Reuter, of Zabern fame, fell in France while leading the twelfth grenadier regiment. His father fell in 1870, as commander of the same regiment.

DYING WISH IS FULFILLED.

Bill Desired by Mrs. Wilson to Abolish Slums to Become Law.

Washington, Sept. 15.—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson's dying wish that congress abolish the alley slums in the national capital was fulfilled yesterday when the house passed the separate bill which prohibits the use of dwelling houses in Washington alleys after four years from the date of legislation. The bill now goes to the president for his signature.

A few hours before Mrs. Wilson died she told the president that she could "go away" happier if she knew the alley slums would be wiped out. Word was sent to the capital and the house district committee promptly reported a bill carrying a large appropriation to clear the slums. The house did not pass the measure as reported because of constitutional objections. The senate, however, passed another bill carrying out an old act providing for abolition of the slums, but cutting the time limit from eight to four years. The house accepted this as a substitute, acceptable to the white house and it will become law.

"WE CAME PLUMP ON THEM ROUND A CORNER OF A LITTLE VILLAGE."

ENGLISH AND GERMAN CAVALRY DUEL WITH SWORDS IN FRANCE—From a drawing by Philip Daud, who made this picture for the story told a correspondent by a British huzzar: "We ran plump on a party of the German 4th cuirassiers round a corner of a little village. Absolute surprise for both of us. Before you could wink we were flying at one another as hard as the horses could go, and the villagers were yelling and scrambling into the houses on either side of the road. There was no firing, it was absolutely a proper cavalry charge, like you see in the pictures—horses going hell-for-leather and every man sitting hunched up under the No. 1 guard and hoping he wouldn't get his knees crushed by the fellows on each side of him. Lighter though they were, the Hussars went at a pace that more than compensated for their inferior weight. The Cuirassiers in full stride and on fresh horses might have ridden over us, but slower at the take-off and, as was subsequently proved, mounted on horses already ridden to death, they were taken at a tremendous disadvantage. Twenty-seven of theme were killed and twelve were taken prisoners."

SURRENDER OF GEN. VON KLUCK REPORTED

London, Sept. 15.—2:00 p. m.—The correspondent of the Central News at Dieppe, under date of Monday, Sept. 14, submits a report that the German army under Gen. von Kluck has been forced to surrender.

The correspondent says:

"A report has reached Dieppe that the extreme left of the allies, after making an encircling movement by way of Roye and Ham and joining a force from the Boulogne district, has compelled Gen von Kluck to surrender with, according to one statement, 15,000 men and according to another statement, with 25,000 men and a quantity of guns and war materials.

General von Kluck has been operating on the German right wing, and has consequently been opposed to the left wing of the allies. His army has been retiring before the allies for several days.

Roye and Ham are to the southeast of Amiens, and were occupied by the Germans two days ago. Recent reports show that these towns are now in the possession of the allies.

GERMAN PRISONERS AT FRENCH RAILWAY STATION

In this picture the war artist of the London Sphere and this paper shows German prisoners of war at a French railway station. The German private soldier accepts his situation as a prisoner with calmness and equanimity, but the officer does not seem able to realize the situation and seems incapable of adjusting his mind to his environment.

Mary Large Has Place Among Worth While Folk

J. W. Church Discusses in Interesting Fashion the Life and Work of Woman Born and Reared in Fort Wayne.

MARY S. LARGE.

(Miss Mary Large is the daughter of Rev. Joseph S. Large, many years ago rector of Trinity Episcopal church in this city, and was born in Fort Wayne. Her sister, Josephine Large, was one of the charter members of the Morning Musical society, and with Miss Minnie Anderson, founded a music school here. Mary Large was for some years bookkeeper for a big Chicago business concern and then went south to get material for a book she purposed writing. The sketch wich follows was written by J. W. Church, and appeared in the magazine section of a Louisville newspaper.)

I met her first in a rambling dilapidated livery stable that caters to the limited demand for common carriers in a mountain valley of North Carolina.

A group of half-grown negro boys, the inevitable corollary of every southern stable, were idling about the place. Most of them were sprawled in the rock-strewn doorway, half asleep. Suddenly one of these sprang to his feet and made for the rear of the stable.

"What yo' gwine in sich a powaful hurry?" demanded one of the loungers. "Ain't seed no ghost, is yo'?"

"Ah done seed somethin' Ah doan like no better," the disappearing negro threw over his shoulder. "Dar come dat Mis' Large!"

In less than ten seconds the only visible member of that stable crew was the chuckling negro who was hitching up my rig.

A moment later Miss Large entered—a capable rather stern-faced woman, with a twinkle playing about her eyes, which instantly convinced me she had seen or sensed the wholesale getaway that preceded her.

"Good morning, Jackson," she said to the grinning hostler. "Find Sam for me, please. You can tell him it's an easy trip this time. I'm only going to Jugtown and back."

Then I understood, partly; for I knew Jugtown, and the thirty miles of almost inconceivably bad roads to be traversed before the return.

Needless to say, Sam was speedily captured, and drove sheepishly away with the imperturbable Miss Large, a target for the jests of the boys who had escaped conscription.

Anyone in Tyrone—and there are about a thousand people—will tell you that Miss Mary Large always gets to the place she starts for; likewise eventually gets what she went after; and the last attribute has classed her as almost a miracle worker in these mountains.

There have been innumerable novels, stories, brochures, tracts and scientific monographs written about the southern mountaineer, and his varied and inconsistent characteristics painted with all the word pigment at the particular author's command. Most of these have glimpsed—and barely glimpsed at that—the truth. It takes a lifetime for the ordinary observer to understand the physical life and mental processes of the mountain man and his woman; to break through the peculiar mental stockade into which they unconsciously withdraw when the stranger would trespass upon their inner life. All of which is necessary to a proper understanding of Mary Large and the wonderful work she is doing for the mountain people of the south.

Living for a time in Hull House, Chicago, probably stimulated her sympathetic insight and seasoned her judgment. A trip into the Cumberland range on a summer vacation, where she came into personal contact with mountain life in the raw, furnished the inspiration to make those poverty-stricken, cheerless, ambitionless lives a little more livable and with rare judgment she prepared herself for the life task.

Of course, she must have had a genuine, fundamental fact on which to build—and she had. It was the knowlelge gained that summer, that in almost every instance the ancestors of these people were skilled workers in many crafts. You can still see fragments of good craftsmanship in almost every mountain cabin, and in many you can trace its decline through each generation down to the crude, almost useless weaving, pottery, basket work and furniture-making of the present.

To stimulate the ambition of these mountain folk, to revive their half or wholly forgotten industries, and by this means convert their many idle days into interesting, profitable work and reclaim their neglected heritage of honest craftsmanship—this was the rather appalling task Mary Large decided to undertake.

Tht she must be able to weave a rug, cane a chair, make a basket or mold a vase better than any mountaineer or his woman, Miss Large knew to be absolutely essential to her success. So for more than two years she toiled over looms in Germany, Sweden, Denmark and Hungary until the art and mechanics of weaving were mastered. In the other branches she intended to revise her study was equally thorough and earnest. And well it might be. Not only are the mountain folk quick tempered, suspicious of strangers, and resentful of interference, but they are as a rule well satisfied with what they do, and if you yourself can not take their own tools and force them to admit you are a better craftsman, your time is wasted.

Equipped with this knowledge, a shrewd insight into the nature with which she had to deal, and a grim determination to win, Mary Large went back into the fastnesses of the Cumberland range. Over almost impassable trails, into cabins all but lost in the mountains, she found her way. Many a broken or discarded loom she dragged dust-laden from its hiding place, mended, and went to work.

She taught the women to weave, and weave right—not as the skilled Hungarians wove, for Miss Large has an excellent sense of fitness and proportion, and has firmly held her pupils to the best type of work done in these homes in the past.

After she had the loom at work, the chair caned, or whatever the work might be, she offered to buy at a fair price every product that approached the standard she set. With rare diplomacy arguments and quick tempered or sullen defense of poor work were twisted into instruction. It required considerable subtlety to evolve her system of avoiding offense.

Where the work was poorly done, but showed signs of improvement, Miss Large would buy it.

"Now this belongs to me," she would firmly tell the woman who made it, "and I have a right to say what I want to about it. That's fair, isn't it?"

It sounded reasonable, and it was. But if the woman had known the ripping, scorching lecture she had let herself in for, together with the piecemeal destruction of her work to illustrate the subject, the assent would never have been obtained. Once given, however, their peculiar pride does not permit any backsliding. The work belonged to Miss Large, and she could do what she pleased with it. And Miss Large hasn't ever hesitated to do it, either.

Of course there have been instances, many of them, where she had had everything short of blows to contend with; but almost invariably the family will come back into her fold. They think it over for a few days—and conclude the lady was right.

Nearly three years ago Miss Large transferred her labors from Kentucky to the even wilder mountain ranges in Western North Carolina.

When she came to Tyron and announced her purpose there were only two opinions amongst the residents. The majority believed she was wasting her time, that she would never gain the confidence and assistance of the mountain folk; the majority outspokenly averred she wouldn't do anybody any good if she did.

In less than a year the unflagging courage and persistence of Mary Large had set both opinions at naught. By day and night she traveled every road and trail that led into and over the mountains for a score of miles in every direction from Tyron. After a few months the "exhibition room" of her little red cottage in Tyron began to show the results of her work. It was a crude collection, these first efforts; but with surprising rapidity the standard was advanced, and a steady stream of mountain men and women came diffidently to her door with their product, much of it brought many miles over the worst of roads and trails.

Everything that meets with her approval she buys, or finds a ready market for through channels she has established. Last winter she held an exhibition of mountain work in Chicago, taking with her two women, neither of whom had ever been on a railroad train before.

On their return two weeks later the women were asked how they enjoyed the trip, and what they thought of Chicago. Words failed one, and she remained silent. The other, a woman well past sixty, had formed a clear and definite idea of the Windy City.

"Hit was jes' like I figgered heaven mought be!" was her reply.

Mary Large can not give all of the seventy mountain families whom she has at work a glimpse of heaven, or Chicago; but the natural result of stimulated ambition, friendly competition and more money for the real necessities of decent life is already clearly apparent in the homes within the ever-widening zone of her influence.

It's the hardest sort of life, this that Mary Large voluntarily chose, and devoid of the thing we call worldly profit; but in possessing that which is worth while to give, and in giving it freely and wisely, unhampered by creed or cult, I consider this remarkable mountain missionary about the wealthiest woman I have ever known.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at first sign of Bladder irritation or Backache.

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.—Adv.

CHAPTER IV.

We could not tear ourselves out of this embrace—as though it were our last. Then on a sudden I felt how his lips were trembling, how convulsively his bosom heaved, and then, releasing me, he covered his face and sobbed aloud.

That was too much for me. I thought I was going out of my mind.

"Arno, Arno," I cried out, throwing my arms around his, "stay, stay!"

I knew I was asking what was impossible. still I cried out persistently, "Stay, stay!"

"Lieutenant," we heard from outside, "it is now quite time."

One more kiss—the last of all—and he rushed out.

* * *

The list of killed had already brought the names of several officers whom I had known personally. Among others, that of the son—her only one—of an old lady for whom I had conceived a great feeling of respect.

That day I determined to visit the poor lady. It was, for me, a painful, heavy journey. I could certainly give her no consolation—could only weep with her. But it was the duty of affection, and so I set out.

When I got to Frau Ullmann's dwelling, I long hesitated before pulling the bell. The last time I had been there was to a cheerful little dance. The dear old mistress of the house was herself then full of joy. "Martha," she said to me in the course of the evening, "we are the two most enviable women in Vienna. You have the handsomest of husbands, and I the most excellent of sons."

And today? I still, indeed, had my husband. But who knows? The shells and grape-shot were flying there still without ceasing. The minute just past might have made me a widow; and I began to weep before the door.

That was the proper temper for so mournful a visit. I rang. No one came. I rang a second time. Again no answer. Then some one put his head out of the door of one of the other floors.

"It is no good ringing, miss. The dwelling is empty."

"What! Has Frau v. Ullmann gone?"

"She was taken to a lunatic asylum three days since." And the head disappeared again as the door shut.

I remained for a minute or two motionless, rooted to the spot, and the scenes which much have been going on here passed before my eyes. To what a height must the poor lady's sufferings have risen before her agony broke out in madness!

"And there is my father wishing that the war might last thirty years for the welfare of the country! How many more such mothers in the country would have been driven to desperation!"

I went down the stairs shaken to my inmost depth. I determined that I would pay another visit to a young lady, a friend of mine, whose husband, like mine, was at the theater of war.

My way led me through the Herrengasse, past the building called the Landhaus, where the Patriotic Aid association had established its offices.

At that time there was not as yet any convention of Geneva, any Red Cross, and this aid association had been formed as a forerunner of these humane institutions, its task being to receive alms of all kinds, in money, linen, charpie, bandages, etc., for the poor wounded, and forward them to the seat of war.

The gifts came flowing in abundantly from all sides; it was necessary to have whole shops to receive them, and scarcely were the different articles packed up and sent off when new ones were piled up again in their place.

I went in. I was in distress till I could hand over to the committee all that I had in my purse. Perhaps that might bring health and deliverance to some suffering soldier, and save his mother from madness.

I knew the president. "Is Prince C— here?" I asked the porter.

"Not just now. But the vice president, Baron S—, is upstairs."

He showed me the way to the room where the alms in money were paid. I had to pass through several halls, where on long tables were the packets lying in rows. Parcels of linen, cigars, tobacco and especially mountains of charpie. It made me shudder.

How many wounds must be bleeding there, to be covered with all this torn linen? "And there was my father," I thought again, "wishing that for the country's good the war might last another thirty years! How many of the country's sons must in that case sink under their wounds!"

Baron S— received my contribution with thanks and gave me the most ready information about the working of the association in reply to my numerous questions.

* * *

My friend was at home.

Countess Lori Griesbach was in more than one respect the sharer of my lot. A general's daughter, like me—married for only a short time to an officer, like me—and, like me, a "grass widow." In one thing she went beyond me—she had not only a husband, but two brothers also at the war. But Lori was not of an apprehensive nature; she was fully persuaded that her dear ones were under the peculiar protection of a saint whom she highly venerated, and she counted confidently on their return.

"She received me wth open arms.

"Ah! God bless you, Martha; it is indeed good of you to come and see me. But how pale and worn you are looking; you have not had any bad news from the seat of war?"

"No, thank God! But the whole thing is so sad."

"Ah, yes! You mean the defeat. But you must not think too much of that; the next news may announce a victory."

"Whether we conquer or are conquered, war is in itself dreadful altogether. Would it not be better if there could be nothing of the kind?"

"Then what would be the good of soldiers?"

"What, indeed!" I assented; "then there would be none——"

"What nonsense you are talking. That would be a nice state of things; nothing but civilians! It makes me shudder. Happily that is impossible."

"Impossible? Yes, you must be right. I will believe so, or else I could not conceive that it would not long since have happened."

"What happened?"

"The abolition of war. But, no, I might as well talk of the abolition of earthquakes."

"I don't know what you mean. As far as I am concerned I am glad this war has broken out, because I hope that my Louis will distinguish himself. And for my brothers, too, it is a good thing. Promotion has been going on so slowly; now they have at least a chance."

"Have you had any news lately?" I interrupted? Are your relatives all well?"

"No, not for a pretty long time now. But, you know, the postal service is often interrupted, and when people are tired out with a hot march or a battle, they have not much taste for writing. I am quite easy. Both Louis and my brothers wear blessed amulets. Mamma hung them on herself."

"What would you expect to happen, Lori, in a war in which every man in both armies wore an amulet? If the bullets were flying on both sides, would they retire back into the clouds and do no harm?"

"How excited you get, my love. But let us speak reasonably; so listen to me. In a short time the war will be over and our husbands will come back captains. I will then try to get mine to obtain four or six weeks' leave and take a trip with me to a watering place.

"It will do him good after all the fatigues he will have undergone; and me also, after the heat, and the ennui, and the anxiety I have undergone. For you must not think that I have no fear at all. It may be God's will after all that one of my dear ones should meet with a soldier's death—and even though it is a noble, enviable death, one the field of honor, for emperor and fatherland——"

"Why, you are speaking just like one of the proclamations to the army!"

Here I was interrupted. A footman brought in a letter.

"From Gustave," cried Lori, joyfully, as she broke the seal.

When she had read two lines she gave a shriek, the paper fell out of her hand and she threw herself on my neck.

"Lori, my poor dear, what is it?" I cried, deeply moved; "your husband?"

"O God, O God!" she groaned. "Read for yourself."

I took the letter from the floor and began to read. I can reproduce the phraseology exactly, because afterward I begged the letter from Lori to copy it into my diary.

"Read out loud," she said; "I was not able to read it through."

I did as she wished.

"Dear Sister: Yesterday we had a hot combat. There must be a long list of casualties. In order that you, and in order that our poor mother may not hear in that way of misfortune, that you may be able to prepare her for it gradually (tell her he is severely wounded), I write at once, my dear, to tell you that our brave brother Karl is of the number of the warriors who have died for their country."

I interrupted my reading to embrace my friend.

"I had got so far," she said gently.

With tearful voice, I read on.

"Your husband is untouched, and so am I. Would that the enemy's bullet had hit me instead! I envy Karl his hero's death. He fell at the beginning of the battle, and did not know that this one again was lost. It is really too bitter. I saw him fall, for we were riding near each other. I jumped down at once to pick him up. Only one look and he was dead. The bullet must have passed through his lungs or heart. It was a quick, painless death. How many others had to suffer for hours, and to lie helpless on the field in the heat of the battle, till death released them! It was a murderous day—more than a thousand corpses, friend and enemy, covered the battlefield. I recognized among the dead faces of so many dear friends; and, amongst others, there is poor"—here I had to turn the page—"Arno Dotzky."

I fell unconscious on the floor.

Rheumatism

A Home Cure Given by One Who Had It

In the spring of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally, I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bedridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case.

I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of curing your Rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but, understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.

BRITISH GENERALS PRAISED FOR HEROIC FIGHTING.

All England was electrified by the report of Sir John French, commander of the British expeditionary army, in which, after detailing the thrilling retreat of his forces, always outnumbered four to one, from the battle field of Mons on August 24, to the lines Noyon-Chauny-La Fere on August 28, fighting every inch of the way, he tells how, when the divisions commanded by General Sir Horace Smith-Dorrien and Sir Douglas Haig were faced by serious loss on August 26, he asked General Sordet, commanding the French cavalry corps, to go to his assistance. General Sordet promised to ask the sanction of General Joffre, but said his horses were too tired to move before the next day. General Sordet, however, General French says, later rendered valuable assistance. The text of the report of Field Marshal French is addressed to Lord Kitchener, the Secretary for War, and its publication indicates that the government is responding to the public demand for fuller information on the progress of operations, so far as the British forces are concerned, in France.

HOW GERMAN TROOPS ARE MOVED—RECEIVING RATIONS AT RAILWAY STATION.

This illustration was drawn by Philip Dodd, special artist for the London Sphere and this paper. The troop trains which the artist witnessed did not appear to have any specially adapted features about them. The soldiers were being transported in short luggage vans from which boards had been broken away in order to allow of ventilation and an outlook. The lads, who looked very young, streamed out of the wagons and down the platform to the temporary military kitchen, returning presently with their rations, an allowance of stew served in little black saucepans. Travellers showered chocolates and tobacco upon them. One lady obtained a box of cigars, which she proceeded to distribute among the soldiers.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

KOKOMO MEN IN BAD.

Kokomo, Ind., Sept. 15.—Dr. W. A. Hatfield a prominent physician, and Charles Athan, a cafe proprietor, both of this city, are under arrest charged with criminally assaulting Alta Bola, a 12-year-old Roumanian girl. Both are in jail, unable to furnish the high bond fixed by the court. The girl gained notoriety some time ago when she made similar charges against three young men of this city. One of the trio was arrested and will be tried at the coming term of court, which begins Monday. The girl formerly lived in this city, but moved to Laporte about a year ago. A few months ago she ran away from her home there and returned to Kokomo. The alleged assaults took place after her return. Both the men arrested are prominent in social and business life here. Neither was ever in trouble before.

NO WATER AT 400 FEET.

Kendallville, Ind., Sept. 15.—A hole four hundred feet in the ground and no well; besides, little prospects of a well. This tells the story of the test well, which was driven at the municipal plant by Wellman Harper, in charge of the work here, for Wellman Bell, of Chicago. It has been an all summer job for the city to find out the topography of the ground in that locality, and has cost the snug little sum of about $1,800. Wellman Harper reached the 400-foot mark Friday and accompanied by Wellman Bell departed for Chicago Monday. "We are now waiting for further action on the part of the council," said the well men. "Our contract being to go 400 feet, providing we didn't find water at a less depth."

GOT OUT THE FIRE FIGHTERS.

Auburn, Ind., Sept. 15.—Arthur Guilford, aged 16, residing with Mr. and Mrs. Ross McKinley in this city, both walks and talks in his sleep. He did both the other night about 1 o'clock and over the telephone aroused Lester Cogswell, custodian of the fire station, with a thrilling plea that the department hurry to the McKinley home which was then a mass of flames. The fire boys were called out and with the apparatus made a fast run. At the McKinley home everything was quiet, flameless and smokeless. Young Guilford was fast asleep in bed, to which he had returned after turning in a 4-11 to the department. It was hard to convince the lad he had created all the excitement.

Vapor Treatments for Cold Troubles

Are now used in all hospitals. The vapors carry the medication to the lungs and air passages without disturbing the stomach. When Vick's "Vap-O-Rub" Croup and Pneumonia Salve is applied over the throat and chest, these vapors—of Menthol, Thymol, Eucalyptol, Camphor, and Pine Tar—are released by the heat of the body. Usually the worst colds go in one night—croup in fifteen minutes. Vick's is fine for head colds, asthma, and catarrh, and is absolutely harmless. Three sizes—from 25c up.

THE MARKETS

FALLS BELOW DOLLAR MARK.

Grain Dealers are Paying 95 Cents a Bushel for Wheat.

For the past few days wheat prices have been falling 3 to 4 cents at a time and Tuesday morning the price fell below the dollar mark and dealers are only offering 95 cents a bushel for same. The cause as explained by local men is due to the fact that when the price reached the $1.20 mark the markets were overstocked and since the exports to foreign countries is very small speculators have refused to buy any more.

Cranberries, the first of the season, shipped in from Cape Cod, Mass., arrived on the city market Tuesday morning, and are selling at the handsome price of 12 to 15 cents a quart. Home grown apples are in great plenty on the markets. A large consignment of imported peaches were placed on sale by commission men who state that this supply will be the last one.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

.....tricted 200 roads. Effect colder nu nu n

Chicago, Sept. 15—Belief that selling had been greatly overdone and that the end of the war most likely was yet a long way off, led to a decided rally today in the price of wheat. Liverpool quotations did not reflect American optimism regarding the outlook for peace. After opening ⅛c to 2c higher, the market reacted a little, and then rose as much as 3½c net, May touching $1.15 as against $1.11⅝@⅝ last night.

The close was strong, 2⅜c to 2¾c above last night.

Corn ascended with wheat and as a result of a bullish estimate of the crop. The opening, which ranged from a shade lower to ½c advance, was followed by an all around gain of more than a cent.

The close was firm at 1⅛c to 1⅜c net advance.

Active export demand lifted oats. At one time the December option showed a jump of 2c.

Grain strength carried provisions higher. Offerings were light.

NORA MARCHES IN AND SURRENDERS

Keever Woman Who Flew at Raid Appears and Says She is Guilty.

When Lieutenant Ed Bewelheimer and Officers George Eisenhut and Pattee raided the residence of Mrs. Nora Keever, 1620 Wells street, late Monday afternoon and captured three men and three women who were paired and occupying bedrooms, Nora fled out the back door attired principally in a kimono. The three couples were captured and taken to headquarters, where each of the six put up forfeit bail. Tuesday morning Nora, accompanied by an attorney, marched into headquarters and surrendered. She pleaded guilty to keeping a house of ill-fame and was fined $25 and costs and given a suspended jail sentence of twenty-five days, along with a warning to close her assignation house or suffer a more rigorous penalty next time. Eva Seal, Ruth McClellan and Bessie Jones were the names given by three women, each of whom was fined $15 and costs, and William Arnold, J. B. Johnson and C. G. Brown were the names given by their male companions, each of whom was similarly fined. All defaulted appearance and forfeited their cash bail. Brown is said to be a farmer residing near Muncie. He brought the Jones woman with him. Mrs. Keever had been repeatedly warned by the police to close her doors to the business she was conducting. Monday neighbors notified the police of a congregation in the place and the raid followed.

Tiger Keepers Fined.

Emmet Barber, a Turk, who conducts a barber shop on Holman street, near Lafayette, was fined $50 and costs for running a blind tiger. He was convicted on the testimony of John McManus and Joe Riley, who were arrested in the place Sunday by Motorcycle Officer Dan Klintz after reports had reached headquarters that the pair had been creating disorder on the streets. They had beer bottles in their hands when arrested. McManus testified that he purchased the beer of Barber, and Riley corroborated the statement. Barber denied that he had sold beer.

Ivo Edwards, a young colored man who has been arrested so often he could not tell the court how many times, was fined $50 and costs also on a blind tiger charge. Three Sunday souses—Bill Bolin, Tom Hennessey and George Lee—furnished the testimony that they had purchased whisky by the drink at a place on Melita street, and unanimously identified Edwards as the negro who had served them. Edwards furnished his own alibi, but it was worthless. Mark Walters, who resides in the same house, was arraigned with Edwards but it was not evident that he was guilty and he was discharged.

Young Bike Thieves Held.

Floyd Saylor, aged 15, of Oak street; Martin Schramm, aged 18, of 1224 Barthold street, and Thomas Bruner, aged 24, of 1120 Oak street, were arraigned on charges of petty larceny. They have confessed to the stealing of a number of bicycles. They were arrested by Detective Sergeants M. A. Rundell and Joseph Brennan Monday afternoon after a second-hand dealer had notified headquarters that Bruner and Schramm had tried to sell him a wheel. Saylor was certified to the juvenile court and the other two were continued under $200 bond each until Thursday. Saylor stated to the police that he and his companions had stolen some fifteen wheels during the present summer. Most of them they had sold.

Speeders Get Regular Fines.

James Porter and Willard Enslen were fined $5 and costs each for violation of the automobile speed laws and settled. Enslen is a youth of 18 and had his father's car out on Lake avenue, where it was said he had been driving at thirty miles an hour.

Paroled Man Gets a Chance.

William Barnes, a colored man, who is porter in the Sam J. Errington barber shop on Calhoun street, near the railroads, was given a chance because he is a paroled convict. William Eisenhart, an aged business man, and farmer of Berne, Ind., stated that Barnes had tried to steal his watch after the two had taken a drink together and he had been piloted by Barnes to a place back of the Pennsylvania freight house. Barnes denied the story. the court bawled out the Berne business man and let the negro go.

Other City Court Cases.

SIC KBRIDE KILLS HERSELF.

Discouraged Over Ill Health, She Cuts Her Throat.

Boston, Sept. 15. — Discouraged because of failure to recover from serious stomach trouble is thought by the police to have been the motive which led Mrs. Rachel Frank Emerson, the 23-year-old bride of A. DEATH'S HEAD HUSSARS ARE WAR LORD'S MOST PICTURESQUE FIGHTING MEN.

THE CROWN PRINCE OF GERMANY WEARING HIS "DEATH HEAD HUSSAR" UNIFORM.

Frighten the enemy to death! It's easier than shooting him, and less dangerous to the attacking force.

Hence, since the time of the ancient Greeks, and the days of the American Indian, with his ugly war whoop and war paint, ugly masks and helmets have been worn as part of the scheme of striking terror into the foe.

And even in these days of modern fighting there are few relics of the ancient custom of the barbarians.

Germany's "Death Head Hussars" are part of the [illegible] said to be even now in the Liege town hall.

Fate Hinges on Crown Prince's Frisco Rail Wreck Costs Many

NEAR HALF HUNDRED PERISH IN DISASTER

St. Louis, Sept. 15.—St. Louis & San Francisco train No. 5, westbound, known as the "Texas Limited," plunged into a cloudburst near Lebanon, Mo., 182 miles southwest of here, early today and before the engineer could stop the train, the track gave way and the engine and four cars rolled into a flooded gulley.

Thirty-five to forty-five persons in two passenger coaches were drowned and probably a score injured. The four sleeping cars remained on the track and the passengers in those coaches rushed forward to rescue those imprisoned in the cars submerged in twelve feet of water. By noon twenty-six bodies had been recovered.

The engineer, describing his experiences, said the train was running slowly when the cloudburst occurred. A wall of water swept across the track and appeared to be rushing toward the train. The engineer closed the throttle, but just then the embankment beneath gave way.

The Identified Dead.

The following list of identified dead was given out at the offices of the Frisco line here today:

VERNON AND ELSIE CALVIN, Rumler, Ark.

DAISY PERRY, ——.

HENRY WAGONER, Harrison, Ark.

MRS. ELIZABETH ROSTETER, Alliance, Ohio.

W. H. CHILDRESS, Billings, Mo.

Nurse Rescues Five.

One of the passengers in the submerged chair car was Miss Mona Campbell, a nurse of St. Louis. She broke a window and climbed out to the side of the car. She felt about in the water until she touched the hands of other drowning passengers. She grasped a hand, she pulled with all her strength. In this way she rescued five passengers.

At the Frisco general office this noon it was said that the cause of the wreck was not clear but that this would be determined as soon as the waters now receding have gone back far enough to permit an investigation.

Reports received at headquarters however, indicate that the train did not go through a trestle as newspaper reports from Springfield indicated, but that the track which had been washed by the water gave way. This report in the main harmonizes with telephone messages from Lebanon stating that the train crossed the trestle safely and then left the tracks falling over into a flooded gully.

THE STORY FROM SPRINGFIELD.

Springfield, Mo., Sept. 15.—Between thirty-five and forty-five persons were killed or drowned and a score of others injured early today when the locomotive, baggage car and forward chair car of St. Louis and San Francisco train No. 5 plungedthrough a trestle over Brush creek, near Lebanon, Mo., and were submerged by the swollen stream.

Most of the dead were drown in the chair car and a great proportion of these were women and children. Those who were unable to escape fro mtheir watery were unable to escape from their watering windows and swimming to shore. It is estimated there were sixty-five passengers in the chair car.

Owing to poor communication with the place of wreck it is impossible to give a definite estimate of how many escaped. None of the sleeping cars left the tracks and the passengers in them quickly formed rescue parties.

Loses Wife and Five Children.

One man in the chair car lost his wife and five children. When the accident occurred he was thrown clear of the car and swam to shore. His wife and children died while he stood helplessly near by.

Rains last week caused all small streams in the vicinity to raise and the train was late because of the flood. As it passed Lebanon, says a dispatch, its speed was increased.

Railroad officials announced that the injured would be brought to Springfield this afternoon. The dead were placed in morgues at Lebanon.

GAS PUMP BLOWS UP DURING NIGHT

Bluffton and Decatur Supply Obtained from New Container.

During the absence of the watchman at 2:27 o'clock Tuesday morning one of the gas pumps at the Indiana Lighting company's plant, corner of Barr and Superior streets, blew up and in the explosion a small fire followed causing a damage of $100. The pump, it is said, was used in sending artificial gas from Fort Wayne to patrons at Bluffton and Decatur and as a result of the accident the supply to these towns was shut off for some time.

Later in the morning, the two towns were supplied with gas through mains from the new container, just completed at the junction of the Wabash railroad and the St. Mary's river. It is said that repairs will be completed within a short time.

London, Sept. 15.—(6:59 a. m.)—A reasonable estimate, says a Times Petrograd dispatch, places the Austrian losses in Galicia at 300,000 in killed, wounded and prisoners, or nearly one-third of their forces. They have also lost, the dispatch says, 1,000 guns, more than two-thirds of their available artillery.

150,000 SERVIAN ARMY IN HUNGARY

London, Sept. 15.—(3:45 p. m.)—According to a statement issued here today by the Servian legation, there are now in Hungary at least 150,000 Servian troops successfully pushing an offensive movement against the forces of the dual monarchy.

The Austrians are entrenching at all strategic points on all the roads leading to Budapest. A large Servian army is marching toward Preshkagera, a position of great importance, the purpose being to render secure the Servian left flank.

PLEAD GUILTY TO REBATING

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 15.—The Pennsylvania Railroad company and Harvey C. Miller and John F. McLaughlin, of the grain firm of L. F. Miller & Sons, pleaded guilty in the United States court today to four counts of an indictment charging them with unlawful rebating. The court imposed a fine of $1,000 on each of the defendants for each count, aggregating $12,000. One of the charges against the defendants was that the grain men made false reports of the weight of grain shipped over the railroad and that the railroad in accepting these reports was in effect granting rebates.

The charges involved the legal construction to be placed upon the printed tariffs of the interstate commerce commission. The government agreed to drop the other counts in the indictment and also six other indictments. A jury in the case disagreed last summer after a six weeks' trial.

Underwood Will Defer to Caucus Action on Freight Tax.

Washington, Sept. 15.—President Wilson returned to the capital this morning at 11 o'clock and drove immediately to the white house, where he had a conference with congress leaders over the war revenue bill.

Senate republicans at a conference today determined to fight any war revenue measure in any form.

Chairman Underwood, of the ways and means committee, yielded today to protests of democrats against the tax on freight and agreed to let the caucus tonight decide. The president, Mr. Underwood said, was not committed to a freight tax. Some democrats, like the republicans, are opposed to any war tax.

The conference of the republican senators appointed Senators Smoot, McCumber, Smith, of Michigan; Weeks and Sterling to take charge of the opposition and notify absentees to return at once, unless occupied with political campaigns.

TORPEDO SINKS GERMAN CRUISER

Berlin Via Copenhagen, Sept. 15.—(6:55 a. m.)—It is officially announced that on the morning of Sept. 13 the small cruiser Hela was sunk by a torpedo from a hostile submarine. Almost the whole of the crew was saved.

The German cruiser Hela was a small protected cruiser of 2,040 tons. She was 328 feet long and carried a crew of 178 men. Her armament was not heavy, consisting chiefly of light guns. The Hela was laid down in 1893 and finished in 1894. It is notable that the Hela was sunk by a submarine just as the British cruiser Pathfinder was sent to the bottom by a German submarine and it is probable that this is a reprisal on the part of the British for the loss of the Pathfinder. It is not announced where the Hela was sank.

BULLETIN.

London, Sept. 15.—On account of the scarcity of wheat in Holland the association of Dutch bakers has sanctioned the sale of a so-called "tulip bread," in which one-third of the flour used is made from ground tulip bulbs. The bread is said to be very nourishing and the war ministery has recommended its use in the army.

Today's War News Given in Summary.

Germany's armies to the north and east of Paris, after retreating for upwards of fifty miles toward the Belgian frontier, are today making a determined stand along the river Aisne.

A news agency dispatch from Dieppe says that Gen. von Kluck has been enveloped by a French encircling movement and forced to surrender with a large command and a quantity of guns and ammunition. The German general staff, however, announced today that heavy engagements were being fought by Gen. von Kluck's right wing to the northeast of Paris without a decisive result so far. The French attempts to break through the German lines were said have been repulsed.

Reports regarding the operations in East Prussia contradict each other. From Petrograd it is said that Gen. Rennenkampff has resumed the offensive and that the investment of Koenigsberg still is in progress. Berlin advices, however, are to the effect that the Russian general has suffered defeat nearly as severe as that of the Russian disaster at Allenstein.

Further Petrograd dispatches estimate the casualties of the Austrians in Galicia to total 300,000, nearly one-third of their forces.

The sinking of the German protected cruiser Hela of 2,040 tons by a submarine of the allied fleet is announced in an official statement issued at Berlin. A major part of the crew was saved.

The German submarine which sank the British cruiser Pathfinder with a loss of 246 lives is reported to have been destroyed by the fire of several British cruisers.

Sharp skirmishes have taken place in the Shan Tung peninsula of China between the German defenders of the Kiao-Chow concession and a Japanese landing force.

A measure was introduced in the British parliament today suspending until after the war the proceedings of the Irish home rule and the Welsh disestablishment bills.

Queen Wilhelmina, opening parliament in person, emphasized the necessity of The Netherlands maintaining the strictest neutrality in the war.

ALLIES IN RHEIMS AS MARNE BATTLE RAGES

London, Sept. 15.—(4:06 p. m.)—The occupation of Rheims by the allies was announced by the official press bureau this afternoon.

A statement given out by the bureau this afternoon says:

"The enemy are still occupying a strong position to the north of the Aisne and fighting is going on along the whole line.

"The crown prince's army has been driven further back and is now on the line of Varennes, Consenvoye and Ornes.

"The allied troops have occupied Rheims.

"Six hundred prisoners and twelve guns were captured yesterday by the corps on the right of the British.

"Rain has made the roads heavy and is increasing the difficulty of the German army in its retreat."

As has been the case since the commencement of the battle of the Marne over a week ago, the final outcome of this mighty struggle seems to depend upon the army of Crown Prince Frederick William in the German center, the headquarters of which has been retired to Montfaucon.

As this town is 15 miles to the northwest of Verdun the crown prince's move seems to imply the approaching relief of that French fortress which his army has been besieging for a week past. However, no news of the actual situation there has come through nor is official confirmation of the reported fall of the fortified position of Maubeuge forthcoming from French sources.

The Only German Claim.

A dispatch from the German general staff on the battle of the Marne received in London today suffered at the hands of the censor. In its truncated form, the only claim made for German arms is that of having successfully defeated the French endeavors to break through the German lines.

This apparently is quite true unless the report from Dieppe this afternoon alleging that Gen. von Kluck's army on the German right had been forced to surrender turns out to be correct. Up to the present there has been no confirmation of the story.

In any case from the estimate given of the numbers of the troops surrendered, which, according to one report was 14,000 and according to another 25,000, it would be a misnomer to call a surrender of Gen. von Kluck's army, which must total in the neighborhood of 100,000 men.

Gen. von Kluck has shown masterful skill, and even should he have been forced to sacrifice a part of his army to an offensive stroke of the British and French allies, and unless beaten by a break in the weather, which is turning the roads into quagmires and making transport most difficult, observers here are of the opinion that he will reach his appointed position.

GERMAN AND JAP IN LAND CLASH

Chi Mo, Shan-Tung Province, China, Sunday, Sept. 13, 1:30 p. m.—Via Peking, Sept. 15.—The first encounter between German and Japanese forces on land occurred this morning when there were a number of sharp skirmishes between patrols of the contesting forces at a point close to Chi-Mo.

Previous to these engagements a German aeroplane flew over the district. The Japanese fired on the machine, but without success.

CAVALRY AT KIA-CHOW.

Peking, Sept. 15.—A report received here from Tsing-Tau of German origin declares that a vanguard of Japanese cavalry is at Kia-Chow City.

GERMANS HURL A BIG FORCE AGAINST CZAR

London, Sept. 15.—2:50 a. m.—A dispatch from Petrograd to the Star telling of the operations on the Russian frontier, says:

"The Germans have concentrated enormous forces in East Prussia, causing a corresponding retirement on the part of the Russians.

"The Germans, in aid of the hard pressed armies on the Austrian frontier, attempted to drive in with an overwhelming force along the line from Nordenburg to Goldap, upon the Russian base. At the same time Russia had been drawing upon its forces in east Prussia for reinforcements against the Austrian front. Thus the German attempt was well timed. Gen. Rennenkampff, however, by clever maneuvering, succeeded in driving back the Germans with heavy losses.

"The Austrian army which is retreating on Przemysl, includes one whole German army corps and part of another. These forces are lost to Germany for the duration of the war for they will be locked up in Przemysl, which the Russians must take by a prolonged siege.

"Enormous numbers of Maxims and field guns which were captured by the Russians have been everywhere immediately turned against their old owners. The Galician railways have been placed under the administration system.

"The following incident of the Russian pursuit and the Austrian retreat has been received here. It appears that forty men of the scouts' regiment swam the wide, rough Vistula river and succeeded in blowing up and setting afire an enormous quantity of the stores of the retreating Austrians, including two Austrian steamboats, seventeen pontoons, eighteen laden barges, a large number of smaller boats and rafts and a considerable quantity of military equipment. This daring act, which was done under cover of darkness, was one of the main causes of Austrian distress on the retreat. A large part of the Austrian army is suffering from hunger as a result of the destruction of its commissariat."

WAR BULLETINS

Rome, Sept. 14.—10:15 p. m.—Via Paris, Sept. 15.—7:30 a. m.—A demonstration occurred in the center of the town last night, the people at the meeting crying out in favor of England and France. The troops charged the demonstrators several times and a number of persons were injured. Troops have been detailed to guard the Austrian embassy.

London, Sept. 15.—(12:50 a. m.)—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from Bordeaux states that a message from Basel, Switzerland, gives details of a battle that took place in the passes of the Vosges when the Germans under Gen. von Heeringen failed to break the French line of defense at Epinal. The battle, it is stated, was fought at Altkirch.

FIFTY YEARS ON JOB.

L. P. Hulburd Rounds Out Half Century of Express Service.

A half century of time working for the American and National Express companies speaks volumes for ability and faithfulness of service. That is the record of L. P. Hulburd and in celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of his connection with the work Mr. Hulburd tendered a banquet to the officials of the company, friends and relatives at the Commercial club on September 12. Covers for sixty-five were laid at the banquet.

Musical features were violin and piano numbers by Fred Hulburd, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Hulburd, and Stephen Burns. Talks were made by different guests, among whom was J. H. Butler, of Chicago, general western manager of the National Express company, who said among other things that Mr. Hulburd's office was the only one with a percentage of one hundred that was found at a recent meeting held in Chicago by executives.

Mr. Hulburd, now seventy years of age but active and as anxious to keep on working as if he were forty years younger, has worked his way up in the express company business from the low rung of the ladder with never a misstep. Mr. Hulburd is an "old soldier," having served with the Army of the Potomac during every battle fought in the civil war. He is also a life member of the Knights Templar, Mystic Shrine and other Masonic organizations, besides belonging to Lawton-Wayne post, G. A. R., and the Elks lodge. Among the visiting guests were J. H. Butler, H. D. Cunningham, A. C. Neal, J. C. Callahan, Chicago; W. O. McKee, Cleveland; J. Newell, Toledo; C. A. Taylor, Cleveland; H. P. Ester, Indianapolis, and Charles Saucreison, Cleveland, all of whom have positions of honor with the express companies, and Mr. and Mrs. George Parsons, of Hollywood, Cal., who are daughter and son-in-law of Mr. Hulburd. Many congratulatory telegrams and letters were received.

BATTLE FIERCELY TO REGAIN LOST GROUND

London, Sept. 15.—(10:15 a. m.)—For once the military critics on both sides agree that the outcome of the campaign in the western area depends on the result of the operations of the crown prince's army before Verdun, but on the question of accomplished facts the divergence of opinion is as wide as ever.

Berlin maintains that the investment of Verdun is now complete and therefore expects that within two or three days there will be a resumption of the offensive along the whole German front. On the other hand, the latest official communication issued in behalf of the allies states that the crown prince has been driven back and has moved his headquarters from Saint Menehould, south of Rheims, to Montfaucon, about fifteen miles northeast.

Berlin admits that the weakened German right wing has been turned back, but discounts the reverse by maintaining that it will have no effect on the general forward movement to be initiated when Verdun falls.

The very candid statement of Gen. Joffre regarding the sort of warfare his troops are capable of waging, indicates that the French are now in a position to take up the gage of battle on their own terms and in a country of their own choosing.

Joffre Now National Hero.

General Joffre is now a national hero, after conducting the great retreat that caused him to be called many hard names. He declared that the strict discipline of the German soldier made him an ideal instrument for a crushing onslaught with superior numbers, while the French soldiers, without adequate fortified bases and in a generally level country, could not assume that extended order under which they make the best showing.

As far as the moral effect goes, the recapture of Rheims probably means more to the French army than the rolling up of the German left wing beyond Verdun so that the battle line on the Aisne, already the scene of sanguinary fighting, is today undoubtedly the arena of a stubborn struggle of the fiercest description.

Hope to Bottle Up Foes.

Petrograd reports that although news of the damage from General Brussiloff's army is lacking and part of Gen. Ruzsky's forces is still to be heard from, it is estimated that the Austrian forces have lost one-third of their available personnel and two-thirds of their artillery. It is evident that the Russian generals now hope to bottle up the Austrians and their German contingents in Przemysl, which is an Austrian Metz. No hope is expressed for the early capture of this fortress, but it is expected the remnants of the Austro-Hungarian forces will be kept within its walls until the end of the war.

Reports of operations on the east Prussian frontier are contradictory. According to Petrograd, Gen. Rennenkampff has resumed the offensive after winning an engagement on the border, while the same Russian sources report that the investment of Koenigsberg is continuing. On the other hand, Berlin states that Rennenkampff's defeat is almost as great as the Russian disaster in this region.

Plan to Forestall Famine.

Outside the one of military operations the chief interest centers in the efforts of the German, Dutch and French governments to forestall the possibility of famine among their peoples by regulating the use of certain staples. The regulations not only forbid the use of more than a certain amount of these staples for purposes other than for food, but instruct the people in the most economical way to use them.

The story that Russian troops had been landed on the continent, after coming via England from Archangel, has met with formal and specific denial both from England and official press bureau and from Belgian official sources.

The military stronghold of Przemysl, where the Russian generals are endeavoring to surround the Austrian and German Galician armies is regarded by military experts as the last important fortification guarding the way to the interior of Austria-Hungary. Przemysl is situated on the river San, 51 miles west of Lemberg, the evacuated capital of Galicia, and is the headquarters of the tenth army corps.

The Russian contention is that the capture of Przemysl would allow a free passage of the Russian army in the direction of Vienna or would permit a swinging movement to the northwest to effect a junction with the Russian army in east Prussia.

GORGE FILLED WITH DEAD MEN

London, Sept. 15.—3:40 a. m.—A dispatch to the Chronicle from Petrograd says:

"The fiercest fighting of all that which preceded the Russian victory at Lublin was in a gorge near the village of Mikolaeiff, which the Russian soldiers reverently named the 'Valley of Death.'

"The gorge was full of dead men, lying in heaps, according to a soldier who reached here today. 'When we attacked at 3 o'clock in the morning,' he said, 'the gorge contained 15,000 Austrians, a large portion of whom were mowed down by the artillery fire which plowed through the valley in the darkness. The Austrians surrendered and we entered the gorge to receive their arms, while their general stood quietly on a hill watching the scene. Eight of his standards being turned over to the Russians was more than he could bear for he drew a pistol and shot himself."

SUICIDAL EFFORT FAILS.

Frank M. Sapp, who swallowed a quantity of carbolic acid Monday evening in an attempt to end his life, is reported to be making a right nice progress toward recovery at St. Joseph hospital. His condition is not serious and he will soon be out. Sapp, who is a Nickel Plate railway brakeman, residing at 1733 High street, was with Jack Edwards, a friend, when he made the suicidal essay in an alley off Cherry street, between Main and Boone, at 6:30 o'clock Monday evening. Domestic trouble had made him despondent.

NEW PEACE PACTS ARE DULY SIGNED

Washington, Sept. 15.—In the presence of the cabinet, Secretary Bryan today signed peace treaties with the diplomatic representatives of Great Britain, France, Spain and China.

These treaties bind each of the countries and the United States to submit to investigation by an international commission for a period of at least a year all questions which cannot be settled diplomatically. During the period of investigation hostilities cannot be opened.

There were also present at the signing Mrs. Bryan and the assistant secretaries of state. With the signing of the treaties today Secretary Bryan's peace pacts number twenty-six, of which nineteen already have been ratified by the senate.

Germany, Russia and Japan have accepted the investigation proposal in principle.

THINKS HE WINGED PEEPER.

The police have got no clue to the identity of the man who was seen peeping through a window at the residence of Theodore Beberich, 1411 Monroe street Monday night and at whom Beberich fired from a small rifle. Beberich thinks he winged the fellow, who had the appearance of a foreigner. A rookery occupied by foreigners in the neighborhood was searched by the police, but no man who could be identified as the offender was found.

THURMAN BEAT ST. JOE.

The Thurman Blues defeated the St. Joe team 6 to 5. The clubs are booked for another game next Sunday.

CITY BREVITIES

Senator Stephen B. Fleming, now located in Ne wYork city, is in Fort Wayne for a few days, and Monday evening he met with a crowd of business friends at the Commercial club.

William McKay, formerly owner of the Brunswick bowling alleys, now located at Hamilton, Ont., is in the city visiting relatives.

Birdboy Art Smith, Home from Detroit, Booked for Flights Here.

A few spectators who arrived at Centlivre park Tuesday spent most of their time watching Art Smith and Ed Johnson set up the Fort Wayne bird boy's aeroplane, which arrived at 10:40 from Detroit and which was booked as one of the attractions of the afternoon.

An opening day rarely counts for much at fairs, but the crowd was small even for the first day and many of the concession men did not open up their stands. Numbers of them were still engaged in "setting up," as the vernacular of the ground has it.

Late Tuesday there was every prospect that Smith would make flights during the afternoon as his machine came through without a break and on Wednesday he will probably test out that long-delayed new motor which arrived Tuesday afternoon.

The bookings for the afternoon were, aside from Smith's flights, some free attractions and a special race, but Col. Hoagland, whose riders and horses were on the program, stated that "everybody else was just lazing around, some of my hands are not here and I don't think I will set up until tonight."

Patrons are not allowed the privilege of walking across the enclosure inside the track, but are compelled to walk around the north end of the course a quarter of a mile to reach the shows and the stands.

One exhibit of machinery, a furnace display, and three cook stoves constituted Tuesday the entire industrial portion of the fair. The exhibit of fancy work in the art hall was about in keeping with the fairs of previous years, but the fact that the space is limited prevented merchants from making their usual showing of merchandise.

The race card for Wednesday afternoon is made up of a 2:19 trot, 2:27 pace and a 2:30 trot. Smith is booked to fly each afternoon.

Judge Yaple Dissolves Trio of Marriages in Superior Court.

In the superior court Tuesday, Judge Yaple, despite the staple injunction to the contrary in all well-regulated marital ceremonies, put asunder men and women who had been joined together and they are, to the number of three women and three men free to go their several ways.

May Dumbould was given a divorce from Elden B. Dumbould and permitted to resume her maiden name of May Raine. The pair were wed February 28, this year, and on June 15 broke up their happy home.

Laura Comer was given a divorce from Roy Comer and the order was reversed when Judge Yaple granted a decree to Jacob Hollopeter from Katie Hollopeter.

There was a rift in the lowering skies of domesticity however, for Ella Parks had the court dismiss her suit for divorce from Alexander Parks.

Venue Suit on Trial.

Judge Yaple and a jury are hearing the evidence in the suit of Charles H. Thomas, administrator of the estate of Minnie H. Thomas vs. the Caswell-Runyan company, an action for $2,500 damages on contract concerning a patent right, brought here on change of venue from Huntington county. A big battery of Huntington attorneys appears in the case.

Notes of the Courts.

The circuit court was mainly engaged Tuesday listening to several claims cases against estates.

The appeal of Anthony G. Meyer from the board of commissioners on refusal of the board to grant him a liquor license for the so-called Gebhart roadhouse on the Bluffton road, has been filed.

The last will and testament of Eugene G. Gilbert has been filed for probate. He leaves his estate to his wife, Carrie A. Gilbert, who is named executrix.

RESUME WORK OR PORTAGE.

Acceptable Material Arrives and Delay is at an End.

The arrival of large consignments of washed gravel from Attica, Ind., have permitted a resumption of repair work on Portage avenue from the city limits to the Boatjack roadhouse and it is believed that delays are at an end. Since the material arrived about 500 feet of the highway have been completed. The board of commissioners put a stop to work some time ago because it could not pass some of the material that was going into the road. Shipments of material were delayed and the work was accordingly held up. The commissioners say they regret the public inconvenience, but that the emergency left them no other course than to call a halt. A mass meeting has been called to meet Tuesday evening in Wayne township school No. 2 to protest against the delay and the prolonged closing of the road.

SLOW LAUNDRYMAN STOPS ELOPEMENT

Young Lochinvar Would Not Wed Without His Best Shirt.

MISS LILLIAN SCHABERT.

telephone operator, following their elopement from Portland, Ore.

It was because of the young couple's ultra-romantic notions that the cops beat Cupid in the race to ensnare them.

"Young Lochinvar" Freeman petulantly insisted that he would not be married unless he could wear his "swellest" shirt. Unfortunately for the romance, the shirt was still in the mangle.

Miss Schabert was equally finicky about being married in a city of "romantic name," taking several days to decide upon San Jose, Cal.

Meantime there had been delay enough for the local police to locate the elopers and arrest them at the instance of the parents. They were hustled off to jail—just as the "swellest" shirt arrived with apologies from the laundryman.

Undaunted by the meddlings of an unsympathetic world, Freeman and his sweetheart declare they will yet be wedded as soon as they get back to Oregon, where the girl is of legal age.

Miss Emily Eberwine, of Lakeside, has returned from a month's visit with relatives in Lima, Ohio, Sandusky and other Lake Erie points. Miss Eberwine was accompanied home by her cousin, Miss Laura Eberwine, of Sandusky, who will make an extended visit here.

A meeting of the membership committee of the Commercial club will be held Wednesday afternoon.

Drenton and Diggs Sought by Chicago Police for Six Jobs There.

Henry C. Breton and Charles F. Diggs, forgers who in the city court Tuesday were put under bonds of $1,000 on each of four counts, aggregating $4,000 for each man, are wanted in Chicago, Gary, Ind., Laporte, Ind., and Aurora, Ill., in addition to South Bend and Elkhart, Ind., in which last two places Diggs had already confessed their operations.

Chief of Police Charles Lenz Tuesday morning received a telegram from John J. Halpin, chief of detectives in Chicago, stating that Diggs is wanted there for six jobs and asking if the Chicago authorities could have him. It is presumed that Breton was his companion there. Chief Halpin in a later message stated that the men were wanted also in Aurora, Gary and Laporte.

In Laporte the men went under the names of H. C. Bennett and Charles Downs. They passed three checks there for $35 each and used the same character of checks they did in Fort Wayne, when they got $35 each from the Shields clothing store and the Meigs optical goods store, $25 from the Woodworth drug store and $45 from the Randall hotel.

In the city court Tuesday the appearance of an attorney was entered for the pair and their cases were set for hearing Sept. 24.

Society

Altogether attractive in the general arrangement of flowers, favors and the refreshments was Mrs. George Bailhe's pretty bridge and sewing party given this afternoon for four young women, Misses Helen McGee, Lela Rich and Verne Bowser, all brides-elect of the season, and Miss Elizabeth Porter, who is going to Bryn Mawr college. Each guest received a corsage bouquet of pink roses and bows of pink maline on vases and on serving glasses, many flowers in the rooms and a touch of pink in the viands all contributed to the charm of the afternoon. There were thirty guests, some of whom played bridge while others sewed.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

"The Under Dog" Opens Two Days' Engagement.

"The Under Dog," an expose in four acts, with a prologue and epilogue, opened to an appreciative audience at the Majestic last night for a two days' engagement. This play is put over in a pleasing manner and the theme is of the sort that catches and holds the audience.

The story is of the struggles of a man once fallen, to regain his position in society and be regarded as something besides a common brute. It is starting in its assertions and portrays in a vivid manner the injustice of the penal system prevalent in the majority of states. Intermingled with the pathos of the performance is a vein of comedy.

Some Show For Two Days at the Majestic.

With a splendidly balanced company, Harry E. Emerson, supported by that clever prima donna, Grayce Celeste, will be seen in their merriest musical satire, "A Night on Broadway," at the Majestic for two days with daily matinees on Wednesday and Thursday.

The success of this clever play the past season from coast to coast was little short of phenominal. This season it will be seen to much better advantage, the company being improved by the addition of Grayce Celeste, and a very clever little singing and dancing soubrette, Miss Morrison, who was a feature the past season in "The Pink Lady" and at the Follies Bergere in New York. The chorus will be up to the Emerson standing, which means excellent, and Emerson will have the biggest and brightest selection of songs he has ever had in his long career.

TRIER'S MINUET SCHOOL.

AT THE TEMPLE

How quickly Fort Wayne pleasure seekers find the best is evidenced by the packed houses that have been greeting the all-star bill at the Temple. This program which closes tomorrow night, is unquestionably the greatest collection of vaudeville talent that this man's town ever did enjoy. The laughs that Chick Sales with his inimitable impersonations of rural characters gives you, are a show in themselves. His country sheriff playing "Marching Through Georgia," on his wheezy alto horn, is something you'll remember the remainder of your life.

Another big time act on this bill is the Burton Holmes' series of War Time Europe pictures, as timely interesting and instructive a feature as ever was presented in a vaudeville house. Burton Holmes' reputation as a globe trotter and lecturer is international and in these views which he is exhibiting at the Temple, he has "out-Holmesed" himself.

AT THE EMPRESS

Mark Twain, brought back to life, can be seen at the Empress theater during the fore part of this week. The reincarnation is effected through the remarkable personality and wonderful skill in makeup of Charles Leonard Fletcher, headliner at the Empress for the first three days of the week. Mr. Fletcher presents bits of quaint philosophyosophy from the writings of this great American humorist in connection with his characterization of Mr. Twain and Mr. Fletcher is also presenting two characterizations from life of today with great success in his act.

"The Golden Globe of Death" is claiming the attention of all lovers of the unusual at the Empress this week as in this gigantic ball constructed of steel slate, Cedora, a beautiful woman, whizzes around on a motorcycle at a rate of sixty miles an hour. A man, standing in the bottom of the ball, with difficulty dodges the onrushing machine.

In Wanda, the seal with a human brain, the Empress is presenting an act that is far out of the ordinary. Wanda is a wonder and there's no doubt of it. The funniest of funny men is Tom Dalton, who is editor of the Daffyville News, presents some very laughable comedy. All the other acts on the present bill are especially good.

LADIES' DANCING CLASS

"FLOWER O' THE FLAME."

First "Trey O' Hearts" Installment at the Orpheum Today.

A striking serial under the general title of the "Trey O' Hearts" series, but with a sub-title for each installment, which has made a most favorable impression in the larger cities where it has been shown, will be introduced to the Orpheum patrons this afternoon and evening.

Two film favorites, Cleo Madison and George Larkin, with a strong supporting company, are featured in the opening and succeeding installments.

The first of the three reels of today is devoted to a prologue, during which the important characters are introduced and their relationships established in the mind of the patron. Early in the narrative is introduced Seneca Trine (Edward Shuman,) who seeks the ruin of Wellington Law (George Larkin,) and the foundation of the future exciting, heartrending events is laid. A love story develops early in the narrative, and this is the central thought of the succeeding installment which will be shown at the Orpheum each Tuesday afternoon and evening until the series is completed.

Patrons of the Orpheum should not fail to become acquainted with the characters of this new serial by attending today's entertainment.

A roaring comedy, "Trapped in a Closet," will also be shown this afternoon and the Orpheum orchestra will present a pleasing musical program.

Use Milk—It's Cheap and Nutritious.

There is no waste in milk. You get what you pay for—no bones, no parings, no refuse to buy and throw away. Moreover, the proportion of nutrients which can be digested and utilized by the body is greater than in most foods.

The following recipes, which have been tested by government experts, are recommended to The Sentinel housekeeper readers:

Milk Soups.

A large variety of soups may be made the means of utilizing not only milk, but also left-over portions of vegetables and other foods. In making them allow from one-half to one level tablespoonful of flour to each cup of liquid (including milk and the juice and pulp of vegetables) and one level tablespoonful or more of butter or other fat. Some of the flavorings which may be used are: Onions, corn, asparagus, cabbage, cauliflower, peas, beans, tomatoes, salmon or other fish, celery, spinach or grated cheese.

Milk Chowder.

Chowders are also a very acceptable means of serving milk. In making rich chowders the proportions used are: Two cups of milk or of milk and water, one cup of potatoes cut into small pieces, and one pound of fish. The flavoring is onions and fat fried from salt pork. While these proportions make a rich dish, it is possible to reduce the amount of fish greatly, to leave it out entirely, to use small portions of leftover fish or some salt codfish which has been freshened, or to substitute corn for it. Such dishes are palatable and of reasonably high nutritive value providing the greater part of the liquid used is milk.

Milk Gravies.

A great variety of milk gravies, thickened with flour and enriched with butter or other fat, may be served with potatoes or other vegetables or poured over toast. The proportions are two level teaspoonfuls of flour and two level tablespoonfuls of butter to one cup of milk. To this may be added chipped beef, codfish or other fresh or salt fish, hard-boiled eggs, small portions of chicken or veal or grated cheese. Milk gravy flavored with cheese makes a good and very nutritious sauce to pour over cauliflower and cabbage or to serve with boiled rice or hominy.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

John 15:1-15.

1 I am the true vine, and my Father is the husbandman.

2 Every branch in me that beareth not fruit he taketh away: and every branch that beareth fruit, he purgeth it, that it may bring forth more fruit.

3 Now ye are clean through the word which I have spoken unto you.

4 Abide in me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; no more can ye, except ye abide in me.

5 I am the vine, ye are the branches: He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: for without me ye can do nothing.

6 If a man abide not in me, he is cast forth as a branch, and is withered; and men gather them and cast them into the fire, and they are burned.

7 If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you.

8 Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be my disciples.

9 As the Father hath loved me, so have I loved you: continue ye in my love.

10 If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father's commandments, and abide in his love.

11 These things have I spoken unto you, that my joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full.

12 This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you.

13 Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends.

14 Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you.

15 Henceforth I call you not servants; for the servant knoweth not what his lord doeth: but I have called you friends; for all things that I have heard of my Father I have made known unto you.

When Europe Rebuilds

There are rivalries, jealousies, frictions among the states of the American union; but they usually are not serious.

Latin, Teuton and Slav dwell here side by side, for the most part, peacefully and with growing good will.

Each state has its military, but none trains soldiery or accumulates cannon with a view to overrunning another state, despoiling its commerce and impoverishing its people.

The army and navy are arms of the central authority, for use in the common defense—a police power which the people of all the states control, by majority vote in the national congress.

Gladstone said of the framework of this plan that it was the greatest ever struck off at one time by the mind of man.

For 50 years, over an area larger than embattled Europe, this plan has worked with smoothness and efficiency, yielding results which are the envy of mankind.

Democracy has proved workable on a great scale over many interests. Not ideally; not without tangles and bungles; but still successfully in the main, with a large measure of individual freedom, yet with accepted restraint—the restraint not of force imposed but of allegiance yielded.

There are no war lords and no autocrats that we do not ourselves set up and tolerate because aware that, when we will, we can easily pull them dwn.

Please don't misunderstand. We're not claiming superiority for Americans as folks; we're merely claiming it for their political system. Given equal intelligence, this system ought to work equally well anywhere.

When Europe comes to the task of rebuilding can it find a better model?

The Hunting Season

Two Ohio lads took advantage of this fine autumn weather to go hunting the other day.

The air was like wine, it was so clear and bracing. You could see for miles.

One took a gun and a dog. Through the wheat stubble and meadow, in the cool lanes of the woods just beginning to show the autumn tinge, he trudged joyously, carefree, now and again winging a pheasant or a quail, which the faithful dog promptly retrieved.

It was great sport, but it was bloody. It made him think of the hunting on the other side, where men stalk men and shoot to kill. As each wounded bird fell, he wondered if he should have enjoyed the day so well had he been born a bird.

The other lad carried a camera. He moved cautiously, stealthily. His game, too, had to be stalked. But when his weapon clicked there was no wild echo; no bird brood orphaned, no free creature of the open crippled or laid low.

He had all the sport of the chase and all the good exercise in the tonic autumn air. And no misgivings. No regrets.

That night they swapped experiences and the photographer exhibited his trophies—some smashing pictures of wild fowl in flight. The other admitted that there are more ways than one to hunt.

Did the second lad draw his humanity too fine?

Mr. Beveridge has just opened the Indiana state campaign for the progressives with a slashing speech at Terre Haute. However much truth or falsity there may be in republican claims that the moosers in Indiana have suffered a tremendous slump, it is apparent that Mr. Beveridge as the party's nominee for the senate is carrying just as big a head of party steam as ever.

It is worth while noting in passing that Maine, the first state to hold its election this year, has elected a democrat as governor. Those who pin their faith to "signs" are cordially invited to pitch in and help themselves.

PRESS ON TROUBLES OF THE RAILROADS

Need Larger Incomes.

New York World: "The railroads undoubtedly need larger net incomes, and President Wilson in his letter concedes the point with some emphasis. But the railroads are in no such state of desperation as to warrant the panicky talk they are giving out."

Public Service.

Washington Post: "Railroads, although privately owned, are devoted to public service. The railroad system is more closely interwoven with individual and national prosperity than any other business."

The Situation.

Providence Journal: "Congress and the administration must look the situation straight in the face. We cannot go on starving the railroads and still expect a satisfactory measure of national prosperity."

The Parcel Post.

Syracuse Herald: "As is now pretty generally understood the introduction of the parcel post has imposed a burden upon the railroads for which they have been shamefully underpaid. It is good to know that steps are now in progress to repair this standing injustice."

A Plain Tip.

New York Tribune: "President Wilson's letter on the railroad situation is a plain tip to Congress and to the Interstate Commerce Commission to quit railroad baiting."

Commercial Prosperity.

Boston Advertiser: "In the railroads is tied up the commercial prosperity of the nation. When the railroads are not prospering few, if any, manufactories and industries can succeed."

Serious Disaster.

Philadelphia Inquirer: "What is certain is that the revenues of the railways may not decrease constantly without serious disaster to the whole country."

"Not Popular.

Washington Herald: "It has been apparent for some time that it is not as popular to abuse the railroads as it once was. Their stock is widely distributed and their employes form no inconsiderable percentage of our population."

IS WAR LESS DEADLY?

(Pittsburg Dispatch.)

Statements attributed to surgeons with the allies hardly bear out the reports of dead piled high and other grim scenes tales of the immense losses in the present conflict. Instead they tend to corroborate the theory that modern bullets are less deadly than the old. The official statement of British losses from the opening of the war until September 7 are interesting in this connection. While the total is 18,783, the known killed but 400 and the wounded 3,000, the remaining 15,000 being accounted missing. The British bureau pointed out reassuringly the other day that a large proportion of the missing may be credited to those captured by the enemy. General French's detailed account of the desperate plight of his forces on the retirement toward Paris indicates that many detachments must have been overwhelmed.

From the French side the statement is made by the medical department of the Ministry of War that out of each hundred men placed hors de combat, but two were killed. The wounded, too, show a remarkable percentage of disabling, but not deadly wounds, mainly in the legs and arms. Many of the wounded indeed have already returned to the front.

On the other hand, a German report of killed and wounded, date not given, shows a total of 6,535 dead, 8,391 seriously wounded and 4,242 slightly wounded, a ratio of one dead to each wounded, remarkably high and contradicting the inferences of the British and French reports.

Comparisons of the casualities in the Franco-Prussian War with those in the Russo-Japanese War supported the belief that modern war is less deadly. Improved rifles make cleaner wounds. There is infinitely greater preparation for prompt attention to the wounded. Amputation, which used to be resorted to so freely before surgery had attained its present skill, is now avoided when possible.

AN INSTANTANEOUS WRINKLE REMOVER.

The average woman is always surprised to learn, after experimenting with all sorts of patent so-called "wrinkle removers" that the most effective remedy in the world is a simple face wash which she can make herself at home in a jiffy.

She has only to get an ounce of pure powdered saxolite from her nearest druggist and dissolve it in half a pint of witch hazel. Apply this refreshing solution to the face every day for awhile. The result is charming—marvelous. Even after the very first treatment the wrinkles show less plainly and the face has a nice, firm, comfortable feeling that is thoroughly delightful and lends self confidence in one's appearance. This harmless home remedy is used by thousands of women to obliterate the unwelcome traces of time.

GREAT BRITAIN'S NEW WAR HERO.

GENERAL SIR H. L. L. SMITH-DORRIEN.

All England is to-day acclaiming this new war hero. That the present offensive movement of the allies is made possible is admittedly due to his efforts. With his small corps he for two days withstood an overwhelming force of Germans, making possible the saving of the entire left wing of the allied army. General Smith-Dorrien has distinguished himself in many other battles fought under the British flag. He is fifty-six years old and is the son of an army officer.

TALKS DREDGING WITH ENGINEER

Major Bond Explains to Board Chairman What City Can Do.

Chairman Frank E. Singrey, of the board of public works, had a conference Tuesday with Maj. P. S. Bond, of Cleveland, a member of the board of army engineers here, on matters relating to the Erie and Michigan barge canal survey and gained some additional light on the rights of the municipality to clean the river channels within the city. Major Bond said that the city government could have its engineers make the necessary surveys, set the proper stakes and prepare necessary plans for such work as dredging, removing obstructions and even cutting away the shoulders of embankment bends in the stream and in short for doing a variety of things designed to establish sanitation and prevent floods. These, he said, could be referred to the army engineers' board at the Cleveland office and from there permission could be obtained. Major Bond said permission for such work, no doubt, would readily be granted. As to more comprehensive flood prevention plans and for the determination of the ownership of the river banks and flood planes, as based upon such questions as were raised in a recent letter written by Postmaster R. B. Hanna, Major Bond said there must be reference to the war department and resort to legislation by the state.

MAY RESURFACE TWO STREETS.

Parts of Hoagland and East Creighton Avenues in Program.

If the resident property owners on Hoagland avenue, from DeWald street to Leith street, will sign waivers permitting the city to proceed in its own way with the work it is probable that they can get a new asphalt surface put on their street this fall. The board of works will resurface East Creighton avenue from Calhoun to Lafayette and the probability is that the city asphalt repair department will do the work, as it is planned also to do on Hoagland avenue. It is believed money can be found to perform both jobs. The Grace Construction company has asked to submit a proposition for East Creighton, and the board will consider it to determine if that method will be as cheap as having it done by the city plant. It is not likely that a way will be found this year to resurface Suttenfield street from Lafayette to Calhoun or Woodland avenue from Lafayette to Hoagland, though both thoroughfares need attention badly.

At Monday's meeting of the board it was decided to pave St. Mary's avenue from Burgess street to Brock street, the distance of a square, to a width of thirty feet, which will be two feet narrower than the roadway of the balance of the avenue, already paved. It was found that there was enough in the intersection fund to take care of that street and also to pay the city's share of resurfacing East Creighton avenue.

The board will rescind all action on the improvement of Hillside avenue, Thursday night, and enter upon an entirely new procedure designed to vacate part of the street and grade it a width of twenty-two feet. This will overcome all embarrassments that have arisen. The board approved the assessment roll for walks and curbing on the east side of St. Joe boulevard from Lake to Forest, and for paving Oliver street, Thayer to Eckart. Plans were ordered for cement sidewalks on both sides of Creighton avenue, Hanna to Thomas.

The board directed the city engineer to prepare plans for the condemnation of the north twelve feet of Schele avenue, Roy street to the first alley west of Curtice avenue, in order to widen the street.

REPAIR PLANT EARNS MONEY.

City Cleans Up Some on Putting Down Asphalt.

As shown by a report submitted by Superintendent Droeger, of the city asphalt repair plant, that branch of the city's service this year has shown earnings of $2,000 in work done for the Traction company and the Gas company. There is also an additional earning of about $300 by reason of work performed for the city waterworks department. This is on top of all the street repairs accomplished by the city plant and the total for the year along that line is extensive. Practically all of the patchwork to be done this year has been completed and the cost shows that the city has saved a great deal of money. If the plant performs the work of resurfacing East Creighton avenue and Hoagland avenue, the year's volume of work and resulting economies will be much larger.

MAIN STREET BRIDGE WOBBLES.

When the board of works went Tuesday morning to inspect the recently completed job of painting the Main street bridge, over the St. Mary's river, it was discovered that the bridge is again in a very shaky, if not unsafe condition. Its vibrations under heavy or rapid traffic indicate that it is not secure as it should be. The bridge will need some further repairs. Meanwhile signs will be put on the bridge warning traffic against rapid driving. The job of painting was found satisfactory in most respects.

NEW SPRINGS FOR FLUSHER.

The board of works Tuesday completed arrangements with Fred Birgantz, of the German-Bernstein motor truck company, Lima, Ohio, to equip the new street flusher with much heavier springs than it has. The flusher springs carry a load of ten tons when the tank is filled and the springs with which it is equipped are so light as to permit some interference with the gearing. The board had held out $400 from the contract price of the flusher to meet some such emergency and the expense of equipping the flusher with new springs will not be additional to the original cost.

WANT BOULEVARD LIGHTS.

Practically all of the resident property owners on Lincoln avenue have filed with the board of works a petition to have single staff ornamental lights established on their thoroughfare in place of arc lights. They propose to erect and install the system at their own expense and then turn it over to the city for maintenance.

MORE LIGHT FOR CITY.

The board of works has ordered the installation of additional arc lights by the city light and power department at the following locations: East end of Lawton place, McKee and Oliver streets, Fairfield avenue, between Jefferson and Brackenridge streets, Ewing street, between Jefferson and Baker streets, Hendricks street, 300 feet west of Fairfield avenue, and at California avenue and Forest Park boulevard. An alley lamp was ordered in the rear of the International Harvester company's building, 327 East Columbia street.

TO PAVE HOME AVENUE.

BUILDING PERMITS.

C. C. Arnold, two-story frame residence 725 Huffman street, $2,000.

H. Grotholtman, two-story brick veneer residence 1525 Wells street, $4,500.

Students of German System Say No Fear Need Be Expressed.

Kansas City, Sept. 14.—That the German army is hungry and in want is hardly believed by students of the German system of troop supply. That both men and ration run into figures almost beyond understanding does not make the belief stronger, but rather tends to lessen the credibility of reports from the war zone, stating that the German army is in want.

Germany thinks and acts on a gigantic scale. She puts every branch of her military service under a system so simple and complete that demands add efficiency to the system rather than cripple it.

A Day's Supply.

Assuming the German army now in the field consists of a half-million men—and the force is reported to be greater than that—it takes 281,250 pounds of hard bread, 218,750 pounds of preserved meat, 109,375 pounds of vegetables, mostly onions; 27,345 pounds of coffee and 41,666.6 pounds of condensed soups and foods to furnish each man with a field ration for one day—or one pound and ten ounces for each.

In a field campaign, where the advancing army is in a foreign country, the supplies are either in the theater of operations or at the base. As both France and Germany are in Belgium, and as that country is incapable of furnishing or producing sufficient supplies, the food must be conveyed to the army.

The duty of feeding the army in field or at home rests with the quartermaster's department. In that department also is the rolling stock of the entire army. The quartermaster is in charge of the food from the time of original purchase to the delivery to the individual soldier. To keep the food supply up to the army demand is his duty, and a duty in his army is always performed.

A "Soup Army."

The German army is essentially a "soup army" and a large part of the soldiers' ration—his reserve ration especially—is a soup cartridge. In his kit are bacon and other meats, and the main part of his food is a double baked hard black bread, three months' baked and without a bit of moisture. Its crust is so hard that it requires a saber or bayonet to break it. With his meats and vegetables the German soldier is fed so long as either fire or water is at hand. He can not starve unless he also thirsts.

The kitchen in the German army is pared to the absolute necessities, and this leaves a lot of wagon or truck train space for the conveyance of the food itself. Unlike the American army with its ponderous, if not cumbersome kitchen paraphernalia, the German utensil is confined to huge caldrons. Pots, pans, ovens and baker appliances are mobile and always at or near the supply base, and not a part of the field equipment. When nearness will permit, these trucks of more extensive equipment will temporarily join the field.

No Chance of Starving.

The huge caldrons packed full of meats and vegetables are quickly handled and easily moved. If the country around is fertile and can supply fresh meats or vegetables well and good, if it can not, and it is not expected now that Belgium can supply, the German gets his soup from the regular supply, soaks his hard bread in it and is fed, and well fed. The soup may get thin at times or the soldier's appetite may rebel at it, but the supply is there—and—it is regular and constant.

NO DECISION YET REACHED

Washington, Sept. 15.—H. von Eckhardt, the newly appointed German minister to Mexico, asked Secretary Bryan today when the United States would recognize a new government there and learned that no conclusion had been reached. The minister returned to New York where he will remain awaiting a decision by the American government as to the time for recognition, as Germany with other European powers, will not accredit her minister until the United States formally recognizes the new administration there. Before giving further consideration to recognition Secretary Bryan is awaiting the return of Paul Fuller, personal representative of President Wilson, who has been observing conditions in Mexico and interviewing General Carranza.

MORE AMERICANS HOME.

Holland-American Liner Brings Total of 1,272 to New York.

New York, Sept. 15.—With 1,804 passengers the Holland-American liner Potsdam arrived today from Rotterdam. Of the passengers 1,272 were Americans, many of whom had to wait several weeks in Holland to get home. The Potsdam was booked to her capacity and many Americans were in the steerage.

POLICE WILL ASSIST.

Ordered to Aid Street Car Conductors in Toledo.

Toledo, O., Sept. 15.—The power was shut off and every street car in Toledo was at a standstill between 11:58 and 12 this noon. At noon the order of Federal Judge Killits restraining the city from enforcing the 3-cent fare ordinance, in effect since March 27, became effective. The injunction was granted on the ground that the ordinance was confiscatory. City police were instructed to assist, if necessary, in collection of previously prevailing rates of fare, six tickets for 25 cents, except during morning and evening rush hours, when 3 cents will be accepted.

ADDITIONAL SOCIETY.

Mrs. August Becker, of West Williams street, celebrated her wedding anniversary last evening by entertaining a number of ladies. The house was beautifully decorated for the time, pink and white being the colors chosen, and many pink roses and garden flowers were used in all the rooms and pink rosebuds, pink candles and other dainty things for the table in the diningroom. The ladies visited and enjoyed a good time generally. Favors of rosebuds were given.

Owing to conditions it becomes immediately necessary to realize cash on the bulk of our merchandise, and we have decided to place the entire $125,000.00 stock on sale for adjustment. We have set a time limit, and it is not a question of price any more, but has become a question of time. Our purpose is to sell the bulk of our enormous stock before October 3rd, and commencing Wednesday, September 16th, at 9 o'clock, we will open our doors to the public on the most Gigantic Carnival of Bargains ever known. A Royal Carnival, indeed. A sale of marvel, offering the most alluring bargains. Every article of our stock will be included and must be sold in the allotted time. No other consideration is here given. This includes our new Fall and Winter merchandise. Nothing will be held back. Can you, dare you, in justice to yourself, overlook a chance like this? CLIMATE ON THE COAST AIDS 'EM

Kid Moehler has been canned.

Never heard of him? Well, the Woodland team, a San Francisco independent club, released him the other day because he slumped in his hitting. He will go down forgotten, although in many respects he has made the greatest record ever made by any baseball player.

Moehler played ball continually as a professional for more than twenty-six years, and probably played more games of baseball than many that ever lived.

Twenty-six years ago he jumped into the Eastern as one of the promising young pitchers. For three seasons he was considered a major league possibility. Something went wrong with his arm and because of his ability to hit and his knowledge of the game, he was given a job at second base. He went all over America, from league to league, club to club and finally reached the coast. The climate out there seemed to bring back his lasting arm and for a time he played great ball.

It is odd how those fellows last out in California. It must be the climate or something. A few years ago the Chicago White Sox were playing on the spring trip against Modesto. Of course no one had the line-up right and the visiting reporters had to skirmish for it.

There was a fellow scampering around second base. This second baseman had a familiar move in fielding and throwing.

It turned out to be "Grasshopper" McCarthy. That fellow was playing ball back when the game was in its infancy. He jumped the National league more than twenty years before. He also jumped a couple of other clubs, finally landed out on the coast and was forgotten.

And there he was playing second base with the speed of a champion and as fast in double plays as he ever was in his life. He may be playing there yet.

George McPartlan is another case. He pitched ball more than twenty years, and he still was lobbing them over, and he had a steady job at Waterbury, Conn. He was a California star in the early days of baseball out there.

George Van Haltren, who lasted until most of those who started with him were grandfathers, was a native son. There is a grower down at Monrovia named Morris who played with the Chicago White Sox when Anson was a boy, and who gets out and makes the town youngsters hustle even now to hold the pace with him.

Cost Kept Down—Quality Kept Up.
No better medicine could be made for coughs, colds, croup, hoarseness, tickling throat, bronchitis, etc., than Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. That's why they can't improve the quality, and war or no war, the price remains the same. E. J. Sargent, Dallas, Texas, says: "I believe Foley's Honey and Tar has no equal for it completely relieved me of all symptoms of tuberculosis and my cough has entirely disappeared." Don't accept any substitute, for Foley's Honey and Tar is the best. Dreier Drug Co.—Adv.

TWIN SISTER ASSISTS AZEVEDO IN HIS TRAINING FOR BOUTS.

Joe Azevedo and his twin sister, who is one of his most enthusiastic admirers. She is always present at his training camp and encourages him in his work. Joe has figured prominently in the short distance game on the Pacific coast, and recently stayed eighteen rounds with Charley White, of Chicago, who was touted as the most promising man in the lightweight division.

HAS CHANCE TO MAKE GOOD IN NAPOLEON LAJOIE'S PLACE.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 15.—There isn't a person connected with the Pacific Coast league who doesn't think Bill Rodgers, captain and second baseman of the Portland club, will make good with Cleveland next season. Rodgers has been the best keystone sack guardian in this league for three years, failing to become a major leaguer because Manager McCredie refused to sell him and was lucky enough not to have him drafted. Rodgers has captained the club into one pennant and from present indications will do so again this season.

Although Rodgers isn't a flashy player, he executes many difficult plays. He is a .300 hitter, leading base runner of the league, good run getter and always seems to do the right thing at the right time.

Rodgers will not find breaking into fast company strange either, as he will not be going among strangers, having played with several Cleveland players in this league. Many players failed to make good because they were not among friends.

Rodgers is around 26 years, but clean living has kept him from slowing up as most minor leaguers who have never had a chance in fast company do. Usually when a player turns 25 and hasn't received a chance to play in the "big brush" he doesn't care what happens and begins to slow up. Rodgers is good for ten years yet, barring accidents.

GUARANTEE FUND IS A NECESSITY

Organizations Without Them Always Fail to Hold for Season.

If the St. Paul Walther league basket ball players are able to carry out their idea of a strictly amateur league for Fort Wayne during the winter season there is one thing that should be insisted upon and that is a cash deposit from each club that enters to insure that it will finish out the schedule.

All talk about the dead game sport is silly rot. The dead game sport is all right a slong as things are coming his way, but when the break is against him he will welch just as quickly as the fellow who does not claim to be dead game.

Experience gained last winter lends to the belief that an amateur league could be maintained but there are very few organizations that ever complete a season without money on deposit to insure that players will finish. Winners are always ready to go the full length but the losers will quit any time, and if they can do so without financial loss they will do it.

The schedule could be so arranged that the clubs engaged in the campaign would have open dates enough to play out of town aggregations and this would lend variety and give every contestant a chance to keep up its expense account.

And this money shoul dcome from the players. The facts that some business firm might make a deposit for the advertising it would get is not sufficient. The advertising does not belong to the clubs and cannot be guaranteed. If the men on the clubs deposit their own money they will stick to the end to get it back and the schedule can be carried out.

St. Paul surprised the basket ball public by its good work last season, and while it may lose some players, it ought to put on an organization capable of holding its own. At a meeting Monday night Arnold Scherer and Fred Wehrenberg were appointed members of a committee to call upon the other organizations in the city staging basket ball with hopes of prevailing upon them to join a league of this sort. The selection of the basket ball manager was postponed for several weeks and the Walther leaguers voted to establish an athletic board of three which shall in turn appoint the basket ball manager and direct all athletic affairs.

A bowling league will be maintained on the St. Paul's alleys this winter, and Ot Sander, Elmer Koenig and Al Nahrwold are members of a committee which will direct the organization of the league.

DISTRICT SCHOOLS OPEN.

Began Annual Sessions in Various Townships Monday.

The Allen county schools, one hundred and ninety in number, began their fall work Monday morning with a larger force of instructors and many additions and improvements in the buildings. Superintendent D. O. McComb announces that he has received no word to the effect that there were any vacancies although he has as yet no complete list of all the teachers. However, a list of the instructors of Wayne and Washington townships has been compiled and is as follows: Wayne township, Nellie McKay, Adda Johnson, Mollie Ringwalt, Fannie Brown, Josephine Bennett, Pearl Townsend, S. J. Brubaker, Matilda Stolte, A. A. Ringwalt, Theresa Hammond and Ethel Connett; Washington township, Sophia Showe, Millie Pratt, Estella Waters, Ethel Allgeier, Bessie M. Meyers, E. A. Warner, Carrie Archer, Hazel Gessner and Alma Karriger.

Nearly twenty-five per cent. of the teachers of the county are new, some filling vacancies and others taking charge of new school districts. All the townships with the exception of one or two, have arranged to hold the monthly institutes of the township on the second Saturday in each month.

The county superintendent has some interesting statistics which show that the average daily attendance in the county last year was 4,192 and including the city it was 10,812. It is thought that the figures will increase greatly this year. The total valuation of the school property in this county last spring was $1,881,500.

Fall house-cleaning days are at hand. If you need new Shades or Lace Curtains remember Foster's.

Preliminary Bouts Are Tiresome and Never Interest Patrons.

Three ten-round bouts between boxers of sufficient ability to interest his patrons is the new idea advanced by Manager George Biemer, of the Summit City Athletic club, and in staging the opening card at the Majestic theater on Friday evening he will try this on the public.

Provided all the bouts go the limit, the card will provide a couple of hours of good amusement and at the popular prices that will prevail the quality and quantity ought to be ample to satisfy. Putting on the bouts at the Majestic theater is also a new idea. Princess rink has drawn some excellent crowds but there was a decide dslump last year in attendance and in an effort to ascertain the cause the location has been changed to a more central one.

Bill O'Connell will send down another boy to try for Frankie Mason's measure, something that most of the Chicago stable boxers have failed to do, and this time it will be George Girrard. Biemer asked for a good boy to put on in the semi-windup and the Chicago people seemed to think that George is the lad for the work and says he is rugged enough to stand any amount of punishing that Mason may be able to give him.

They also say he is something at that punching game himself and that unless the local boy is better than he has been for some time he will have a tough argument on his hands.

Young Klenke makes the third of the local boys on the bill as Glen Coakley is billed with Murphy in the feature event of the card. Kenke is to go over the ten-round route with Harry Riede, of Denver. It is proposed to make all three of these real boxing matches rather than to stage an opening list of events with a lot of joke fighters in the lot.

Barney Furey will replace Eddie Santry as referee. He is from Cincinnati, and is said to be a capable third man in the ring.

The suit you laid away in the spring will be suitable for wear again this fall if cleaned by our Quality Naptha process. Troy-American Dry Cleaning Co. Phone 6003.

MAJORS AFTER HENDRICKS.

Jack Hendricks

Hendricks is slated to manage the Cubs next year. He's now handling the Indianapolis team in the American association, a club that in one year he took from the bottom to a satisfactory spot in the race. Hendricks, never a great player when in the minor leagues, went to Denver from Fort Wayne and gave that Western league town three pennants in a row.

When the Denver owner, James McGill, bought the association club, Hendricks went with him. Now the majors want him. He will be the first minor leaguer to climb to such a position. And if he goes to the Cubs—well, just look out for him.

BOWLERS CHOOSE THEIR CAPTAINS

St. Mary's League Ready to Launch Season on the Alleys.

Eight clubs will constitute the bowling league of St. Mary's Athletic club this season and the men who will pilot the pinnists through the schedule are A. Michael Hoffman, Charley Parrot, Alex Kartholl, Henry Berghoff, John Hess, Arthur Stier, Carl Burlage and Chester Pearson.

Officers who will direct the league are: President—Charles M. Brink.
Vice President—Clarence Stier.
Secretary-Treasurer—Elmer Wunderlin.

All of the teams have not been named. The men are picked for them and they are ready for the word which will be given Monday evening, Sept. 28, if nothing interferes with present plans.

President Brink is preparing a schedule and it will be presented at a meeting to be held on Monday night, Sept. 21, and this will give the players a week to get in line for the opening.

The Saints have always maintained a successful league and the present season is about to open with excellent prospects and all of the best bowlers in line for the winter's work.

The class of 1918 of the Fort Wayne High and Manual Training school held a meeting Monday night and elected the following officers: Clarence Strodel, president; Helen Stopher, vice president, and Howard Shumbaugh, secretary and treasurer. Leroy Wright, Margaret Evans and Constance Bogart were chosen to represent the class in the social council.

75 MEN HEAR FINE SPECIAL PROGRAM

Notable Gathering of Bible Class of the Baptist Sunday School.

The special program upon which the men of the Bible class of the First Baptist Sunday school have been working for several months took place during the Sunday school hour Sunday, September 13, and over seventy-five men were present.

The principal object of the special program was the presenting to the Sunday school a large group picture of the present members of the class, there being seventy-eight in all included in the picture. In honor of this occasion the committee in charge arranged for several speeches by prominent business men of Fort Wayne and who are active and enthusiastic Sunday school workers.

The address of welcome by W. M. Mann, president of the class, was read by William Carter, first vice president, on account of Mr. Mann's absence, he having recently been transferred by the S. F. Bowser company to the managership of their district office at Dallas, Tex. After the address, which was especially fitting to the occasion, an excellent talk was given by B. Paul Mossman, of the Mossman-Yarnelle company, on the subject "Sunday School as a Character Builder." Mr. Mossman brought out very clearly the important part the Sunday school plays, not only in the lives of boys and girls, but also the men and women. The next talk was presented by George H. Van Arnam, of the Van Arnam Manufacturing company, his subject being "Why I Am Affiliated With Sunday School." This was especially appropriate, as it carried the main topic of discussion just one step further. The speaker's line of argument was very convincing and every one present could not help but appreciate the advantage of attending Sunday school. The third principal speaker was A. G. Burry, of the Fort Wayne Box company, who talked on the subject, "Busy Successful Business Men as Sunday School Workers." No one could be better qualified to talk on this subject than Mr. Burry and the talk he gave brought home to the heart of each man present the duty which is his and how much good he can do by being an active Sunday school worker.

E. D. Farr, second vice president of the class, as well as a member of the committee who had this special program in charge, closed the special exercises by presenting to the Sunday school the large group picture of the class. Mr. Farr laid particular stress on the class motto, "The Other Fellow," and urged upon every man present to carry out this motto so that the Men's Bible class of the First Baptist Sunday school would become not only the largest and greatest men's class in Fort Wayne, but also in the state of Indiana.

It is the idea of the class to use this group picture as a means for boosting the class, and, to be sure, it is going to play a very important part in doing this.

There is no question from the enthusiasm and interest taken in the exercises Sunday but what the Men's Bible class of the First Baptist Sunday school is going to do things and prove to be an important factor for good in Fort Wayne.

The class is now preparing a special booklet taking in the events of the program on Sunday, and which they are going to use in reaching the "Other Fellow" and increasing the attendance to the one hundred mark, or better. A cordial invitation is extended to all the men of Fort Wayne to attend the Sunday morning meetings of this class and receive the benefit of the frank and open discussions of the teachings of Christ Jesus as they apply in our every day life.

H. O. Chilton, chairman of the committee which has been working upon this special program for some time, is to be especially commended; as it is principally due to his untiring efforts that the exercises met with such success.

Temco Shock Absorbers

Have Solved the Problem of the Road

A Shock Absorber for Ford Cars

WHEN you buy an electric light bulb for your home, you improve it with a shade—and you get in return a greatly increased service and pleasure from your lamp. When you add a set of Temco Shock Absorbers to a Ford Car, you bring to its owner a new delight in driving and riding—a sense of pleasure from the superb service of the springs beneath.

The Ford is universally recognized as the greatest car value today and in addition to this service, you can now add the ease and pleasure heretofore known only to cars with bodies heavy enough to tax a leaf spring and force it under control.

Temco Shock Absorbers represent the scientific application of a system of double spiral auxiliary springs—between the car and its body—to take and absorb the shock or jerk or jolt before it can reach the body and its occupants.

The old pitching, jerking and jolting over the rough places is a thing of the past. The irritating vibration ceases. Temco Shock Absorbers give a gentle up and down buoyant swing on the roughest going. They take up all the sharp jars of paved streets. Stiffness vanishes. They give the car great flexibility—making steering as easy as on the smooth street—reduce friction between motor and running gear—preserve the alignment—save repair and upkeep expense—save tires—keep the car in better condition, thus adding to its sales value.

OPERA STAR WHO PRAISES THE KAISER.

To Miss Helen Stanley, who is known as Mary the Second, because of her likeness to Mary Garden, Germany is a fine place to live in and the Germans are simply splendid. She said that the treatment she received while in Berlin was almost the acme of courtesy, and she is thoroughly imbued with the belief that Germany is more sinned against than sinning. Her blue eyes flashed as she sat in a New York hotel after her arrival aboard the Rotterdam, of the Holland-America line, every time anybody hinted that the Kaiser was to blame for the war. Miss Stanley said that not once was she taken for a spy, nor did she suffer any indignities in the Teuton's country. When the reporter left [illegible]

A. J. CASH TO COME TO Y. M. C. A.

Board Engages Him as General Secretary Beginning December 1.

Andrew J. Cash will assume the duties of general secretary of the Railroad Y. M. C. A. December 1. This is the result of a conference Monday night between the management of the board of the Railroad Y. M. C. A. and Mr. Cash, who came here for that purpose. Mr. Cash has had ten years' experience in Y. M. C. A. work. For eight years he was assistant secretary at Hamilton, O., with charge of one of the branches in that city, and for the past two years he has been general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Logansport. He possesses to a remarkable degree the requirements of a first-class Y. M. C. A. worker, being young, of pleasing address and very energetic. He was recently married to a young lady who is also greatly interested in religious work and who will be of great assistance to her husband in his work in Fort Wayne. As previously stated, General Secretary H. A. Philley does not care to retain the office longer than is necessary for the association to find some good man for the position, which he believes they have accomplished. He took charge of the affairs soon after the resignation of W. S. Whitbeck, at the urgent request of the management of the association, and he will turn the work over to his successor with a membership more than double the number it had when he took charge. Mr. Philley has been chief clerk for the Pennsylvania road foreman of engines department for many years, a desirable and responsible position, and he believes he would be doing himself and family an injustice to retire from the service of the Pennsylvania company at this late period. Messrs. Fishering, Goff and Paxton, composing a committee from the Young Men's Forward Congress, met with the Y. M. C. A. managing board last night in the interest of the work the two associations are carrying on. The Railroad Y. M. C. A. board cordially received the visitors and invited them to co-operate with the Y. M. C. A. in advancing the cause of religion. The Forward Congress favors establishing a general Y. M. C. A. and building of headquarters in Fort Wayne. The members are Bible students from all denominations in the city.

VETERAN RAILROADER ILL.

All railroad men and men in other walks of life will be pained to learn that Charles W. Buck sustained a slight stroke of paralysis Sunday, the second since last July. His condition is not regarded serious, though the patient is upwards of eighty years old. Mr. Buck is one of the pioneer railroad men of the city, having worked on some of the Fort Wayne lines when they were under course of construction. He has not been actively engaged in railroad work for some years, but he keeps close in touch with the "boys" and is particularly interested in the Railroad Y. M. C. A.

HENRY DOELL QUITS RAILROAD.

September 30 will mark the end of service of Henry Doell with the Pennsylvania. He will go to Chicago October 1 to take a position with his uncle, H. L. Schroeder, who is extensively engaged in the manufacture of bakery supplies. It is an old and well established concern and offers Mr. Doell better opportunities for advancement than does the railroad. Henry Doell has been employed in a clerical capacity about fourteen years by the Pennsylvania and the greater portion of that time he has been in the division superintendent's offices.

John B. Fowler, chief clerk for Division Storekeeper C. P. Cherry, of the Pennsylvania, will take a two weeks' vacation, beginning next Monday. He will spend the time at Pittsburg and will be accompanied by Mrs. Fowler and their son.

John McCoy, Wabash machinist, who had some fingers crushed—one so badly that it was amputated—a week or more ago, has left the St. Joseph hospital and gone to his home, 1340 Park avenue. He is getting along first rate, the attending surgeon says.

Foreman Joseph Schwartzkopf, of the punch department of the Fort Wayne Electric works, resumed that duty this morning. For a week he was at Latty lake and while there made the phenomenal record of catching twenty-one of twenty-two bass that struck his hook.

The Fort Wayne Drug company's ball team certainly has pluck, if it does not possess great abilities on the diamond. It has challenged the team at the shipping room of the Electric works for another game, to be played at Lawton park Saturday afternoon. Twice the electricians have defeated the druggists.

The board of management of the Penn Y. M. C. A. are about to favorably consider the application of H. H. Davis, of Dennison, Texas, for the position of secretary. The Penn Y. M. C. A. has been without a secretary ever since Mr. Hogue resigned to take charge of an association in the west.

J. B. Brown, of 320 East Williams street, inspector for the Pennsylvania, received word from Chicago yesterday to the effect that his daughter, Mrs. Cecil Gray, had undergone an operation for appendicitis, and although very sick, is getting along as well as could be expected. This was the first information Mr. Brown had of his daughter's illness and it came as a surprising shock.

Railroad lines which enter the city of Cleveland, including the Nickel Plate, Lake Shore and Wheeling and Lake Erie, may abolish their uptown offices or combine them into one large office, say reports today from Cleveland. This move, if taken, will be another step in the retrenchment policy of the roads, the uptown offices being said to result in an expense which has become burdensome, amounting to many thousands of dollars with no way by which this extra outlay may be gotten back.

James Barnes, porter at the Wabash passenger station, and Miss Lola Johnson, whose parents reside out west of Lindenwood cemetery, were quietly married by the pastor of the Colored Baptist church last night at 10 o'clock. The ceremony took place at the parsonage, 533 Holman street, and immediately afterwards the bride and groom went to the home of her parents, where they will reside for awhile. This wedding is the happy result of an advertisement in The Sentinel and is only one of the many incidents illustrating the value of the advertising department of the paper. Mr. Barnes is said to be one of the best porters the Wabash ever had at its passenger station in this city. He is courteous and attentive to the patrons and looks carefully to the sanitary condition of the premises.

After lingering for several weeks, suffering from spinal meningitis resulting from electrocution, Robert Quinn, aged 17, only child of Mr. and Mrs. French Quinn, died last night. Several weeks ago the boy while working on a milk car on the Fort Wayne & Springfield railway, came in contact with his head on the overhead trolley wire, receiving the full voltage. The father is receiver for the Fort Wayne & Springfield railway and the family is heavily stricken as a daughter, Miss Reba, a student at Northwestern university, died last spring after a short illness of mastoid tumor.

Curtis Defeats Haines in Gubernatorial Race in Maine.

Potland, Me., Sept. 15.—The democratic victory in Maine's state election yesterday was measured by the 3,587 plurality by which Mayor Oakley C. Curtis, of Portland, defeated Governor Wm. T. Haines, republican, for re-election, according to unofficial returns from all but 37 of the 521 cities and towns today. All four congressmen, three republicans and one democrat were re-elected.

In a vote heavier than that cast at the last presidential election, both Haines and Curtis ran well ahead of the Taft and Wilson figures, while the progressive vote cast for Halbert P. Gardner, the head of the ticket, showed a pronounced slump from that cast for Roosevelt.

The comparative returns available for 484 cities and towns give:

Haines, republican, 57,662; Taft, republican, 26,121.

Curtis, democrat, 61,249; Wilson, democrat, 50,451.

Gardner, progressive, 17,443; Roosevelt, progressive, 47,048.

The total vote at hand, 136,354, exceeded that from the same places in 1912 by 11,878. The republicans showed an increase of 31,541 against a progressive loss of 30,461. The democratic gain was 10,798.

Incomplete returns on the legislature indicated that on a joint ballot the democrats had 74 votes, a gain of nine; the republicans 57, a loss of 7, and the progressives 2, a loss of 1.

No material change was anticipated from the complete returns.

While perfect weather was a factor yesterday, political observers credit the increase in the vote to the interest aroused by the participation in the campaign of more speakers of national prominence than ever before were sent into Maine in an off year.

Our complete showing of fall dress suits and furnishings is now on display.

GETTING DOWN TO THE FOUNDATION OF PIANO VALUE

No matter what name is on your piano, its quality as a musical instrument is dependent solely upon how well every workman who touches it does his individual work in relation to the work of every other man.

THE PACKARD PIANO FACTORY is operated along lines of mutual interest, mutual confidence, mutual responsibility, and mutual opportunity among all the men—officers and workmen alike—that gives each one of them a personal incentive to put himself into his work without reserve, and that make him feel secure in doing so.

The name Packard on a piano means that this spirit among the men that make it has been put into the quality of it. Because of this spirit, and its effect upon the product of the Packard Piano Factory, it will pay you to

FRENCH FAILED TO BREAK GERMAN LINE

Berlin, Via Amsterdam and London, Sept. 15.—The German general staff today gave out the following official announcement:

"In the western theater of war the right wing of our army has been engaged in heavy but undecisive battles. The French, who endeavored to break through our lines, were victoriously defeated.

"At other pints where there has been fighting no decisive results have been reached.

Another day has passed without news of the great battle near Paris, concerning which no reports nor details have been available since a week ago.

The general staff, in response to a query, characterized the general situation as "favorable" but refrained from any comment whatever over the course of events since the first days of the English-French attacks and the withdrawal of the German right wing on Sept. 6.

A report which was in circulation in parliamentary circles last night that the operations had already resulted in a great victory, found no confirmation. On the contrary it appears that the battle can still last some time. A contest of such great extent and from which so much depends will not be decided in a short time.

The Belgian army, which is quite surrounded according to statements here has been attempting, through repeated sorties, from Antwerp, to play at least a part in the war. (The censor here has deleted further reference to the operations around Antwerp.)

Reports came of some battles with scattered French contingents in southern Alsace near Than, Gebweiler and Sulz, but with exception of these there are no news from the west.

The Germans presumably are pushing reinforcements forward and the announcement that their armies with a united front have resumed the offensive, may perhaps be expected in two or three days. Much probably depends on the rapidity with which the army under the crown prince completes the isolation of Verdun, and shakes itself loose from this obstacle in order to be in a position to resume major operations.

ARMY OF CROWN PRINCE IN PERIL

London, Sept. 15.—(5:10 a. m.)—The correspondent of the Times at Bordeaux, dealing with what he terms the precarious position of the German crown prince who is threated with complete envelopment if he seeks his fortune in the plains of Chalons, says:

"It is possible that if he is strong enough to hold the Argonne forest that the Germans may complete a change of front and swing their armies on the pivot of Argonne round to the Meuse valley, in which case Gen. von Kluck's army will find itself in the position of outside running, such as at the bend of a racing track, and might be unable to get around in time.

"It looks at present as though the whole German army is withdrawing to make a stand on the Peronne-St. Quentin-Vervins-Mezieres line, which would give them a line of retreat through Luxemberg. This is known to have been prepared by the sappers for a determined defense."

MAY CLOSE THEIR CHURCHES.

Methodists in Germany Hampered by Lack of Funds.

New York, Sept. 15.—Methodist congregations in Germany are facing the necessity of closing the doors of their churches and, in a great many instances, selling their property for whatever it will bring, owing to their inability to meet financial obligations.

This information came in a letter received yesterday at the home office of the board of foreign missions of the Methodist Episcopal church from Bishop John L. Nuelson, who is in charge of the church work in Europe.

The members of the German congregations, Bishop Nuelson wrote, are crushed by the heavy burdens imposed upon them by the war, and great suffering is anticipated among the families of some of those who have fallen in battle.

BEVERIDGE OPENS STATE CAMPAIGN

Senatorial Candidate Tears Into Old Parties at Terre Haute.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 15.—With "Permanent Prosperity" as the title of his speech and the slogan of the Indiana progressives in this year's battle, Albert J. Beveridge formally opened the progressive state campaign last night before an audience that filled Young's Garden theater. The former senator was greeted with an ovation.

In his address Mr. Beveridge assailed Roger C. Sullivan of Illinois and attacked the democratic tariff law as "unfair and unjust."

"Day in and day out for months we have been told by standpat politicians nothing except that those who believe in progressive principles, policies and measures have deserted their faith and gone back to one or the other of the two old parties," Mr. Beveridge said. "This is their whole campaign. Not an argument do they make, not a helpful suggestion do they offer in the public interest.

"We speak of the great hopes and sore needs of the people; and the standpat oligarchy answers only with abuse and the silly cry, 'The progressives are going back.'

"We declare that such labor as murders the bodies, minds and souls of American children must be ended, and show how it can be done; and the standpat gang retorts only that 'The progressives are going back.' It is their idea of 'playing politics.'

"They declare the republican party has cleansed itself of those leaders and influences which overthrew that party and that it has, at last, also become progressive."

Assails Cannon and Sullivan.

Mr. Beveridge then "called the roll" of old republican machines and bosses still ruling—in Maine, the Hale-Burleigh machine; in Massachusetts, the Crane-Lodge-Weeks; in Connecticut, Brandegee and Aldrich; in New Hampshire, Gallinger; in New York, the Barnes-Root combine; in Pennsylvania, Penrose. He cited other states and said:

"In Illinois, Cannon, McKinley, Mann and others of the oligarchy which overthrew the republican party are republican nominees for congress; the crafty stand-pat Sherman is the republican candidate for senator, and the vicious Illinois machine is running the republican party in the state of Abraham Lincoln.

"All over the country the old reactionary machines are again making headway in the democratic party.

"Only last Wednesday Roger Sullivan, whom Mr. Bryan denounced as a 'trust robber' and who heads the Illinois Tammany just as Taggart heads the Indiana democratic Tammany and Murphy heads the New York democratic Tammany, was nominated as the democratic candidate for the senate, and now is running on the democratic ticket for senator of Illinois.

"Here in Indiana the Taggart-Fairbanks-Bell-Roberts machine is the absolute master of the democratic party."

Mr. Beveridge reiterated the principles of the progressive party, saying, among other things: "We wish to take business out of politics." His party, he believed, could bring "permanent prosperity."

SUBMARINE IS SENT TO DOOM

London, Sept. 15.—5:05 a. m.) The Scotsman today states that the German submarine which sank the British cruiser Pathfinder has itself been sunk. On Wednesday last, according to the account, a part of the British fleet on the lookout for German submarines became aware of the near presence of one. The British vessels divided when the submarine appeared with only its periscope showing.

With grim patience the British cruiser waited for the reappearance of the submarine, which occurred in a dramatic fashion. By some miscalculation, probably in a final effort to escape the cruisers, the submarine's conning tower and upper structure suddenly appeared in the midst of the English vessels. The conning tower had hardly broken the surface of the water when the first British gun marked it. The doomed vessel was within range of seven British cruisers and from every one of them guns crashed out. In ten seconds seven shots entered the frail shell of the submarine.

Andrew Carnegie to Supply Funds For Symbolic Spectacle.

New York, Sept. 15.—Andrew Carnegie in an effort to spread the idea of world wide peace, is to furnish the money to produce a symbolic spectacle to be called "The Prince of Peace" according to an announcement made last night by a well known theatrical producer of this city.

This producer said he had completed the first plans for the production at Mr. Carnegie's direction and that the drama would be staged at an early date in New York. Mr. Carnegie is now on his way to America, it was said, and when he arrives the final plans for the production will be announced.

WOUNDED PRINCE IS ANXIOUS TO FIGHT

Berlin, Sept. 14.—Via London, Sept. 15.—7:05 a. m. The wound of Prince Joachim, the youngest son of Emperor William, is healing rapidly, despite the effect of shrapnel ball through the thigh. The empress and the surgeons are having considerable trouble in keeping the patient quiet in bed. He wants to get on his feet again and insists that he ought to be able to rejoin his command at the front in about a fortnight.

The prince treats the wound as a trifle. He smilingly greeted an old palace servant whom he had known since childhood with the remark, "Am I a lucky dog!"

From an officer who was with Prince Joachim when he was wounded the following rescription of the incident has been obtained:

"It was during the hottest part of the battle, shortly before the Russian resistance was broken, that the prince, who was with the staff as information officer, was dispatched to the firing line to learn how the situation stood.

"He rode off with Adjutant Captain von Tahlzahn and had to travers the distance, almost a mile, under a heavy hail of shell and occasional volleys.

"As the Russian artillery was well served, and knew all the ranges from previous measurements, the ride was not a particularly pleasant one, but he came through safely and stood talking with the officers when a shrapnel burst in their vicinity. The prince and the adjutant were both hit, the latter receiving contusions of the leg, but the shot not penetrating.

"To stop and whip out an emergency bandage which the prince, like every officer and private carries sewed inside the blouse and bind it around the thigh to check the bleeding, was the work of but a moment. It was a long and dangerous task, however, to get him back to the first bandaging station, about a mile to the rear, under fire, and from there he was transported to the advanced hospital at Allenstein, where he remained until he was able to travel.

"Prince Joacham, who was already recommended for the iron cross for bravery before Namur, received the decoration shortly before he was wounded. The prince, who has many friends in America, conveyed through his adjutant his thanks for assurances of American sympathy and interest."

The Cologne Volkszeitung says that according to reports from officers, Col von Reuter, of Zabern fame, fell in France while leading the twelfth grenadier regiment. His father fell in 1866, as commander of the same regiment.

DYING WISH IS FULFILLED.

Bill Desired by Mrs. Wilson to Abolish Slums to Become Law.

Washington, Sept. 15.—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson's dying wish that congress abolish the alley slums in the national capital was fulfilled yesterday when the house passed the separate bill which prohibits the use of dwelling houses in Washington alleys after four years from the date of legislation. The bill now goes to the president for his signature.

A few hours before Mrs. Wilson died she told the president that she could "go away" happier if she knew the alley slums would be wiped out. Word was sent to the capital and the house district committee promptly reported a bill carrying a large appropriation to clear the slums. The house did not pass the measure as reported because of constitutional objections. The senate, however, passed another bill carrying out an old act providing for abolition of the slums, but cutting the time limit from eight to four years. The house accepted this as a substitute, acceptable to the white house and it will become law.

"WE CAME PLUMP ON THEM ROUND A CORNER OF A LITTLE VILLAGE."

ENGLISH AND GERMAN CAVALRY DUEL WITH SWORDS IN FRANCE—From a drawing by Philip Daud, who made this picture for the story told a correspondent by a British huzzar: "We ran plump on a party of the German 4th cuirassiers round a corner of a little village. Absolute surprise for both of us. Before you could wink we were flying at one another as hard as the horses could go, and the villagers were yelling and scrambling into the houses on either side of the road. There was no firing, it was absolutely a proper cavalry charge, like you see in the pictures—horses going hell-for-leather and every man sitting hunched up under the No. 1 guard and hoping he wouldn't get his knees crushed by the fellows on each side of him. Lighter though they were, the Hussars went at a pace that more than compensated for their inferior weight. The Cuirassiers in full stride and on fresh horses might have ridden over us, but, slower at the 'take-off' and, as was subsequently proved, mounted on horses already ridden to death, they were taken at a tremendous disadvantage. Twenty-seven of theme were killed and twelve were taken prisoners."

SURRENDER OF GEN. VON KLUCK REPORTED

London, Sept. 15.—2:00 p. m.—The correspondent of the Central News at Dieppe, under date of Monday, Sept. 14, submits a report that the German army under Gen. von Kluck has been forced to surrender.

The correspondent says:

"A report has reached Dieppe that the extreme left of the allies, after making an encircling movement by way of Roye and Ham and joining a force from the Boulogne district, has compelled Gen. von Kluck to surrender with, according to one statement, 14,000 men, an daccording to another statement with 25,000 men and a quantity of guns and war materials.

General von Kluck has been operating on the German right wing, and has consequently been opposed to the left wing of the allies. His army has been retiring before the allies for several days.

Roye and Ham are to the southeast of Amiens, and were occupied by the Germans two days ago. Recent reports show that these towns are now in the possession of the allies.

SHOWING PAPERS TO THE LOCAL CURE AT NIGHT GERMAN PRISONERS AT FRENCH RAILWAY STATION

In this drawing the artist shows how the French villages are guarded at night. Every village is guarded by old men left behind, and it fares ill with a stranger if his papers are not in order. As most of the schoolmasters have left, the tottering curé is looked to for a decision.

In this picture the war artist of the London Sphere and this paper shows German prisoners of war at a French railway station. The German private soldier accepts his situation as a prisoner with calmness and equanimity, but the officer does not seem able to realize the situation and seems incapable of adjusting his mind to his environment.

Mary Large Has Place Among Worth While Folk

J. W. Church Discusses in Interesting Fashion the Life and Work of Woman Born and Reared in Fort Wayne.

MARY S. LARGE.

(Miss Mary Large is the daughter of Rev. Joseph S. Large, many years ago rector of Trinity Episcopal church in this city, and was born in Fort Wayne. Her sister, Josephine Large, was one of the charter members of the Morning Musical society, and with Miss Minnie Anderson, founded a music school here. Mary Large was for some years bookkeeper for a big Chicago business concern and then went south to get material for a book she purposed writing. The sketch which follows was written by J. W. Church, and appeared in the magazine section of a Louisville newspaper.)

I met her first in a rambling dilapidated livery stable that caters to the limited demand for common carriers in a mountain valley of North Carolina.

A group of half-grown negro boys, the inevitable corollary of every southern stable, were idling about the place. Most of them were sprawled in the rock-strewn doorway, half asleep. Suddenly one of these sprang to his feet and made for the rear of the stable.

"What yo' gwine in sich a powaful hurry?" demanded one of the loungers. "Ain't seed no ghost, is yo'?"

"Ah done seed somethin' Ah doan like no better," the disappearing negro threw over his shoulder. "Dar come dat Mis' Large!"

In less than ten seconds the only visible member of that stable crew was the chuckling negro who was hitching up my rig.

A moment later Miss Large entered—a capable rather stern-faced woman, with a twinkle playing about her eyes, which instantly convinced me she had seen or sensed the wholesale getaway that preceded her.

"Good morning, Jackson," she said to the grinning hostler. "Find Sam for me, please. You can tell him it's an easy trip this time. I'm only going to Jugtown and back."

Then I understood, partly; for I knew Jugtown, and the thirty miles of almost inconceivably bad roads to be traversed before the return.

Needless to say, Sam was speedily captured, and drove sheepishly away with the imperturbable Miss Large, a target for the jests of the boys who had escaped conscription.

Anyone in Tyrone—and there are about a thousand people—will tell you that Miss Mary Large always gets to the place she starts for; likewise eventually gets what she went after; and the last attribute has classed her as almost a miracle worker in these mountains.

There have been innumerable novels, stories, brochures, tracts and scientific monographs written about the southern mountaineer, and his varied and inconsistent characteristics painted with all the word pigment at the particular author's command. Most of these have glimpsed and barely glimpsed at that—the truth. It takes a lifetime for the ordinary observer to understand the physical life and mental processes of the mountain man and his woman; to break through the peculiar mental stockade into which they unconsciously withdraw when the stranger would trespass upon their inner life. All of which is necessary to a proper understanding of Mary Large and the wonderful work she is doing for the mountain people of the south.

Living for a time in Hull House, Chicago, probably stimulated her sympathetic insight and seasoned her judgment. A trip into the Cumberland range on a summer vacation, where she came into personal contact with mountain life in the raw, furnished the inspiration to make those poverty-stricken, cheerless, ambitionless lives a little more livable and with rare judgment she prepared herself for the life task.

Of course, she must have had a genuine, fundamental fact on which to build—and she had. It was the knowledge gained that summer, that in almost every instance the ancestors of these people were skilled workers in many crafts. You can still see fragments of good craftsmanship in almost every mountain cabin, and in many you can trace its decline through each generation down to the crude, almost useless weaving, pottery, basket work and furniture-making of the present.

To stimulate the ambition of these mountain folk, to revive their half or wholly forgotten industries, and by this means convert their many idle days into interesting, profitable work and reclaim their neglected heritage of honest craftsmanship this was the rather appalling task Mary Large decided to undertake.

That she must be able to weave a rug, cane a chair, make a basket or mold a vase better than any mountaineer or his woman, Miss Large knew to be absolutely essential to her success. So for more than two years she toiled over looms in Germany, Sweden, Denmark and Hungary until the art and mechanics of weaving were mastered. In the other branches she intended to revise her study was equally thorough and earnest. And well it might be. Not only are the mountain folk quick tempered, suspicious of strangers, and resentful of interference, but they are as a rule well satisfied with what they do, and if you yourself can not take their own tools and force them to admit you are a better craftsman, your time is wasted.

Equipped with this knowledge, a shrewd insight into the nature with which she had to deal, and a grim determination to win, Mary Large went back into the fastnesses of the Cumberland range. Over almost impassable trails, into cabins all but lost in the mountains, she found her way. Many a broken or discarded loom she dragged dust-laden from its hiding place, mended, and went to work.

She taught the women to weave, and weave right—not as the skilled Hungarians wove, for Miss Large has an excellent sense of fitness and proportion, and has firmly held her pupils to the best type of work done in these homes in the past.

After she had the loom at work, the chair caned, or whatever the work might be she offered to buy at a fair price every product that approached the standard she set. With rare diplomacy arguments and quick tempered or sullen defense of poor work were twisted into instruction. It required considerable subtlety to evolve her system of avoiding offense.

Where the work was poorly done, but showed signs of improvement, Miss Large would buy it.

"Now this belongs to me," she would firmly tell the woman who made it, "and I have a right to say what I want to about it. That's fair, isn't it?"

It sounded reasonable, and it was. But if the woman had known the ripping, scorching lecture she had let herself in for, together with the piecemeal destruction of her work to illustrate the subject, the assent would never have been obtained. Once given, however, their peculiar pride does not permit any backsliding. The work belonged to Miss Large, and she could do what she pleased with it. And Miss Large hasn't ever hesitated to do it, either.

Of course there have been instances, many of them, where she had had everything short of blows to contend with; but almost invariably the family will come back into her fold. They think it over for a few days—and conclude the lady was right.

Nearly three years ago Miss Large transferred her labors from Kentucky to the even wilder mountain ranges in Western North Carolina.

When she came to Tyron and announced her purpose there were only two opinions amongst the residents. The majority believed she was wasting her time, that she would never gain the confidence and assistance of the mountain folk; the majority outspokenly averred she wouldn't do anybody any good if she did.

In less than a year the unflagging courage and persistence of Mary Large had set both opinions at naught. By day and night she traveled every road and trail that led into and over the mountains for a score of miles in every direction from Tyron. After a few months the "exhibition room" of her little red cottage in Tyron began to show the results of her work. It was a crude collection, these first efforts; but with surprising rapidity the standard was advanced, and a steady stream of mountain men and women came diffidently to her door with their product, much of it brought many miles over the worst of roads and trails.

Everything that meets with her approval she buys, or finds a ready market for through channels she has established. Last winter she held an exhibition of mountain work in Chicago, taking with her two women, neither of whom had ever been on a railroad train before.

On their return two weeks later the women were asked how they enjoyed the trip, and what they thought of Chicago. Words failed one, and she remained silent. The other, a woman well past sixty, had formed a clear and definite idea of the Windy City.

"Hit was jes' like I figgered heaven mought be!" was her reply.

Mary Large can not give all of the seventy mountain families whom she has at work a glimpse of heaven, or Chicago; but the natural result of stimulated ambition, friendly competition and more money for the real necessities of decent life is already clearly apparent in the homes within the ever-widening zone of her influence.

It's the hardest sort of life, this that Mary Large voluntarily chose, and devoid of the thing we call worldly profit; but in possessing that which is worth while to give, and in giving it freely and wisely, unhampered by creed or cult, I consider this remarkable mountain missionary about the wealthiest woman I have ever known.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at first sign of Bladder irritation or Backache.

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.—Adv.

THE SLAYING OF THE LIEUTENANT OF HUSSARS AND ITS RESULT.

(Editor's Note.—The Daily Sentinel has obtained serial rights to this wonderful story of the woman's side of war which was just produced in photoplay form by the Great Northern Film Co., of Copenhagen, Denmark, staged on the same ground where the war is now going on a few weeks before it broke out.

By Baroness Bertha Von Suttner,
(Famous Austrian Novelist and Peace Advocate and in 1905 Winner of the Nobel Peace Prize.)

CHAPTER IV.

We could not tear ourselves out of this embrace as though it were our last. Then on a sudden I felt how his lips were trembling, how convulsively his bosom heaved, and then, releasing me, he covered his face and sobbed aloud.

That was too much for me. I thought I was going out of my mind.

"Arno, Arno," I cried out, throwing my arms around his, "stay, stay!"

I knew I was asking what was impossible, still I cried out persistently, "Stay, stay!"

"Lieutenant," we heard from outside, "it is now quite time."

One more kiss—the last of all—and he rushed out.

* * *

The list of killed had already brought the names of several officers whom I had known personally. Among others, that of the son—her only one—of an old lady for whom I had conceived a great feeling of respect.

That day I determined to visit the poor lady. It was, for me, a painful, heavy journey. I could certainly give her no consolation—could only weep with her. But it was the duty of affection, and so I set out.

When I got to Frau Ullmann's dwelling, I long hesitated before pulling the bell. The last time I had been there was to a cheerful little dance. The dear old mistress of the house was herself then full of joy. "Martha," she said to me in the course of the evening, "we are the two most enviable women in Vienna. You have the handsomest of husbands, and I the most excellent of sons."

And today? I still, indeed, had my husband. But who knows? The shells and grape-shot were flying there still without ceasing. The minute just past might have made me a widow; and I began to weep before the door.

That was the proper temper for so mournful a visit. I rang. No one came. I rang a second time. Again no answer. Then some one put his head out of the door of one of the other floors.

"It is no good ringing, miss. The dwelling is empty."

"What! Has Frau v. Ullmann gone?"

"She was taken to a lunatic asylum three days since." And the head disappeared again as the door shut.

I remained for a minute or two motionless, rooted to the spot, and the scenes which much have been going on here passed before my eyes. To what a height must the poor lady's sufferings have risen before her agony broke out in madness!

"And there is my father wishing that the war might last thirty years for the welfare of the country! How many more such mothers in the country would have been driven to desperation!"

I went down the stairs shaken to my inmost depth. I determined that I would pay another visit to a young lady, a friend of mine, whose husband, like mine, was at the theater of war.

My way led me through the Herrengasse, past the building called the Landhaus, where the Patriotic Aid association had established its offices.

At that time there was not as yet any convention of Geneva, any Red Cross, and this aid association had been formed as a forerunner of these humane institutions, its task being to receive alms of all kinds, in money, linen, charpie, bandages, etc., for the poor wounded, and forward them to the seat of war.

The gifts came flowing in abundantly from all sides; it was necessary to have whole shops to receive them, and scarcely were the different articles packed up and sent off when new ones were piled up again in their place.

I went in. I was in distress till I could hand over to the committee all that I had in my purse. Perhaps that might bring health and deliverance to some suffering soldier, and save his mother from madness.

I knew the president. "Is Prince C— here?" I asked the porter.

"Not just now. But the vice president, Baron S—, is upstairs."

He showed me the way to the room where the alms in money were paid. I had to pass through several halls, where on long tables were the packets lying in rows. Parcels of linen, cigars, tobacco and especially mountains of charpie. It made me shudder.

How many wounds must be bleeding there, to be covered with all this torn linen? "And there was my father," I thought again, "wishing that for the country's good the war might last another thirty years! How many of the country's sons must in that case sink under their wounds!"

Baron S— received my contribution with thanks and gave me the most ready information about the working of the association in reply to my numerous questions.

* * *

My friend was at home.

Countess Lori Griesbach was in more than one respect the sharer of my lot. A general's daughter, like me—married for only a short time to an officer, like me—and, like me, a "grass widow." In one thing she went beyond me—she had not only a husband, but two brothers also at the war. But Lori was not of an apprehensive nature; she was fully persuaded that her dear ones were under the peculiar protection of a saint whom she highly venerated, and she counted confidently on their return.

"She received me wth open arms.

"Ah! God bless you, Martha; it is indeed good of you to come and see me. But how pale and worn you are looking; you have not had any bad news from the seat of war?"

"No, thank God! But the whole thing is so sad."

"Ah, yes! You mean the defeat. But you must not think too much of that; the next news may announce a victory."

"Whether we conquer or are conquered, war is in itself dreadful altogether. Would it not be better if there could be nothing of the kind?"

"Then what would be the good of soldiers?"

"What, indeed!" I assented; "then there would be none——"

"What nonsense you are talking. That would be a nice state of things; nothing but civilians! It makes me shudder. Happily that is impossible."

"Impossible? Yes, you must be right. I will believe so, or else I could not conceive that it would not long since have happened."

"What happened?"

"The abolition of war. But, no, I might as well talk of the abolition of earthquakes."

"I don't know what you mean. As far as I am concerned I am glad this war has broken out, because I hope that my Louis will distinguish himself. And for my brothers, too, it is a good thing. Promotion has been going on so slowly; now they have at least a chance."

"Have you had any news lately?" I interrupted? Are your relatives all well?"

"No, not for a pretty long time now. But, you know, the postal service is often interrupted, and when people are tired out with a hot march or a battle, they have not much taste for writing. I am quite easy. Both Louis and my brothers wear blessed amulets. Mamma hung them on herself."

"What would you expect to happen, Lori, in a war in which every man in both armies wore an amulet? If the bullets were flying on both sides, would they retire back into the clouds and do no harm?"

"How excited you get, my love. But let us speak reasonably; so listen to me. In a short time the war will be over and our husbands will come back captains. I will then try to get mine to obtain four or six weeks' leave and take a trip with me to a watering place.

"It will do him good after all the fatigues he will have undergone; and me also, after the heat, and the ennui, and the anxiety I have undergone. For you must not think that I have no fear at all. It may be God's will after all that one of my dear ones should meet with a soldier's death—and even though it is a noble, enviable death, one the field of honor, for emperor and fatherland——"

"Why, you are speaking just like one of the proclamations to the army!"

Here I was interrupted. A footman brought in a letter.

"From Gustave," cried Lori, joyfully, as she broke the seal.

When she had read two lines she gave a shriek, the paper fell out of her hand and she threw herself on my neck.

"Lori, my poor dear, what is it?" I cried, deeply moved; "your husband?"

"O God, O God!" she groaned. "Read for yourself."

I took the letter from the floor and began to read. I can reproduce the phraseology exactly, because afterward I begged the letter from Lori to copy it into my diary.

"Read out loud," she said; "I was not able to read it through."

I did as she wished.

"Dear Sister: Yesterday we had a hot combat. There must be a long list of casualties. In order that you, and in order that our poor mother may not hear in that way of misfortune, that you may be able to prepare her for it gradually (tell her he is severely wounded), I write at once, my dear, to tell you that our brave brother Karl is of the number of the warriors who have died for their country."

I interrupted my reading to embrace my friend.

"I had got so far," she said gently.

With tearful voice, I read on.

"Your husband is untouched, and so am I. Would that the enemy's bullet had hit me instead! I envy Karl his hero's death. He fell at the beginning of the battle, and did not know that this one again was lost. It is really too bitter. I saw him fall, for we were riding near each other. I jumped down at once to pick him up. Only one look and he was dead. The bullet must have passed through his lungs or heart. It was a quick, painless death. How many others had to suffer for hours, and to lie helpless on the field in the heat of the battle, till death released them! It was a murderous day—more than a thousand corpses, friend and enemy, covered the battlefield. I recognized among the dead faces of so many dear friends; and, amongst others, there is poor"—here I had to turn the page—"Arno Dotzky."

I fell unconscious on the floor.

Rheumatism

In the spring of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally, I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bedridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case.

I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of curing your Rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but, understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.

BRITISH GENERALS PRAISED FOR HEROIC FIGHTING.

All England was electrified by the report of Sir John French, commander of the British expeditionary army, in which, after detailing the thrilling retreat of his forces, always outnumbered four to one, from the battle field of Mons on August 24, to the lines Noyon-Chauny-La Fere on August 28, fighting every inch of the way, he tells how, when the divisions commanded by General Sir Horace Smith-Dorrien and Sir Douglas Haig were faced by serious loss on August 25, he asked General Sordet, commanding the French cavalry corps, to go to his assistance. General Sordet promised to ask the sanction of General Joffre, but said his horses were too tired to move before the next day. General Sordet, however, General French says, later rendered valuable assistance. The text of the report of Field Marshal French is addressed to Lord Kitchener, the Secretary for War, and its publication indicates that the government is responding to the public demand for fuller information on the progress of operations, so far as the British forces are concerned, in France.

HOW GERMAN TROOPS ARE MOVED—RECEIVING RATIONS AT RAILWAY STATION.

This illustration was drawn by Philip Dodd, special artist for the London Sphere and this paper. The troop trains which the artist witnessed did not appear to have any specially adapted features about them. The soldiers were being transported in short luggage vans from which boards had been broken away in order to allow of ventilation and an outlook. The lads, who looked very young, streamed out of the wagons and down the platform to the temporary military kitchen, returning presently with their rations, an allowance of stew served in little black saucepans. Travellers showered chocolates and tobacco upon them. One lady obtained a box of cigars, which she proceeded to distribute among the soldiers.

KOKOMO MEN IN BAD.

Kokomo, Ind., Sept. 15.—Dr. W. A. Hatfield a prominent physician, and Charles Athan, a cafe proprietor, both of this city, are under arrest charged with criminally assaulting Alta Bola, a 12-year-old Roumanian girl. Both are in jail, unable to furnish the high bond fixed by the court. The girl gained notoriety some time ago when she made similar charges against three young men of this city. One of the trio was arrested and will be tried at the coming term of court, which begins Monday. The girl formerly lived in this city, but moved to Laporte about a year ago. A few months ago she ran away from her home there and returned to Kokomo. The alleged assaults took place after her return. Both the men arrested are prominent in social and business life here. Neither was ever in trouble before.

NO WATER AT 400 FEET.

Kendallville, Ind., Sept. 15.—A hole four hundred feet in the ground and no well; besides, little prospects of a well. This tells the story of the test well, which was driven at the municipal plant by Wellman Harper, in charge of the work here, for Wellman Bell, of Chicago. It has been an all summer job for the city to find out the topography of the ground in that locality, and has cost the snug little sum of about $1,800. Wellman Harper reached the 400-foot mark Friday and accompanied by Wellman Bell departed for Chicago Monday. "We are now waiting for further action on the part of the council," said the well men. "Our contract being to go 400 feet, providing we didn't find water at a less depth."

GOT OUT THE FIRE FIGHTERS.

Auburn, Ind., Sept. 15.—Arthur Guilford, aged 16, residing with Mr. and Mrs. Ross McKinley in this city, both walks and talks in his sleep. He did both the other night about 1 o'clock and over the telephone aroused Lester Cogswell, custodian of the fire station, with a thrilling plea that the department hurry to the McKinley home which was then a mass of flames. The fire boys were called out and with the apparatus made a fast run. At the McKinley home everything was quiet, flameless and smokeless. Young Guilford was fast asleep in bed, to which he had returned after turning in a 4-11 to the department. It was hard to convince the lad he had created all the excitement.

THE MARKETS

FALLS BELOW DOLLAR MARK.

Grain Dealers are Paying 95 Cents a Bushel for Wheat.

For the past few days wheat prices have been falling 3 to 4 cents at a time and Tuesday morning the price fell below the dollar mark and dealers are only offering 95 cents a bushel for same. The cause as explained by local men is due to the fact that when the price reached the $1.20 mark the markets were overstocked and since the exports to foreign countries is very small speculators have refused to buy any more.

Cranberries, the first of the season, shipped in from Cape Cod, Mass., arrived on the city market Tuesday morning, and are selling at the handsome price of 12 to 15 cents a quart. Home grown apples are in great plenty on the markets. A large consignment of imported peaches were placed on sale by commission men who state that this supply will be the last one.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Belief that selling had been greatly overdone and that the end of the war most likely was yet a long way off, led to a decided rally today in the price of wheat. Liverpool quotations did not reflect American optimism regarding the outlook for peace. After opening ½c to 2c higher, the market reacted a little, and then rose as much as 3¾c net. May touching $1.15 as against $1.11¾ last night.

The close was strong, 2⅝c to 2⅞c above last night.

Corn ascended with wheat and as a result of a bullish estimate of the crop. The opening, which ranged from a shade lower to ½c advance, was followed by an all around gain of more than a cent.

The close was firm at 1⅛c to 1⅝c net advance.

Active export demand lifted oats. At one time the December option showed a jump of 2c.

Grain strength carried provisions higher. Offerings were light.

I have extra fine stuff in tracts from one acre up to twenty, improved and unimproved. Food products are sure to soar sky high. The soil that produces your food will advance right along with the prices of your foodstuff. You'll never see Suburban tracts any cheaper in the vicinity of Fort Wayne. It's a wonderfully fine thing to own a Suburban home, where your taxes do not eat you up and your grocer and butcher does not get a crack at all your money. Lets talk it over together.

NORA MARCHES IN AND SURRENDERS

Keever Woman Who Flew at Raid Appears and Says She is Guilty.

When Lieutenant Ed Bewelheimer and Officers George Eisenhut and Patten raided the residence of Mrs. Nora Keever, 1628 Wells street, late Monday afternoon and captured three men and three women who were paired and occupying bedrooms, Nora fled out the back door attired principally in a kimono. The three couples were captured and taken to headquarters, where each of the six put up forfeit bail. Tuesday morning Nora, accompanied by an attorney, marched into headquarters and surrendered. She pleaded guilty to keeping a house of illfame and was fined $25 and costs and given a suspended jail sentence of twenty-five days, along with a warning to close her assignation house or suffer a more rigorous penalty next time. Elva Seal, Ruth McClellan and Bessie Jones were the names given by three women, each of whom was fined $15 and costs, and William Arnold, J. B. Johnson and C. G. Brown were the names given by their male companions, each of whom was similarly fined. All defaulted appearance and forfeited their cash bail. Brown is said to be a farmer residing near Muncie.

He brought the Jones woman with him. Mrs. Keever had been repeatedly warned by the police to close her doors to the business she was conducting. Monday neighbors notified the police of a congregation in the place and the raid followed.

Tiger Keepers Fined.

Emmet Barber, a Turk, who conducts a barber shop on Holman street, near Lafayette, was fined $50 and costs for running a blind tiger. He was convicted on the testimony of John McManus and Joe Riley, who were arrested in the place Sunday by Motorcycle Officer Dan Kintz after reports had reached headquarters that the pair had been creating disorder on the streets. They had beer bottles in their hands when arrested. McManus testified that he purchased the beer of Barber, and Riley corroborated the statement. Barber denied that he had sold beer.

Ivo Edwards, a young colored man who has been arrested so often he could not tell the court how many times, was fined $50 and costs also on a blind tiger charge. Three Sunday scenes—Bill Bolin, Tom Hennessey and George Lee—furnished the testimony that they had purchased whisky by the drink at a place on Melita street, and unanimously identified Edwards as the negro who had served them. Edwards furnished his own alibi, but it was worthless. Mark Walters, who resides in the same house, was arraigned with Edwards but it was not evident that he was guilty and he was discharged.

Young Bike Thieves Held.

Floyd Saylor, aged 15, of Oak street; Martin Schramm, aged 18, of 1234 Barthold street, and Thomas Bruner, aged 24, of 1120 Oak street, were arraigned on charges of petty larceny. They have confessed to the stealing of a number of bicycles. They were arrested by Detective Sergeants M. A. Rundell and Joseph Brennan Monday afternoon after a second-hand dealer had notified headquarters that Bruner and Schramm had tried to sell him a wheel. Saylor was certified to the juvenile court and the other two were continued under $200 bond each until Thursday. Saylor stated to the police that he and his companions had stolen some fifteen wheels during the present summer. Most of them they had sold.

Speeders Get Regular Fines.

James Porter and Willard Enslen were fined $5 and costs each for violation of the automobile speed laws and settled. Enslen is a youth of 18 and had his father's car out on Lake avenue, where it was said he had been driving at thirty miles an hour.

Paroled Man Gets a Chance.

William Barnes, a colored man, who is porter in the Sam J. Errington barber shop on Calhoun street, near the railroads, was given a chance because he is a paroled convict. William Eisenhart, an aged business man, and farmer of Berne, Ind., stated that Barnes had tried to steal his watch after the two had taken a drink together and he had been piloted by Barnes to a place back of the Pennsylvania freight house. Barnes denied the story, the court bawled out the Berne business man and let the negro go.

Other City Court Cases.

William Bolin, Tom Hennessey and George Lee, held on continuance for drunkenness, were turned loose after they had testified in the Ivo Edwards blind tiger case, as were John McManus and Joe Riley, who similarly testified in the blind tiger case against Emmet Barber.

Edward Zuber went drunk to his home at Lafayette and Wiebke streets Monday night, got into a row with his brother-in-law, received a beating, appeared in court with his head tied up, took $5 and costs for disorderly conduct, and went to jail.

Oscar Rider, drunk, got $1 and costs, along with Frank Fitzgerald, who was mulcted in like amount for a similar offense.

Jack DeLong, a drunken cadger, was held until Sept. 21 to keep him out of the way during the fair.

Jack Lorraine was fined $1 and costs for disorderly conduct, and a case of assault and battery against him was continued to Friday.

Jack Duffy, a drunk, drew eleven days to keep him locked up during the week.

Bert Stevens, for loitering, was put under $100 bond until Sept. 21, and Charles Wanamaker, turned loose Monday on a loitering charge, was in again on a similar affidavit and continued until Sept. 28 under bond. He is wanted by the United States naval authorities as a deserter.

SIC KBRIDE KILLS HERSELF.

Discouraged Over Ill Health, She Cuts Her Throat.

Boston, Sept. 15. — Discouraged because of failure to recover from serious stomach trouble is thought by the police to have been the motive which led Mrs. Rachel Frank Emerson, the 23-year-old bride of A. Silver Emerson, of the law firm of Hall & Emerson, 18 Tremont street, to kill herself at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Gilbert, 46 Pearl avenue, Winthrop.

Mrs. Emerson, who was living this summer at the Gilbert home, went into the bathroom some time before 7 o'clock. Standing before the mirror, she cut her throat with a razor and apparently died within a short time. When one of the members of the Gilbert family went to the bathroom, the door of which was unlocked, the body of Mrs. Emerson was discovered on the floor.

DEATH'S HEAD HUSSARS ARE WAR LORD'S MOST PICTURESQUE FIGHTING MEN.

THE CROWN PRINCE OF GERMANY WEARING HIS "DEATH HEAD HUSSAR" UNIFORM.

Frighten the enemy to death! It's easier than shooting him, and less dangerous to the attacking force.

Hence, since the time of the ancient Greeks, and the days of the American Indian, with his ugly war whoop and war paint, ugly masks and helmets have been worn as part of the scheme of striking terror into the foe.

And even in these days of modern fighting there are few relics of the ancient custom of the barbarians.

Germany's "Death Head Hussars" were part of the cavalry force that operated against Liege. This standard is said to be even now in the Liege town hall.

It consists of a ghastly skull-and-cross-bones, in white on a black field; and the same design adorns the men's black caps. The Kaiser and the crown prince are both officers in this famous body of Hussars, which has made its name feared by all the troops it has encountered.
